Army Exhibits Stir American Public Horror

Lodge Takes Action As Senators Demand Reds Be Prosecuted

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Stirred by American public horror, the U. S. delegation said here tonight it will place before all the 60 United Nations the Army's documented, photographic record of Communist atrocities in Korea.

Whether it will call on the U. N. General Assembly to pass judgment and condemn the perpetrators of the deeds was not disclosed immediately.

A terse announcement from chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., said:

6,113 Americans Died

"The United States is placing on the agenda of the General Assembly the United States Army report on atrocities committed against captives in Korea by Communist forces."

The report from the Army War Crimes Division, made public yesterday, told of the deaths by murder, torture and starvation of 29,815 persons behind Red lines in Korea. Of these, 6,113 were American soldiers.

It was documented with photographs and eye-witness stories.

"Words cannot describe the horror with which I view these exhibits," Lodge told reporters.

Senatorial demands for U. N. action came in Washington, too.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, wrote Lodge asking the U. S. delegation here to "do all in its power to see to it that the people guilty of these atrocities be brought before a war crimes commission and punished for their actions as expeditiously as possible."

Senators Back Call

Sen. Green (D-RI) and Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo) backed the call for U. N. action. They are also members of the Foreign Relations Committee, agreed. "We've just got to make the effort to bring those criminals to trial," he declared. Hendrickson acknowledged, however, that it would be difficult to undertake such a prosecution.

"We could succeed if we could revitalize the United Nations and revise the charter to get away from this veto weapon the Communists use," he said.

Airplane Speed Record Claimed

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—A world speed record of 754.98 miles an hour was claimed today for Lt. Col. F. K. (Pete) Everest, 33, chief of the flight test operations laboratory at Edwards Air Force Base, who piloted a North American Super Sabre over a 15-kilometer course along the Salton Sea.

North American said Everest made two passes today on the approximately nine-mile course. His top speed with a tail wind was 767.276 m.p.h. and he bucked the wind coming back at 742.684 m.p.h.

Bertrand Rhine of Los Angeles, an official of the National Aeronautical Association, timed the speed flight and submitted his charts to Aeronautique Internationale.

The fastest mark previously attained was 753.4 m.p.h. established earlier this month at the Salton Sea by Navy Lt. Comdr. James Verdin. He flew a Navy F4D Skyray over a three-kilometer course.

Communist Reply To Allies' Parley Plan Is Awaited

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Communists today were expected to answer U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean's call to "stop the nonsense" of angry debate and set a time and place for the Korean peace conference.

After yesterday's fourth diplomatic level session, Dean still was optimistic although he had just sat through another tongue lashing during which the Reds implied he wanted to scuttle the conference.

After the 2-hour and 20-minute meeting Thursday, Dean brushed aside the angry words of the Communists saying:

"Whenever the Communists are on the other side. You've got to expect it and leave your personal feelings out of the conference room."

Dean insisted the Red Chinese and North Korean delegates still are "outwardly polite and outwardly interested," indicating that, despite all the sound and fury, the Communists still are intent on having a peace conference.

Dean proposed that the Communists quit arguing over who should be invited for the moment and select a time and site.

Dean promised to "exchange views to the fullest possible extent" on the Red insistence that neutrals also sit in, but only after other matters were settled. The Communists ignored his proposal.

Since Monday, when the preliminary talks began, the deliberations have been consumed by argument over the seating of neutral nations.

The United States and the United Nations maintain that only those nations whose troops fought in Korea should attend. Russia can come, the Allies say, if the Chinese and North Koreans want the Soviets. Dean is without authority to change this decision.

But the Reds hotly demand Russia be admitted as a "neutral and that neutral India, Burma, Indonesia and Pakistan also get seats.

Check Was Honored

LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 29 (AP) — A check made out to "NWGBLGGHRHBSL I" was honored yesterday by a bank, which credited the proceeds to the local gas board.

The check was mailed in with a covering note from Leonard Harris, the gas board accountant. He said he had deduced the strange word meant "North West Gas Board Liverpool Group, Group Headquarters, Radiant House, Bold Street Liverpool One."

All Republican Aspirants Get Support Of Ike

Includes Paul Troast Of N. J. Who Stirred Up Political Controversy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The White House disclosed today that President Eisenhower—far from remaining completely aloof from partisan politics—favors the election of all Republican candidates for office.

The White House made it clear that goes for Paul Troast, Republican candidate for governor of New Jersey, who sparked a controversy when it was disclosed he sought clemency for a convicted New York labor racketeer.

The latest clarification of Eisenhower's views came from White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in elaborating on a discussion of politics at the President's news conference yesterday.

Numerous Inquiries

Hagerty said he had received numerous inquiries whether Eisenhower was taking a slap at Troast in commenting on a recent incident in New Jersey in which the President posed with Troast for pictures.

At his news conference yesterday, reporters asked Eisenhower whether he was aware, at the time the picture was taken, that Troast had written a letter to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York interceding for Joey Fay, New York labor leader, now serving a term in prison.

Eisenhower replied that he had never heard of Fay at the time. He said he had gone to New Jersey to address a church group and had been asked to pose for pictures with another group—the one in which Troast appeared with the President.

Question Left Up In Air

The President's reply left it up in the air whether he would have consented to pose with Troast if he had known about the clemency-seeking letter.

Arthur Sylvester of the Newark, N. J., Evening News asked Hagerty about that point today. During the course of a warm exchange, Hagerty told Sylvester:

"You can understand English as well as I can. When the President said that at that time he didn't know, it is obvious he knew later."

Aly Demands Yasmin Because Of Threats

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 29 (AP)—Rita Hayworth's attorney disclosed today that her former husband, Moslem Prince Aly Khan, has demanded that their 3½-year old daughter Yasmin be returned to Europe immediately because of threats against her life.

Bartley Crum, representing the actress who married singer Dick Haymes two months ago, said Prince Aly cabled her he wants their daughter for safekeeping "because the FBI is not adequate to protect her."

Crum said Aly remarked that Rita has received letters threatening Yasmin's life unless she is reared in the Moslem faith, and that because of these threats and the multiple probiems arising from Miss Hayworth's marriage to Haymes, her safety had been endangered.

Navy Dept. Infiltration By Reds Investigated

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The House un-American Activities Committee announced today it is making a full investigation "to determine the extent of" Communist infiltration in the Navy Department during World War II.

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) said some leads already uncovered by a subcommittee "tie in with the expose of Morton Sobell," one of those convicted in the Julius Rosenberg case.

Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, were electrocuted last June 19 on charges they had acted as atomic spies in this country for Russia. Sobell, convicted of being a courier for the same spy group, is serving a 30-year sentence in Alcatraz Prison.

Sobell's Plea Rejected

Two weeks ago the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York turned down Sobell's appeal for a new trial on grounds of newly discovered evidence. Sobell, an electrical engineer, was a classmate of Rosenberg's in the College of the City of New York.

When the Rosenbergs were arrested in 1950, shortly after the Korean War began, Sobell fled to Mexico but that country refused to harbor him and he was returned to U. S. authorities.

Velde said eight witnesses already have been questioned about Communist infiltration of the U.S. Navy Department. Seven witnesses, he said, declined to answer "pertinent questions" on the grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Witnesses Not Identified

None of the witnesses was identified, but Velde said some of them had access to confidential and restricted information while in the Navy Department.

Indicating they had come under suspicion previously, Velde said some of the witnesses had been given loyalty hearings by the Navy and had been retained in service after they denied membership in the Communist party.

Case Of Missing Girl Is Stymied

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 29 (AP)—Frankly "up against a stone wall," Chief George Long declared today police "are desperate for clues" in the mysterious disappearance five days ago of Evelyn Hartley, 15, from a baby sitting job.

Attempting to find a lead, Long enlisted filling station operators on a voluntary basis in a hunt for blood stained cars. Motorists were asked to permit inspection of their cars with a windshield sticker with red letters declaring "My Car Is O. K." to be pasted on cars obviously without blood-smears.

The same sticker will be put on cars that have stains of some kind but gas station attendants will telephone promptly to police giving the license number and cars will be taken in for closer examination.

Today's developments included a disclosure by San Antonio, Tex., police that a drive-in employe had reported waiting on a young woman answering Evelyn's description.

Mrs. Jackie Clark was quoted as saying a girl wearing a red scarf and a red dress with a white "V" on the collar came into the drive-in about 8 p.m. Wednesday night with a soldier.

Big Milk Trucks Halted As Strike Talks Hit Snag

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Peace talks hit a sudden snag today after a four-day milk strike seemed as good as ended.

Big milk trucks already were rumbling toward New York beneath sodden autumn skies in anticipation of the strike's end. But they reportedly were turned back when the latest deadlock developed.

At one point the industry blithely forecast an end to the strike in time for morning deliveries. Later the spokesman backtracked and said probably not many plants actually would get back in operation before the weekend.

Price Increase Expected

Irving R. Wisch, chairman of industry negotiators, blamed "areas of disagreement" with the union for the last-minute hitch.

A settlement of an AFL teamsters wage-hour dispute is expected to add a cent or 1½ cents to milk prices for 12 million metropolitan area consumers in New York and northern New Jersey. Milk now sells at 27 cents a quart delivered, 23½ cents in stores.

The strike has cost 50,000 supplier dairy farmers an estimated million dollars since it began Sunday afternoon. They complained, moreover, that it will depress their return on milk for months to come.

City "Dry" For 48 Hours

New York City has been dry of fresh milk for some 48 hours—since stored up supplies were exhausted. Restaurants and retail stores have had little or no milk since Sunday.

However, plenty of powdered and evaporated substitutes were available to meet household emergencies and ease the crisis.

Talks On Trieste End

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—American and British officials today ended four days of secret talks on technical arrangements for handing over Zone A of Trieste territory to Italian control.

Big Plane Plows Into Fog-Hidden Hill And Burns

Noted Pianist Dies In Flaming Wreckage

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two minutes from its destination, a four-engine transpacific plane from Australia rocketed into a fog-hidden hill today and all 19 persons aboard died in the flaming wreckage.

The brilliant young American pianist, William Kapell, 31, of New York, was among the 11 passengers and eight crewmen so close to safe arrival at San Francisco international airport when the British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane crashed. He was returning from a tour of Australia.

The big DC6, flying in from Honolulu, was smashed to bits.

Dense Brush Set Afire

The pilot, Capt. Bruce Dixon, of Sydney, had attempted an instrument approach because fog shrouded the coastal mountains which rise up to more than 2,000 feet. The plane crashed at the 1,700 foot level in a boulder-strewn grove of redwoods.

Kapell was the only U. S. citizen aboard. Most of the other passengers were from Australia or the United Kingdom.

Wreckage was strewn about the hillside. Brush fires sprang up as fuel was scattered by explosions.

11 Bodies Recovered

By early afternoon, some three hours after the crash, rescue parties had recovered 11 bodies and taken them to a temporary morgue in nearby Redwood City after a road was cut up the steep hillside. Flames from the wreckage drove them back from other bodies.

The airport control tower reported the four-engined DC6 was on a direct approach to the landing strip at 11:42 a.m. (EST) and should have landed two minutes later.

Although immediate intensive search began by air and ground, the countryside was so rough it was two hours before the still flaming wreck was sighted from the air. The scattered ruins lay among centuries-old redwood trees and giant boulders.

Plane Crash Ends Brilliant Career Of William Kapell

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—William Kapell had been widely hailed as the most brilliant young artist in the American musical scene.

His slight build, shock of unruly black hair and powerful style at the keyboard were known to piano concert goers in far corners of the globe.

Only 31, he already had made several tours of Europe and three to South America. He was returning from his second visit to Australia when his plane crashed.

He was on his way to join the faculty of the Juilliard School of Music in New York, where he studied from 1940 to 1943.

North Korean Captives Will Attend Talks

Neutral Commission Chief Says Men Will Come Out Tomorrow

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Oct. 30 (AP)—The chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said today bitterly anti-Communist North Koreans prisoners of war have agreed to begin listening tomorrow to Red pleas to come home.

The North Koreans—about 7,800—had refused since Oct. 16 to leave their compounds in the neutral zone for interviews with Communist "explanation" teams.

Their defiance, despite one show of force by Indian guard troops, had stalled the massive job before the Communist "explainers"—talking to about 22,400 anti-Red North Koreans and Chinese POWs.

The chairman, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, said he planned to have at least 500 North Koreans ready for interview by the Communists tomorrow. He said the number may be increased to 1,000.

Thimayya had personally appealed to the North Koreans almost daily for more than a week.

Defers Congratulations

He told newsmen who congratulated him: "Wait until tomorrow. I want to be certain they come out before there are any congratulations."

His announcement apparently was the "surprise" he had promised newsmen for today.

Thimayya said the North Koreans reached their decision Wednesday.

Despite a show of force by their Indian guards, the North Koreans had flatly refused to come out of their neutral zone compounds and listen to Communist attempts to persuade them to return to their homelands.

Chinese Refused To Go Back

Anti-Communist Chinese prisoners went to the explanation sessions willingly after an initial balk of a few hours, but once inside the interview booths they cursed, kicked and screamed at the Red explainers.

Overwhelming numbers of Chinese refused to go back to Red China, and the Communists finally insisted the North Koreans be brought out for interviews.

When the North Koreans refused, Communist Polish and Czech members of the repatriation commission insisted that force be used on the POWs.

U. S. To Give More Evidence Of Torture

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. Oct. 29 (AP)—The United States disclosed today it will present to the U.N. further evidence of Soviet complicity in Red attempts to wring germ warfare "confessions" from captured American airmen.

An American spokesman said the U.S. delegation also will submit more statements from tortured U.S. personnel.

The U.S. mission here said it has "no knowledge" of what will be done about the U.S. Army's report that more than 6,000 GI's have been murdered, tortured or starved by their Red captors in Korea.

U. S. Rubber Income Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — U.S. Rubber Co. today reported net income for the first nine months of 1953 climbed to $21,488,326 equal to $3.32 a common share, compared with $18,912,141 or $2.83 a share in the first three quarters of 1952.

Ava Will Divorce Frankie; Says 'It's Final This Time'

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—The two-year marriage of Ava Gardner, a glamorous farmer's daughter, and Frank Sinatra, an underweight crooner, hit the rocks today.

Miss Gardner said she would file for divorce but was undecided when.

"It's final this time," she told a reporter. "There's no chance of reconciliation." She gave no reason for the split. To the question whether a third party was involved, she answered no.

Thus ended, at this writing, a marriage that featured more sparring than a Rocky Marciano training camp.

Frankie was husband No. 3 for the screen beauty. Her first husband was Mickey Rooney.

She was but a starlet at the time and Rooney was the very commercial Andy Hardy. His studio even sent a press agent along on the honeymoon.

After Rooney, she ran smack into the intellectual Artie Shaw, the oft-married bandleader. Shaw took along books on his honeymoon and tried to educate the farmer's daughter from Smithfield, N. C. He even had her reading Karl Marx' "Das Kapital" on the wedding trip.

She announced the breakup of that marriage with these words:

"He told me to leave, so I left."

Jane's Reports Jack-Of-All-Trades Warship Is On Way Out

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The jack-of-all-trades warship is sailing into obsolescence, a British naval publication said today.

The newly issued 1953-54 edition of Jane's Fighting Ships, a standard reference work on the world's navies, reports that in the future it is likely warships will be operated in pairs, each to carry out specialized tasks complementing the work of the other.

The composition and operation of future navies, Jane's said, probably will be changed completely by the introduction of atomic propulsion, ship specialization and the use of guided missiles.

"It is no longer practicable to build a general purpose ship of a given category with all the possible requirements of the type embodied in her, and it would seem that, instead of a ship being a complete unit in herself, two or more ships, each complementary to the other, will constitute a fleet unit of the future," it said.

"We may envisage warships being ordered in pairs and always operated in pairs on the analogy of the anti-submarine aircraft supplied to American aircraft carriers—one hunter and one killer being provided because it is not possible to embody in one aircraft all the requirements of both a hunter and killer."

The publication noted that the United States has converted many of its destroyers and patrol vessels to specialized types for escort or radar picket duties and Britain is building four different types of frigates for anti-submarine, anti-aircraft and other work.

Referring to atomic developments, Jane's said the large navies are on the verge of changes in ship propulsion which ultimately may be as profound as the conversion from sails to mechanical power.

"The construction of the first atomic powered vessels, namely the large United States submarines Nautilus and Sea Wolf, marks the beginning of a new era of propulsion," it said, "which can have far-reaching effects not only in the field of naval architecture but also on military strategy in general and naval tactics in particular."

Jane's noted that more additions have been made to the U. S. Navy, by far the world's largest, and it totals 4,900 vessels. About 1,200 of these are on active service. The list includes 201 submarines.

Russia continues to lead the world in submarines. She has some 370 submarines in service or reserve, Jane's said, and about 100 are under construction in Soviet dockyards. Many of those in service are German U-boats that fell into Soviet hands in 1945.

Quads Find Dad As Divorcee Mother Is Wed To Mechanic

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—At a hastily-arranged bedside marriage ceremony, Lansing's Trollman quadruplets today found a father and became the Van Alstine quads.

Mrs. June Trollman, 33, pretty brunette divorcee, mother of the quads, was married in a simple ceremony to George W. Van Alstine, 34, strapping Lansing automobile serviceman.

"I'm really happy now for the first time in months," the bride declared.

The two other boys and a girl are winning their battle for survival.

The bridegroom said he had been in love with the mother of the quads "for more than a year."

"I wanted to marry June a long time ago," he said, "but we had a little misunderstanding and it just never came off. I hope I can be a good husband and father."

The new Mrs. Van Alstine broke a three-day silence to say she was confident the marriage "is the best thing that could have happened."

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. J. Koeninger, associate pastor of the Lansing First Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Indicating they had come under suspicion previously, Velde said some of the witnesses had been given loyalty hearings by the Navy and had been retained in service after they denied membership in the Communist party.

Case Of Missing Girl Is Stymied

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 29 (AP)—Frankly "up against a stone wall," Chief George Long declared today police "are desperate for clues" in the mysterious disappearance five days ago of Evelyn Hartley, 15, from a baby sitting job.

Attempting to find a lead, Long enlisted filling station operators on a voluntary basis in a hunt for blood stained cars. Motorists were asked to permit inspection of their cars with a windshield sticker with red letters declaring "My Car Is O. K." to be pasted on cars obviously without blood-smears.

The same sticker will be put on cars that have stains of some kind but gas station attendants will telephone promptly to police giving the license number and cars will be taken in for closer examination.

Today's developments included a disclosure by San Antonio, Tex., police that a drive-in employe had reported waiting on a young woman answering Evelyn's description.

Mrs. Jackie Clark was quoted as saying a girl wearing a red scarf and a red dress with a white "V" on the collar came into the drive-in about 8 p.m. Wednesday night with a soldier.

Big Milk Trucks Halted As Strike Talks Hit Snag

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Peace talks hit a sudden snag today after a four-day milk strike seemed as good as ended.

Big milk trucks already were rumbling toward New York beneath sodden autumn skies in anticipation of the strike's end. But they reportedly were turned back when the latest deadlock developed.

At one point the industry blithely forecast an end to the strike in time for morning deliveries. Later the spokesman backtracked and said probably not many plants actually would get back in operation before the weekend.

Price Increase Expected

Irving R. Wisch, chairman of industry negotiators, blamed "areas of disagreement" with the union for the last-minute hitch.

A settlement of an AFL teamsters wage-hour dispute is expected to add a cent or 1½ cents to milk prices for 12 million metropolitan area consumers in New York and northern New Jersey. Milk now sells at 27 cents a quart delivered, 23½ cents in stores.

The strike has cost 50,000 supplier dairy farmers an estimated million dollars since it began Sunday afternoon. They complained, moreover, that it will depress their return on milk for months to come.

City "Dry" For 48 Hours

New York City has been dry of fresh milk for some 48 hours—since stored up supplies were exhausted. Restaurants and retail stores have had little or no milk since Sunday.

However, plenty of powdered and evaporated substitutes were available to meet household emergencies and ease the crisis.

Talks On Trieste End

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—American and British officials today ended four days of secret talks on technical arrangements for handing over Zone A of Trieste territory to Italian control.

Big Plane Plows Into Fog-Hidden Hill And Burns

Noted Pianist Dies In Flaming Wreckage

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two minutes from its destination, a four-engine transpacific plane from Australia rocketed into a fog-hidden hill today and all 19 persons aboard died in the flaming wreckage.

The brilliant young American pianist, William Kapell, 31, of New York, was among the 11 passengers and eight crewmen so close to safe arrival at San Francisco international airport when the British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane crashed. He was returning from a tour of Australia.

The big DC6, flying in from Honolulu, was smashed to bits.

Dense Brush Set Afire

The pilot, Capt. Bruce Dixon, of Sydney, had attempted an instrument approach because fog shrouded the coastal mountains which rise up to more than 2,000 feet. The plane crashed at the 1,700 foot level in a boulder-strewn grove of redwoods.

Kapell was the only U. S. citizen aboard. Most of the other passengers were from Australia or the United Kingdom.

Wreckage was strewn about the hillside. Brush fires sprang up as fuel was scattered by explosions.

11 Bodies Recovered

By early afternoon, some three hours after the crash, rescue parties had recovered 11 bodies and taken them to a temporary morgue in nearby Redwood City after a road was cut up the steep hillside. Flames from the wreckage drove them back from other bodies.

The airport control tower reported the four-engined DC6 was on a direct approach to the landing strip at 11:42 a.m. (EST) and should have landed two minutes later.

Although immediate intensive search began by air and ground, the countryside was so rough it was two hours before the still flaming wreck was sighted from the air. The scattered ruins lay among centuries-old redwood trees and giant boulders.

Plane Crash Ends Brilliant Career Of William Kapell

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—William Kapell had been widely hailed as the most brilliant young artist in the American musical scene.

His slight build, shock of unruly black hair and powerful style at the keyboard were known to piano concert goers in far corners of the globe.

Only 31, he already had made several tours of Europe and three to South America. He was returning from his second visit to Australia when his plane crashed.

He was on his way to join the faculty of the Juilliard School of Music in New York, where he studied from 1940 to 1943.

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Sofia radio said tonight Bulgaria had sent a letter of protest to the United Nations against the use of military bases in Greece by the United States.

North Korean Captives Will Attend Talks

Neutral Commission Chief Says Men Will Come Out Tomorrow

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Oct. 30 (AP)—The chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission said today bitterly anti-Communist North Koreans prisoners of war have agreed to begin listening tomorrow to Red pleas to come home.

The North Koreans—about 7,800—had refused since Oct. 16 to leave their compounds in the neutral zone for interviews with Communist "explanation" teams.

Their defiance, despite one show of force by Indian guard troops, had stalled the massive job before the Communist "explainers"—talking to about 22,400 anti-Red North Koreans and Chinese POWs.

The chairman, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, said he planned to have at least 500 North Koreans ready for interview by the Communists tomorrow. He said the number may be increased to 1,000.

Thimayya had personally appealed to the North Koreans almost daily for more than a week.

Defers Congratulations

He told newsmen who congratulated him: "Wait until tomorrow. I want to be certain they come out before there are any congratulations."

His announcement apparently was the "surprise" he had promised newsmen for today.

Thimayya said the North Koreans reached their decision Wednesday.

Despite a show of force by their Indian guards, the North Koreans had flatly refused to come out of their neutral zone compounds and listen to Communist attempts to persuade them to return to their homelands.

Chinese Refused To Go Back

Anti-Communist Chinese prisoners went to the explanation sessions willingly after an initial balk of a few hours, but once inside the interview booths they cursed, kicked and screamed at the Red explainers.

Overwhelming numbers of Chinese refused to go back to Red China, and the Communists finally insisted the North Koreans be brought out for interviews.

U. S. To Give More Evidence Of Torture

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. Oct. 29 (AP)—The United States disclosed today it will present to the U.N. further evidence of Soviet complicity in Red attempts to wring germ warfare "confessions" from captured American airmen.

An American spokesman said the U.S. delegation also will submit more statements from tortured U.S. personnel.

The U.S. mission here said it has "no knowledge" of what will be done about the U.S. Army's report that more than 6,000 GI's have been murdered, tortured or starved by their Red captors in Korea.

U. S. Rubber Income Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — U.S. Rubber Co. today reported net income for the first nine months of 1953 climbed to $21,488,326 equal to $3.32 a common share, compared with $18,912,141 or $2.83 a share in the first three quarters of 1952.

Ava Will Divorce Frankie; Says 'It's Final This Time'

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—The two-year marriage of Ava Gardner, a glamorous farmer's daughter, and Frank Sinatra, an underweight crooner, hit the rocks today.

Miss Gardner said she would file for divorce but was undecided when.

"It's final this time," she told a reporter. "There's no chance of reconciliation." She gave no reason for the split. To the question whether a third party was involved, she answered no.

Thus ended, at this writing, a marriage that featured more sparring than a Rocky Marciano training camp.

Frankie was husband No. 3 for the screen beauty. Her first husband was Mickey Rooney.

She was but a starlet at the time and Rooney was the very commercial Andy Hardy. His studio even sent a press agent along on the honeymoon.

After Rooney, she ran smack into the intellectual Artie Shaw, the oft-married bandleader. Shaw took along books on his honeymoon and tried to educate the farmer's daughter from Smithfield, N. C. He even had her reading Karl Marx' "Das Kapital" on the wedding trip.

She announced the breakup of that marriage with these words:

"He told me to leave, so I left."

Jane's Reports Jack-Of-All-Trades Warship Is On Way Out

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The jack-of-all-trades warship is sailing into obsolescence, a British naval publication said today.

The newly issued 1953-54 edition of Jane's Fighting Ships, a standard reference work on the world's navies, reports that in the future it is likely warships will be operated in pairs, each to carry out specialized tasks complementing the work of the other.

The composition and operation of future navies, Jane's said, probably will be changed completely by the introduction of atomic propulsion, ship specialization and the use of guided missiles.

"It is no longer practicable to build a general purpose ship of a given category with all the possible requirements of the type embodied in her, and it would seem that, instead of a ship being a complete unit in herself, two or more ships, each complementary to the other, will constitute a fleet unit of the future," it said.

"We may envisage warships being ordered in pairs and always operated in pairs on the analogy of the anti-submarine aircraft supplied to American aircraft carriers—one hunter and one killer being provided because it is not possible to embody in one aircraft all the requirements of both a hunter and killer."

The publication noted that the United States has converted many of its destroyers and patrol vessels to specialized types for escort or radar picket duties and Britain is building four different types of frigates for anti-submarine, anti-aircraft and other work.

Referring to atomic developments, Jane's said the large navies are on the verge of changes in ship propulsion which ultimately may be as profound as the conversion from sails to mechanical power.

"The construction of the first atomic powered vessels, namely the large United States submarines Nautilus and Sea Wolf, marks the beginning of a new era of propulsion," it said, "which can have far-reaching effects not only in the field of naval architecture but also on military strategy in general and naval tactics in particular."

Jane's noted that more additions have been made to the U. S. Navy, by far the world's largest, and it totals 4,900 vessels. About 1,200 of these are on active service. The list includes 201 submarines.

Russia continues to lead the world in submarines. She has some 370 submarines in service or reserve, Jane's said, and about 100 are under construction in Soviet dockyards. Many of those in service are German U-boats that fell into Soviet hands in 1945.

Quads Find Dad As Divorcee Mother Is Wed To Mechanic

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—At a hastily-arranged bedside marriage ceremony, Lansing's Trollman quadruplets today found a father and became the Van Alstine quads.

Mrs. June Trollman, 33, pretty brunette divorcee, mother of the quads, was married in a simple ceremony to George W. Van Alstine, 34, strapping Lansing automobile serviceman.

The two other boys and a girl are winning their battle for survival.

The bridegroom said he had been in love with the mother of the quads "for more than a year."

"I wanted to marry June a long time ago," he said, "but we had a little misunderstanding and it just never came off. I hope I can be a good husband and father."

The new Mrs. Van Alstine broke a three-day silence to say she was confident the marriage "is the best thing that could have happened."

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. J. Koeninger, associate pastor of the Lansing First Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

Opposition To Dancing, Card Playing Lessens In Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Old—time religious disapproval of ballroom dancing and card playing isn't what is used to be in many churches today.

The opposition generally has modified, denominational leaders say. New community conditions have brought new approaches.

Although the attitude varies from church to church, comments from denominational officials shows most major religious bodies incline toward a more flexible view.

"We don't regard these things as either a means of salvation or a means of damnation," said Dr. Douglas Horton, executive secretary of the Congregational Christian Churches.

"It's undoubtedly true that the general attitude is less rigid than it once was."

Like numerous other denominational officials, he suggested the more moderate tendancy has resulted from changes in environment and associations attached to these diversions rather than from any change in principle.

Moreover, said Dr. Ralph Stoody information director of the Methodist Church, "there is much more positive preaching nowadays, and less of the negative type.

"The whole trend for youth leaders in the church is not so much to say 'Thou shalt not' as to create positive healthful programs of recreation as a part of church life."

Not long ago, dances in church halls were considered daring rarities. Now they're commonplace, though not customary. Many church groups, particularly women have their bridge clubs.

While fewer church bodies officially frown on such activities, many individual clergymen do. The whole church accent is on restraint. Tied in with opposition to gambling, there's still considerable church suspicion of regular playing cards, the kind used in a poker game.

But fewer nowadays link the two. The over-all situation represents a contrast to a generation ago, when such activities were widely denounced from the pulpit. Books of that era, by ministers of various faiths, denounce card playing as the "gateway to Hell" and dancing as the "training school for prostitution."

Back at the turn of the century, Catholic bishops of the country called dancing "revolting" and "fraught with the greatest dangers to morals." Up to 1924, a Methodist could be expelled from church for dancing or going to the theater.

In contrast to the past, there's been no official expression in recent years on dancing or card playing by national bodies of major churches such as Baptists Presbyterians, Methodists, Congregationalists, Catholics, Lutherans or Disciples of Christ.

But the subjects bob up locally occasionally in some sections. For instance, the St. Louis Association of the Southern Baptist Convention ousted one church for permitting dancing in a church building.

The Roman Catholic and Protestant Episcopal churches, usually more uniform in disciplines than congregational-type churches, accept card playing and dancing as ordinary recreation. So do the more liberal churches—the Unitarians and Universalists.

However, strict policies against dancing and card playing are maintained by some of the newer, smaller Protestant churches, such as Assemblies of God, Pentecostal Holiness and Churches of Christ. Some, like the Seventh Day Adventists, require vows against such activities for membership.

British Sailor Probes Mystery Of Texas Navy

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—A British sailor-politician started sleuthing today into one of the world's great maritime mysteries—the origin and history of the Texas Navy.

Dr. Reginald Bennett, Conservative member of Parliament and former Royal Navy officer, took on the job during a just-ended sailing vacation in the United States.

"I've just written to Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas telling him things are under way," Bennett said.

"The Texans think—and they're probably right—there's a better chance of unearthing the Navy's history over here than over there. It only lasted nine years—1836-45—while Texas was an independent republic and, since things were pretty wild and wooly then, not many records survive."

Bennett said the Texas Navy and Britain's Royal Navy were always on good terms.

"So much so," he said, "I am sure a whole pile of material is somewhere inside the admiralty's ancient files—but it would take more than one man's lifetime to unearth it."

Mrs. Ike's Case Illustrates D. C. Voting Problem

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—"Did you ever stop to think," said the voice over the phone, "about the possibility of Mrs. Eisenhower being a lawbreaker?"

There was a pause for dramatic effect. Then the voice—it belonged to a Democrat who has had trouble finding work since last November—went on:

"When Mrs. Eisenhower registered to vote in New York, she gave her address as 60 Morningside Drive. But that's the residence of Dr. Grayson Kirk, who now is head of Columbia University.

"Everyone knows that Mrs. Eisenhower now lives"—the voice was sad here—"in Washington, on Pennsylvania Ave."

Lest you have visions of a paddy wagon backing up to the White House door, let's get this straight at once: Mrs. Eisenhower broke no laws with her New York registration.

But her case does illustrate a peculiar problem facing every Washington resident, right up to the President.

Anyone living in the District of Columbia can't elect any of his local officials. If he wishes to vote, he must maintain a legal residence elsewhere.

For the average politician, this isn't difficult. Many of them still live in the towns where they were born, and it's easy to keep up their homes in Anaheim, Calif., or Pekin, Ill., or Winder, Ga.

But Eisenhower is no average politician. As an Army man, he was moved around constantly. When he settled down at last, as president of Columbia, he registered to vote for the first time.

How come the Eisenhowers can still use their old address?

The answer comes from Mrs. J. J. Eigenman of the D. C. League of Woman Voters.

"The Eisenhowers are lucky," she said. "The New York election law has a very liberal section for those who take jobs with the federal government. They are allowed to give their old address."

In most states, Mrs. Eigenman said, the practice is to claim residence with a local relative. That's what the Eigenmans do, with her father-in-law out in Illinois.

No one knows how many residents of Washington, in addition to the Eisenhowers, keep up their voting rights elsewhere. But Mrs. Eigenman said there's a real reason why more don't. They're afraid they'll be stuck not only with an income tax here but also register.

Thief Steals Hats Of Senator, Envoy

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 29 (AP)—A thief stole the hats of Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) and U.S. Ambassador Thomas E. Whelan from a parked car here today.

The Senator and other members of the Senate Money and Banking Committee were meeting with directors of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss ways to increase trade between the United States and Nicaragua.

Capehart took a personal hand in increasing trade. He bought a Nicaraguan straw hat.

Hungry, Worried, Polite

When Commodore Perry sailed into Tokyo Bay a century ago, Japan wanted only to be let alone. Isolated and insulated from the Western world, feudal Japan was backward but stable. But she was forced to take on Western ways faster than her culture and social setup could become adjusted to them.

Japan made great progress in industrialization, but stresses created by rapid change led to inner strife. A new warrior class gained totalitarian control through political assassinations and intimidation, seized Manchuria, and on December 7, 1941, put the U. S. Pacific Fleet out of commission at Pearl Harbor.

Perhaps it would have been the part of wisdom to respect Japan's desire to be let alone. But the clock cannot be turned back. If Japan were abandoned by the U. S., Russia could be expected to move in. But in war U. S. defense of Japan without Japanese help would be difficult.

And now it is being discovered that the militaristic Japan of 1941 is gone. The people of Japan do not want to create even the minimum defense forces they need for self-defense, with U. S. aid, against aggressive Russia and China.

In this ironical dilemma, Japan's statesmen know that Nippon must have defense forces. But Hayato Ikeda, personal representative of Premier Yoshida, points out the people and government of Japan fear revival of military control.

No satisfactory solution is in sight. Expansion of Japanese trade is badly needed. But the United States doesn't welcome Japanese trade with China and Russia, and Britain isn't happy over the prospect of Japanese competition.

The Fault Of Parole

Whenever a parolee goes back to crime, the entire system and philosophy of parole comes under fire.

Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnapers and murderers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, was released on parole from the Missouri state penitentiary after serving part of a five-year sentence for robbery. Governor Donnelly of Missouri has ordered an investigation of the granting of the parole. With the shocking details of the kidnaping and the premeditated murder of the little boy fresh in mind, public clamor to learn the details of the parole is understandably loud.

Theoretically, parole authorities check exhaustively into such applications as Hall's and try to project themselves into the character of the man whose bid for freedom lies before them. Will he become one of the group of parolees—numbering one-fifth to one-third of all prisoners handed a parole—who will wilfully violate the terms of the contract?

Often the parole board works under difficulties, lacking the time and the data to make an accurate decision. In such cases, where the decision appears to be a flagrant gamble, the whole philosophy of parole is at stake. It has been pointed out that, with prison costs per inmate very high, and with prison space everywhere inadequate, without parole the cost of separating men from human society would become so prohibitive that people would balk.

This doesn't excuse the Missouri parole board if investigation discloses that the Hall case got a once over lightly. The life of a child is certainly worth all of the investigation and expense of inquiry that may be necessary to protect it.

Atomic KWs

Atomic Energy Commission announces it will build, during the next few years, an atomic power plant of "at least 60,000 kilowatts" capacity. Thomas E. Murray of the AEC said the plant that will have a relatively small output of electric current will cost "tens of millions" of dollars.

But this government-built plant, Murray said, will surely be a "significant peacetime answer to recent Soviet atomic tests" and "show the world that even in this gravest phase of arming for defense, America's eyes are still on the peaceful future."

Mr. Murray was realistic when it came to the supply of uranium which America can count upon. Despite all possible effort to find and exploit American uranium—particularly in the Colorado plateau area where 200 mines are in operation—the U. S. must depend on other friendly nations for much of the vast quantities needed for defense stockpiles. To help maintain their confidence in America's industrial leadership there could hardly be a more effective demonstration than an atomic power plant.

In Westinghouse's hands the planning and construction should satisfy not only the naval scientists now working with this firm on submarine atom power, but also please the power industry. Besides the great Dow and Monsanto chemical firms, at least a dozen big electric power companies have been collaborating with the AEC on this task of making the atom do useful labor for mankind.

Maniacs And Morons

He drove like a crazy man, did he? Maybe he blew his horn to bully his way past Milquetoast drivers or defenseless pedestrians. Maybe he jumped a light changing to green, raced and zig-zagged his way through traffic, and in general acted as if he and his automobile were ball-carrying in a football game. Some who observe him may think he's crazy.

They may be right—literally. Dr. Alan Canty told the National Safety Council convention the other day that such problem drivers may be mentally unbalanced. A psychiatrist, his opinion carries some weight.

It carries weight for another reason, too. He reported to the convention on 10,000 problem drivers, referred by the courts, whom his Detroit Traffic Clinic has examined. Of these, 100—or one per cent—were commitably insane and shouldn't have been at large. Approximately 850 or eight per cent were feebleminded. More than 1,000 or 10 per cent had been in mental hospitals at some time in their lives and lacked the emotional stability to be trusted at the wheel of a car.

The remaining 8,000 evidently were neither feebleminded nor sufficiently unbalanced to belong in an institution. They were merely acting as if they were.

If any problem drivers, like those Dr. Canty examined, read his statistics, they will no doubt nod their heads and agree that a great many drivers they encounter are crazy, sure enough.

Honesty may be the best policy, but there are some people who don't seem to think they can afford the best.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Will We Have A Flu Epidemic?

We now know that influenza epidemics follow a pattern and, by studying the records, many authorities are able to predict when the disease will strike again. There is some evidence that we will have a high incidence in the 1953-54 season but no one knows whether it will be mild or severe.

The influenza vaccine is the best method on hand for protection against an epidemic. The vaccine must contain the protective antibodies of several viruses because the disease is caused by more than one strain of this micro-organism. Statistics along this line go back to 1930, when we first learned that a single virus is not the culprit. Since that time there have been six epidemics traceable to influenze virus A and four each to viruses A-prime and B. Will the next be A, A-prime, or B? In some instances more than one type is involved, such as in 1936 and 1940 when virus B occurred early in the year and virus A in the later months.

Most epidemics of the last 30 years have been mild and they probably escaped the attention of most people. To many, the number of cases meant little more than "a lot of flu around this spring." They were nothing compared with the pandemics of 1890 and 1918, which affected all ages. The fatality rate was exceptionally high and pneumonia was responsible for most of the deaths.

The severity of an epidemic depends upon the virulence of the organism and the susceptibility of the population. Because minor epidemics occur at frequent intervals, most people develop a certain degree of immunity to the invading germs. An epidemic caused by one of the milder strains usually is more prevalent in infants and children because they lack the immunity acquired by older persons. On the other hand, when the virus belongs to a tougher or more virulent strain everyone is susceptible because immunity is not as complete as that which develops after smallpox, diphtheria, or measles. Even the "shots" must be repeated once or twice a year because the effects wear off by the end of three months.

We wonder how much physicians of the 14th, 15th, and 16th centuries knew about immunity to influenza. According to Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., when an epidemic occurred, it was referred to as "The Newe Acquayantance." Did they mean it was a new disease or that the causative organism was a newcomer and was finding everyone susceptible? Dr. Francis quotes a letter written to Cecil by Sir Thomas Randolph, ambassador from Queen Elizabeth to the court of Mary, Queen of Scots: "Maye it please your Honor immediately upon the Queen's arrivall here, she fell acquaynted with a new disease that is common in this town, called here the Newe Acquayantance, which passed also throughe her whole Courte, neither sparing lordes, ladies, nor damoysells, not so much as either Frenche or Englishe. . . . There was no appearance of danger, nor manie that die of the disease, except some olde folkes."

Times have not changed. In an epidemic, many are ill but few die. Historians tell us that old timers also had pet names to describe their epidemics in much the same way as we speak about flu, virus X, the virus thing, or the pip. To those of another era flu was the jolly rant, the new delight, the gallant's disease, or the fashionable illness.

TOMORROW: Another virus disease: epidemic pleurodynia.

APPENDICITIS

Mrs. E. writes: Just what does the doctor do before he decides that a person has appendicitis and needs operation?

REPLY

After discussing symptoms and finding the area over the appendix tender to the touch, the physician has a white blood count made. A high white count usually is associated with appendicitis.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

T. G. writes: What are the symptoms of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

Symptoms differ according to the extent and the number of areas in the brain and spinal cord affected by the disease. Transient blurring of vision and weakness of an arm or leg are the most common first manifestations. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

E. W. writes: Is high blood pressure hereditary?

REPLY

There is a tendency in this direction. In an analysis of family histories of medical students at Johns Hopkins, Dr. C. B. Thomas found that those young men whose blood pressure had a tendency to fluctuate markedly were most likely to have parents with hypertension. There is an indication, however, that the tendency is recessive.

EPIDEMIC DIARRHEA

Mrs. L. writes: What kind of diarrhea is it that closes maternity hospitals from time to time?

REPLY

Secretary Humphrey At The Dike

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Gen. Lucius Clay Reported Ready To Join Cabinet; Dulles Improving His Press Relations; Air Secretary Is Best Man For Old Negro Chauffeur

WASHINGTON—White House advisers say that when and if Charles E. Wilson steps out of the Defense Department his successor will be Gen. Lucius Clay, former U. S. commander in Germany, now head of Continental Can and one of Ike's closest unofficial advisers.

"Clay can have any job he wants in the administration," one White House adviser confided. "He can write his own ticket. I think, also, he's ready any time Ike needs him."

Actually Wilson isn't expected to get out of the Defense Department any time soon. Occasionally the President has got upset over his Defense secretary's sudden brusqueness and was extremely irked when Wilson shot off about the innocuousness of the Russian H-bomb at a time when other administration leaders were warning of its danger.

However, it's recognized that Wilson is performing a useful and necessary function by knocking Pentagon heads together—one of the toughest and most thankless jobs in Washington.

NOTE—When and if General Clay becomes secretary of Defense, he would have to get a special dispensation from Congress. For no military man can be appointed to that post unless he's been out of the armed services for 10 years. General Marshall got such a dispensation.

Dulles And Press

John Foster Dulles doesn't have the best press in the world, but he is sincerely dedicated to the idea that the American people are entitled to know just as much as possible about the conduct of their foreign affairs. At present he is engaged in opening up more avenues of information to the public; also has brought Henry Suydam, editor of the Newark, N. J., News and former press aide to Charles Evans Hughes, to take over State Department public relations.

Compared with other Eisenhower officials, the State Department today shines as a beacon of light when it comes to giving information to the public.

Most people don't realize how much behind-the-scenes work goes into the holding of a State Department press conference. Actually, the secretary of State begins preparing for the conference one hour in advance. At 10 a. m. his top officials come in to brief him on the latest news from Trieste, Israel, Korea, and other trouble spots. They also bring him a written summary of developments around the world—information he may need to answer scores of questions fired by 100 or so newsmen.

At 11 a. m. the conference opens, usually lasts 45 minutes, sometimes longer. Newsmen from all over the world can ask any question they want. Even the representative of Tass, the Soviet news agency, can put the secretary of State on the griddle.

This is a system existing no place else in the world. Newsmen, including the Tass representative, are given press quarters inside the State Department including free typewriters, free stationery, free telephone service—to be used, frequently, in criticism of the State Department.

Mistakes Reverberate

Though Mr. Dulles is a successful Wall Street attorney, he is a slow, hesitating speaker, sometimes painfully so. Sometimes, despite great care, he makes a mistake. Such a slip can be costly, for his words reverberate around the world.

After the press conference, a conference digest is prepared from the stenographic notes, and a copy sent to Dulles for correction. It then goes to every top officer in the State Department so they will know exactly what their chief has said and make no counterstatements.

After lunch, newsreels and radio networks pick out a couple of paragraphs from the stenographic record, and the secretary of State comes back to the press conference auditorium, reads these paragraphs in front of the Klieg lights, while the newsreels grind out the picture for TV and movie trade.

This takes up a good part of one day in the life of the secretary of State. He does this once a week. John Foster Dulles takes the view that he is not doing it as a favor to the press and the newsreels, however, but as an obligation to the American people. A successful foreign policy, he feels, must be based on an informed public.

"Best Man" Talbott

Harvey Howe, colored chauffeur of Dayton, Ohio, has been with Secretary for Air Talbott's family for so many years that he's sometimes called "Harvey Talbott."

The other day, Harvey, aged 64, told the secretary for Air that he expected to get married.

"I want you to stand up for me," Harvey told his old boss.

"When?" asked Talbott.

"Any time you say."

"All right," agreed Talbott, "the next time I have something that takes me out to Ohio so I won't have to make a special trip, I sure will stand up for you."

So when Talbott had to speak at the Lockland, Ohio, plant a short time later, he stood up as Harvey Howe's best man.

NOTE — Secretary Talbott, though chief of the Air Force, is careful not to use Air Force planes except on official business. Flying to New York on private business the other day he went commercial.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — The phone on the bed-table of Dan Fraad, Jr., head of Allied Maintenance Corp., rang loudly in the gloom of 4:30 a. m. The big, bald ex-football star pawed at it, husked a hello, and a shocked voice on the other end said:

"Mr. Fraad, I just broke 'Lunar Asparagus.' "

This might have unnerved a more fragile man than the mammoth Fraad, or a less versatile one. Fraad left college in the middle 1930's to take an active interest in the family firm which attends to such services as protecting the Statue of Liberty from the obscenities of seagulls, washing the dishes of all transatlantic planes stopping at Gander, cutting the grass at Ebbets Field, draining the grease pits under the presses of the N. Y. Journal-American, and removing poetry from rest room walls at the Trenton, N. J., railroad station.

"Sweep it up as best you can and I'll talk to them in the morning," Fraad commanded the stricken man who had broken "Lunar Asparagus."

In the morning he went to the Modern Museum of Art, which his company keeps scrubbed and as spotless as art browsers will permit, and surveyed the ruins.

It is difficult to know whether modern sculpture is whole or broken. But Fraad, for all his robustness, is a connoisseur. In an instant he recognized that "Lunar Asparagus," which had been three big plaster stalks rising out of a stiff mess of plaster, was irrefutably broken. It was in 1,001 pieces.

Stepping over the sorry white mound, Fraad sought out a curator, told him the news, and confessed the company's guilt. "'Lunar Asparagus' you say?" the man shouted delightedly. "Wonderful! It was a mistake to show it in the first place."

Curators are not always that sympathetic.

"One of my guy's waxing machines got real fouled up in a gallery one night," Fraad said. "She took off like a runaway and tore a nine-inch hole in a — — Guercino. Cost us about eight grand to straighen that one out. We had some tough breaks around art galleries, but I'm happy to say we've been able to louse up two Picassos accidentally. Dali's okay, but Picasso's a phony bum.

Fraad, grandson of a hard-working Danish immigrant who came to America in 1880 and got a job trimming wicks on Pennsylvania Railroad locomotive headlights, is still called "Junior" by most of the veterans among his 4,000 employes. His father, who did much to build Allied Maintenance into a $15,000,000 a year business, died only recently—vigorous to the end.

One of senior's last known acts of office was to bawl out a woman in Penn Station for encouraging her dog to use a fresh-scrubbed pillar for a tree.

Fraad studied football, rassling and lacrosse at Brown, and wishes he had been smaller and gentler-looking"...So I could have learned tennis or golf or some other sport you can take out of school with you. How the hell can I call up 21 guys and say 'let's play a little football Saturday?'" Later he studied anatomy at Yale and has since made many less formal studies of homo sapiens.

"People follow certain patterns of behavior in defacing, Vandalizing and committing nuisances," he philosophized over a post-luncheon cigaret. "I watched a guy every morning for four months carefully fold his paper and flip it up on an inaccessible ledge at Penn Station. I know commuters who light a cigar at Great Neck and drop the butt in the same corner in Penn Station. I know people who spit in the same place each day."

Gum droppers are increasing, Fraad reported. "But I wish they wouldn't try to be neat. If they'd drop the stuff in the middle of the rooms we service we could get it up better. They find strange corners, or the oddest places."

Fraad hoped to be a teacher of anatomy but one day he found himself on the ledge of the 21st floor of 200 Madison Avenue, with a bucket of water and a squeegee—his first job. "Ever since then when people ask me what's my business I say I'm a window washer. Saves argument."

There is not much question there would be argument. Allied sells plane tickets and chocks plane-wheels in Labrador, tanks up planes from Fort Worth to Newfoundland, paints the bleachers at Yankee Stadium, runs tea parties for the deb department of Bonwit Teller's, cleans up peanut shells, maintain tunnels and supplies bat-boys and lady organists.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The terrible facts are out at last. No amount of glossing over by the apologists for Red China and the Communists in this country and in Europe now can hide the awful story of torture and barbarism in Korea which has been made public by the U. S. Army.

For now it is disclosed that 6,113 Americans were the victims of indescribable atrocities and that hope has been abandoned for nearly all the 7,955 American boys listed as missing in Korea.

The Army report, prepared last spring, has been suppressed since that time so as not to create any new incidents which might interfere with the return of surviving American prisoners. About 250 communist prisoners, known to have engaged in the atrocities, were held to the last by the U. N. side but now have been released to the Communist side or to the neutral commission and hence are beyond the reach of any American instrument of justice.

Time For Ostracism

The army report is replete with case histories and sickening photographs. Entirely apart from the 6,113 American victims, there were 23,702 other persons — nearly all Koreans—against whom atrocities were committed.

The United States Government has begun to tell the story to the whole world. For nothing apparently can be done to punish the individuals who were the war criminals. The only thing that can be accomplished now is to hold the Peiping and North Korean and Moscow governments responsible for the acts committed by their agents in North Korea under whose orders the disarmed U. N. soldiers were so brutally treated.

This means more than merely condemning the war criminals by a resolution of the U. N. for the time has come to ostracize as barbaric and uncivilized the governments of Red China, Soviet Russia, and North Korea. Diplomatic relations with such governments, if carried on for reasons of expediency, could only mean that the free governments would be treating them as equals—indifferent to the crimes committed.

Sooner or later the United Nations will have to take a stand on the report which has been presented by the U. S. Army to the U. N. which called on all member nations to refrain from giving aid to the aggressors in Korea—the Communist regime in Moscow has sent munitions and supplies and individual officers to help the Reds in North Korea carry on war against the U. N. itself.

This constitutes such a breach of faith as to amount to treason against the U. N., and hence many Americans are wondering why the Soviet government hasn't been tried and expelled before this from the U. N. It will be recalled that the League of Nations once had the temerity to expel the Soviets.

Rallying Cry For Freedom

There are many Americans who have been told that the U. N. constitutes the hope of the world for peace and that it is a means of enforcing collective security. But that organization thus far has failed to purge itself of governments which violate the spirit of the charter and ignore its resolutions. There is no way, of course, short of war to compel physical compliance, so the only means left is moral force. But moral force takes considerable courage, too. In the present sequence of events, moral force would be exerted if the members of the U. N. examined the evidence furnished by the U. S. Army concerning atrocities in Korea and condemned the governments responsible for those brutal and barbaric acts. Then it would follow logically that no nation would be admitted to the U. N. which had not redressed the wrongs done and meted out punishment to the war criminals.

Until and unless such steps satisfactory to the U. N. were taken, any government whose troops or agents committed the crimes in Korea would be barred from the U. N. This would be an example of collective resistance to aggression which the whole world would understand. It would awaken among the people behind the iron curtain, who are themselves the victims of brutality, a hope that liberation for them could not long be postponed. Certainly if the peoples now under Communist rule knew that the rest of the world would not recognize such uncivilized government, this would form a rallying cry for the overthrow of those governments.

The report on Korean atrocities merely confirms the belief that to attempt to negotiate with a gangster government is as useless as it is to make deals with gangsters in the underworld of our American cities.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Carnival Of Murder

Alexander Orlov worked in the Supreme Court of Soviet Russia; he became a diplomat and was the Russian counter-intelligence chief in Spain during the Spanish Civil War. He was in the OGPU (NKVD). In Spain, he was adviser to the Spanish Republican government on matters relating to counter-intelligence and guerrilla warfare behind the enemy lines.

When he saw that many who had been Stalin's colleagues and whose loyalty was unquestionable were being murdered, he escaped before his number came up. For many years, he has been in hiding.

Alexander Orlov has now written a most valuable book, "The Secret History of Stalin's Crimes," which has been published by Random House. It is an objective report, written about men he knew and worked with, whom he characterizes with intimacy and understanding.

He establishes the authenticity of his material in this and subsequent paragraphs:

"I have written down the directives which Stalin personally gave to the NKVD chiefs at the conferences in the Kremlin; his instructions to the NKVD inquisitors on methods of breaking the resistance of Lenin's friends and extorting from them false confessions. I have recorded Stalin's personal negotiations with some of his victims and the words actually spoken by the doomed men behind the walls of the Lubianka prison. I obtained these closely guarded secrets from the NKVD interrogators themselves, some of whom had, in the past, been subordinate to me. Among them was my former assistant Mironov, chief of the Economic Administration of the NKVD, who had been one of Stalin's chief aides in the reparation of the Moscow trials and Boris Berman, deputy chief of the Foreign Department of the NKVD."

The character of Stalin stands out like a horrible, frightening nightmare; this man was devoid of all moral qualities. He killed his wife; he hated his eldest son, who disappeared in Germany during World War II; he killed his brother-in-law; he killed his two most intimate personal friends, he killed his political associates; he killed the men who did the killing for him, Yagoda and Yezhov; he killed the women and children of the families of the men he killed.

Names, dates, trials, purges, conversations, reports, all are given in this book with a calm objectivity that becomes a profile of the debasement of human nature.

The impression that I got from reading this book is that all of Stalin's murders were unnecessary, even from self-interest, and therefore could only have been the product either of a disordered, homosexual mind, or that the man lived in such fears that he could assuage them only by constant self-convincing acts of torture and murder.

One of his instruments was Andrei Vishinsky, now the Soviet representative at the United Nations, to whose dastardly ability Dr. Charles W. Mayo called attention in his brilliant United Nations speech. Orlov and Vishinsky worked together in the Supreme Court, Vishinsky, who attacks our country regularly with filthy venom, was, in his younger years, a bootlicker, an apple polisher, a vindictive careerist. And the facts are given in detail.

I know Orlov. Some day he ought to write a book on the Spanish Civil War, particularly the part played by Americans in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. This story has never been told in full. Also, it would be of great value to have him make a comparison between the espionage and counter-intelligence methods used by Soviet Russia and the United States. The Russians have done such a magnificent job in the United States, infiltrating our government and the institutions of our people, stealing our atom bomb and our radar developments, that the pattern of work ought to be described to our people.

It is not often that one of Orlov's experience lives long enough to come over to our side. Gouzenko, who exposed the spy ring in Canada, and Kravchenko, who provided some data on the spy ring in the United States, while their contributions were of value, never attained as high positions or such intimate personal relations as Orlov. And they did not know Stalin. Today, other men like Alexander Orlov are in hiding in various parts of the world. They might be encouraged, if they see what Orlov has done, to fill in some of the blank spaces in this carnival of murder.

Hungry, Worried, Polite

When Commodore Perry sailed into Tokyo Bay a century ago, Japan wanted only to be let alone. Isolated and insulated from the Western world, feudal Japan was backward but stable. But she was forced to take on Western ways faster than her culture and social setup could become adjusted to them.

Japan made great progress in industrialization, but stresses created by rapid change led to inner strife. A new warrior class gained totalitarian control through political assassinations and intimidation, seized Manchuria, and on December 7, 1941, put the U. S. Pacific Fleet out of commission at Pearl Harbor.

Perhaps it would have been the part of wisdom to respect Japan's desire to be let alone. But the clock cannot be turned back. If Japan were abandoned by the U. S., Russia could be expected to move in. But in war U. S. defense of Japan without Japanese help would be difficult.

And now it is being discovered that the militaristic Japan of 1941 is gone. The people of Japan do not want to create even the minimum defense forces they need for self-defense, with U. S. aid, against aggressive Russia and China.

In this ironical dilemma, Japan's statesmen know that Nippon must have defense forces. But Hayato Ikeda, personal representative of Premier Yoshida, points out the people and government of Japan fear revival of military control.

No satisfactory solution is in sight. Expansion of Japanese trade is badly needed. But the United States doesn't welcome Japanese trade with China and Russia, and Britain isn't happy over the prospect of Japanese competition.

The Fault Of Parole

Whenever a parolee goes back to crime, the entire system and philosophy of parole comes under fire.

Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnapers and murderers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, was released on parole from the Missouri state penitentiary after serving part of a five-year sentence for robbery. Governor Donnelly of Missouri has ordered an investigation of the granting of the parole. With the shocking details of the kidnaping and the premeditated murder of the little boy fresh in mind, public clamor to learn the details of the parole is understandably loud.

Theoretically, parole authorities check exhaustively into such applications as Hall's and try to project themselves into the character of the man whose bid for freedom lies before them. Will he become one of the group of parolees—numbering one-fifth to one-third of all prisoners handed a parole—who will wilfully violate the terms of the contract?

Often the parole board works under difficulties, lacking the time and the data to make an accurate decision. In such cases, where the decision appears to be a flagrant gamble, the whole philosophy of parole is at stake. It has been pointed out that, with prison costs per inmate very high, and with prison space everywhere inadequate, without parole the cost of separating men from human society would become so prohibitive that people would balk.

This doesn't excuse the Missouri parole board if investigation discloses that the Hall case got a once over lightly. The life of a child is certainly worth all of the investigation and expense of inquiry that may be necessary to protect it.

Atomic KWs

Atomic Energy Commission announces it will build, during the next few years, an atomic power plant of "at least 60,000 kilowatts" capacity. Thomas E. Murray of the AEC said the plant that will have a relatively small output of electric current will cost "tens of millions" of dollars.

But this government-built plant, Murray said, will surely be a "significant peacetime answer to recent Soviet atomic tests" and "show the world that even in this gravest phase of arming for defense, America's eyes are still on the peaceful future."

Mr. Murray was realistic when it came to the supply of uranium which America can count upon. Despite all possible effort to find and exploit American uranium—particularly in the Colorado plateau area where 200 mines are in operation—the U. S. must depend on other friendly nations for much of the vast quantities needed for defense stockpiles. To help maintain their confidence in America's industrial leadership there could hardly be a more effective demonstration than an atomic power plant.

In Westinghouse's hands the planning and construction should satisfy not only the naval scientists now working with this firm on submarine atom power, but also please the power industry. Besides the great Dow and Monsanto chemical firms, at least a dozen big electric power companies have been collaborating with the AEC on this task of making the atom do useful labor for mankind.

Maniacs And Morons

He drove like a crazy man, did he? Maybe he blew his horn to bully his way past Milquetoast drivers or defenseless pedestrians. Maybe he jumped a light changing to green, raced and zig-zagged his way through traffic, and in general acted as if he and his automobile were ball-carrying in a football game. Some who observe him may think he's crazy.

They may be right—literally. Dr. Alan Canty told the National Safety Council convention the other day that such problem drivers may be mentally unbalanced. A psychiatrist, his opinion carries some weight.

It carries weight for another reason, too. He reported to the convention on 10,000 problem drivers, referred by the courts, whom his Detroit Traffic Clinic has examined. Of these, 100—or one per cent—were commitably insane and shouldn't have been at large. Approximately 850 or eight per cent were feebleminded. More than 1,000 or 10 per cent had been in mental hospitals at some time in their lives and lacked the emotional stability to be trusted at the wheel of a car.

The remaining 8,000 evidently were neither feebleminded nor sufficiently unbalanced to belong in an institution. They were merely acting as if they were.

If any problem drivers, like those Dr. Canty examined, read his statistics, they will no doubt nod their heads and agree that a great many drivers they encounter are crazy, sure enough.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Will We Have A Flu Epidemic?

We now know that influenza epidemics follow a pattern and, by studying the records, many authorities are able to predict when the disease will strike again. There is some evidence that we will have a high incidence in the 1953-54 season but no one knows whether it will be mild or severe.

The influenza vaccine is the best method on hand for protection against an epidemic. The vaccine must contain the protective antibodies of several viruses because the disease is caused by more than one strain of this micro-organism. Statistics along this line go back to 1930, when we first learned that a single virus is not the culprit. Since that time there have been six epidemics traceable to influenze virus A and four each to viruses A-prime and B. Will the next be A, A-prime, or B? In some instances more than one type is involved, such as in 1936 and 1940 when virus B occurred early in the year and virus A in the later months.

Most epidemics of the last 30 years have been mild and they probably escaped the attention of most people. To many, the number of cases meant little more than "a lot of flu around this spring." They were nothing compared with the pandemics of 1890 and 1918, which affected all ages. The fatality rate was exceptionally high and pneumonia was responsible for most of the deaths.

The severity of an epidemic depends upon the virulence of the organism and the susceptibility of the population. Because minor epidemics occur at frequent intervals, most people develop a certain degree of immunity to the invading germs. An epidemic caused by one of the milder strains usually is more prevalent in infants and children because they lack the immunity acquired by older persons. On the other hand, when the virus belongs to a tougher or more virulent strain everyone is susceptible because immunity is not as complete as that which develops after smallpox, diphtheria, or measles. Even the "shots" must be repeated once or twice a year because the effects wear off by the end of three months.

We wonder how much physicians of the 14th, 15th, and 16th centuries knew about immunity to influenza. According to Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., when an epidemic occurred, it was referred to as "The Newe Acquayantance." Did they mean it was a new disease or that the causative organism was a newcomer and was finding everyone susceptible? Dr. Francis quotes a letter written to Cecil by Sir Thomas Randolph, ambassador from Queen Elizabeth to the court of Mary, Queen of Scots: "Maye it please your Honor immediately upon the Queen's arrivall here, she fell acquaynted with a new disease that is common in this town, called here the Newe Acquayantance, which passed also throughe her whole Courte, neither sparing lordes, ladies, nor damoysells, not so much as either Frenche or English. . . . There was no appearance of danger, nor manie that die of the disease, except some olde folkes."

Times have not changed. In an epidemic, many are ill but few die. Historians tell us that old timers also had pet names to describe their epidemics in much the same way as we speak about flu, virus X, the virus thing, or the pip. To those of another era flu was the jolly rant, the new delight, the gallant's disease, or the fashionable illness.

TOMORROW: Another virus disease: epidemic pleurodynia.

APPENDICITIS

Mrs. E. writes: Just what does the doctor do before he decides that a person has appendicitis and needs operation?

REPLY

After discussing symptoms and finding the area over the appendix tender to the touch, the physician has a white blood count made. A high white count usually is associated with appendicitis.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

T. G. writes: What are the symptoms of multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

Symptoms differ according to the extent and the number of areas in the brain and spinal cord affected by the disease. Transient blurring of vision and weakness of an arm or leg are the most common first manifestations. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

E. W. writes: Is high blood pressure hereditary?

REPLY

There is a tendency in this direction. In an analysis of family histories of medical students at Johns Hopkins, Dr. C. B. Thomas found that those young men whose blood pressure had a tendency to fluctuate markedly were most likely to have parents with hypertension. There is an indication, however, that the tendency is recessive.

EPIDEMIC DIARRHEA

Mrs. L. writes: What kind of diarrhea is it that closes maternity hospitals from time to time?

REPLY

Gen. Lucius Clay Reported Ready To Join Cabinet; Dulles Improving His Press Relations; Air Secretary Is Best Man For Old Negro Chauffeur

WASHINGTON—White House advisers say that when and if Charles E. Wilson steps out of the Defense Department his successor will be Gen. Lucius Clay, former U. S. commander in Germany, now head of Continental Can and one of Ike's closest unofficial advisers.

"Clay can have any job he wants in the administration," one White House adviser confided. "He can write his own ticket. I think, also, he's ready any time Ike needs him."

Actually Wilson isn't expected to get out of the Defense Department any time soon. Occasionally the President has got upset over his Defense secretary's sudden brusqueness and was extremely irked when Wilson shot off about the innocuousness of the Russian H-bomb at a time when other administration leaders were warning of its danger.

However, it's recognized that Wilson is performing a useful and necessary function by knocking Pentagon heads together—one of the toughest and most thankless jobs in Washington.

NOTE—When and if General Clay becomes secretary of Defense, he would have to get a special dispensation from Congress. For no military man can be appointed to that post unless he's been out of the armed services for 10 years. General Marshall got such a dispensation.

Dulles And Press

John Foster Dulles doesn't have the best press in the world, but he is sincerely dedicated to the idea that the American people are entitled to know just as much as possible about the conduct of their foreign affairs. At present he is engaged in opening up more avenues of information to the public; also has brought Henry Suydam, editor of the Newark, N. J., News and former press aide to Charles Evans Hughes, to take over State Department public relations.

Compared with other Eisenhower officials, the State Department today shines as a beacon of light when it comes to giving information to the public.

Most people don't realize how much behind-the-scenes work goes into the holding of a State Department press conference. Actually, the secretary of State begins preparing for the conference one hour in advance. At 10 a. m. his top officials come in to brief him on the latest news from Trieste, Israel, Korea, and other trouble spots. They also bring him a written summary of developments around the world—information he may need to answer scores of questions fired by 100 or so newsmen.

At 11 a. m. the conference opens, usually lasts 45 minutes, sometimes longer. Newsmen from all over the world can ask any question they want. Even the representative of Tass, the Soviet news agency, can put the secretary of State on the griddle.

This is a system existing no place else in the world. Newsmen, including the Tass representative, are given press quarters inside the State Department including free typewriters, free stationery, free telephone service—to be used, frequently, in criticism of the State Department.

Mistakes Reverberate

Though Mr. Dulles is a successful Wall Street attorney, he is a slow, hesitating speaker, sometimes painfully so. Sometimes, despite great care, he makes a mistake. Such a slip can be costly, for his words reverberate around the world.

After the press conference, a conference digest is prepared from the stenographic notes, and a copy sent to Dulles for correction. It then goes to every top officer in the State Department so they will know exactly what their chief has said and make no counterstatements.

After lunch, newsreels and radio networks pick out a couple of paragraphs from the stenographic record, and the secretary of State comes back to the press conference auditorium, reads these paragraphs in front of the Klieg lights, while the newsreels grind out the picture for TV and movie trade.

This takes up a good part of one day in the life of the secretary of State. He does this once a week. John Foster Dulles takes the view that he is not doing it as a favor to the press and the newsreels, however, but as an obligation to the American people. A successful foreign policy, he feels, must be based on an informed public.

"Best Man" Talbott

Harvey Howe, colored chauffeur of Dayton, Ohio, has been with Secretary for Air Talbott's family for so many years that he's sometimes called "Harvey Talbott."

The other day, Harvey, aged 64, told the secretary for Air that he expected to get married.

"I want you to stand up for me," Harvey told his old boss.

"When?" asked Talbott.

"Any time you say."

"All right," agreed Talbott, "the next time I have something that takes me out to Ohio so I won't have to make a special trip, I sure will stand up for you."

So when Talbott had to speak at the Lockland, Ohio, plant a short time later, he stood up as Harvey Howe's best man.

NOTE — Secretary Talbott, though chief of the Air Force, is careful not to use Air Force planes except on official business. Flying to New York on private business the other day he went commercial.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — The phone on the bed-table of Dan Fraad, Jr., head of Allied Maintenance Corp., rang loudly in the gloom of 4:30 a. m. The big, bald ex-football star pawed at it, husked a hello, and a shocked voice on the other end said:

"Mr. Fraad, I just broke 'Lunar Asparagus.' "

This might have unnerved a more fragile man than the mammoth Fraad, or a less versatile one. Fraad left college in the middle 1930's to take an active interest in the family firm which attends to such services as protecting the Statue of Liberty from the obscenities of seagulls, washing the dishes of all transatlantic planes stopping at Gander, cutting the grass at Ebbets Field, draining the grease pits under the presses of the N. Y. Journal-American, and removing poetry from rest room walls at the Trenton, N. J., railroad station.

"Sweep it up as best you can and I'll talk to them in the morning," Fraad commanded the stricken man who had broken "Lunar Asparagus."

In the morning he went to the Modern Museum of Art, which his company keeps scrubbed and as spotless as art browsers will permit, and surveyed the ruins.

It is difficult to know whether modern sculpture is whole or broken. But Fraad, for all his robustness, is a connoisseur. In an instant he recognized that "Lunar Asparagus," which had been three big plaster stalks rising out of a stiff mess of plaster, was irrefutably broken. It was in 1,001 pieces.

Stepping over the sorry white mound, Fraad sought out a curator, told him the news, and confessed the company's guilt. " 'Lunar Asparagus' you say?" the man shouted delightedly. "Wonderful! It was a mistake to show it in the first place."

Curators are not always that sympathetic.

"One of my guy's waxing machines got real fouled up in a gallery one night," Fraad said. "She took off like a runaway and tore a nine-inch hole in a — — Guercino. Cost us about eight grand to straighen that one out. We had some tough breaks around art galleries, but I'm happy to say we've been able to louse up two Picassos accidentally. Dali's okay, but Picasso's a phony bum.

Fraad, grandson of a hard-working Danish immigrant who came to America in 1880 and got a job trimming wicks on Pennsylvania Railroad locomotive headlights, is still called "Junior" by most of the veterans among his 4,000 employes. His father, who did much to build Allied Maintenance into a $15,000,000 a year business, died only recently—vigorous to the end.

One of senior's last known acts of office was to bawl out a woman in Penn Station for encouraging her dog to use a fresh-scrubbed pillar for a tree.

Fraad studied football, rassling and lacrosse at Brown, and wishes he had been smaller and gentler-looking"...So I could have learned tennis or golf or some other sport you can take out of school with you. How the hell can I call up 21 guys and say 'let's play a little football Saturday?" Later he studied anatomy at Yale and has since made many less formal studies of homo sapiens.

"People follow certain patterns of behavior in defacing, Vandalizing and committing nuisances," he philosophized over a post-luncheon cigaret. "I watched a guy every morning for four months carefully fold his paper and flip it up on an inaccessible ledge at Penn Station. I know commuters who light a cigar at Great Neck and drop the butt in the same corner in Penn Station. I know people who spit in the same place each day."

Gum droppers are increasing, Fraad reported. "But I wish they wouldn't try to be neat. If they'd drop the stuff in the middle of the rooms we service we could get it up better. They find strange corners, or the oddest places."

Fraad hoped to be a teacher of anatomy but one day he found himself on the ledge of the 21st floor of 200 Madison Avenue, with a bucket of water and a squeegee—his first job. "Ever since then when people ask me what's my business I say I'm a window washer. Saves argument."

There is not much question there would be argument. Allied sells plane tickets and chocks planewheels in Labrador, tanks up planes from Fort Worth to Newfoundland, paints the bleachers at Yankee Stadium, runs tea parties for the deb department of Bonwit Teller's, cleans up peanut shells, maintain tunnels and supplies batboys and lady organists.

WASHINGTON — The terrible facts are out at last. No amount of glossing over by the apologists for Red China and the Communists in this country and in Europe now can hide the awful story of torture and barbarism in Korea which has been made public by the U. S. Army.

For now it is disclosed that 6,113 Americans were the victims of indescribable atrocities and that hope has been abandoned for nearly all the 7,955 American boys listed as missing in Korea.

The Army report, prepared last spring, has been suppressed since that time so as not to create any new incidents which might interfere with the return of surviving American prisoners. About 250 communist prisoners, known to have engaged in the atrocities, were held to the last by the U. N. side but now have been released to the Communist side or to the neutral commission and hence are beyond the reach of any American instrument of justice.

Time For Ostracism

The army report is replete with case histories and sickening photographs. Entirely apart from the 6,113 American victims, there were 23,702 other persons — nearly all Koreans—against whom atrocities were committed.

The United States Government has begun to tell the story to the whole world. For nothing apparently can be done to punish the individuals who were the war criminals. The only thing that can be accomplished now is to hold the Peiping and North Korean and Moscow governments responsible for the acts committed by their agents in North Korea under whose orders the disarmed U. N. soldiers were so brutally treated.

This means more than merely condemning the war criminals by a resolution of the U. N. for the time has come to ostracize as barbaric and uncivilized the governments of Red China, Soviet Russia, and North Korea. Diplomatic relations with such governments, if carried on for reasons of expediency, could only mean that the free governments would be treating them as equals—indifferent to the crimes committed.

Sooner or later the United Nations will have to take a stand on the report which has been presented by the U. S. Army to the U. N. which called on all member nations to refrain from giving aid to the aggressors in Korea—the Communist regime in Moscow has sent munitions and supplies and individual officers to help the Reds in North Korea carry on war against the U. N. itself.

This constitutes such a breach of faith as to amount to treason against the U. N., and hence many Americans are wondering why the Soviet government hasn't been tried and expelled before this from the U. N. It will be recalled that the League of Nations once had the temerity to expel the Soviets.

Rallying Cry For Freedom

There are many Americans who have been told that the U. N. constitutes the hope of the world for peace and that it is a means of enforcing collective security. But that organization thus far has failed to purge itself of governments which violate the spirit of the charter and ignore its resolutions. There is no way, of course, short of war to compel physical compliance, so the only means left is moral force. But moral force takes considerable courage, too. In the present sequence of events, moral force would be exerted if the members of the U. N. examined the evidence furnished by the U. S. Army concerning atrocities in Korea and condemned the governments responsible for those brutal and barbaric acts. Then it would follow logically that no nation would be admitted to the U. N. which had not redressed the wrongs done and meted out punishment to the war criminals.

Until and unless such steps satisfactory to the U. N. were taken, any government whose troops or agents committed the crimes in Korea would be barred from the U. N. This would be an example of collective resistance to aggression which the whole world would understand. It would awaken among the people behind the iron curtain, who are themselves the victims of brutality, a hope that liberation for them could not long be postponed. Certainly if the peoples now under Communist rule knew that the rest of the world would not recognize such uncivilized government, this would form a rallying cry for the overthrow of those governments.

The report on Korean atrocities merely confirms the belief that to attempt to negotiate with a gangster government is as useless as it is to make deals with gangsters in the underworld of our American cities.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Carnival Of Murder

Alexander Orlov worked in the Supreme Court of Soviet Russia; he became a diplomat and was the Russian counter-intelligence chief in Spain during the Spanish Civil War. He was in the OGPU (NKVD). In Spain, he was adviser to the Spanish Republican government on matters relating to counter-intelligence and guerrilla warfare behind the enemy lines.

When he saw that many who had been Stalin's colleagues and whose loyalty was unquestionable were being murdered, he escaped before his number came up. For many years, he has been in hiding.

Alexander Orlov has now written a most valuable book, "The Secret History of Stalin's Crimes," which has been published by Random House. It is an objective report, written about men he knew and worked with, whom he characterizes with intimacy and understanding.

He establishes the authenticity of his material in this and subsequent paragraphs:

"I have written down the directives which Stalin personally gave to the NKVD chiefs at the conferences in the Kremlin; his instructions to the NKVD inquisitors on methods of breaking the resistance of Lenin's friends and extorting from them false confessions. I have recorded Stalin's personal negotiations with some of his victims and the words actually spoken by the doomed men behind the walls of the Lubianka prison. I obtained these closely guarded secrets from the NKVD interrogators themselves, some of whom had, in the past, been subordinate to me. Among them was my former assistant Mironov, chief of the Economic Administration of the NKVD, who had been one of Stalin's chief aides in the reparation of the Moscow trials and Boris Berman, deputy chief of the Foreign Department of the NKVD."

The character of Stalin stands out like a horrible, frightening nightmare; this man was devoid of all moral qualities. He killed his wife; he hated his eldest son, who disappeared in Germany during World War II; he killed his brother-in-law; he killed his two most intimate personal friends, he killed his political associates; he killed the men who did the killing for him, Yagoda and Yezhov; he killed the women and children of the families of the men he killed.

Names, dates, trials, purges, conversations, reports, all are given in this book with a calm objectivity that becomes a profile of the debasement of human nature.

The impression that I got from reading this book is that all of Stalin's murders were unnecessary, even from self-interest, and therefore could only have been the product either of a disordered, homosexual mind, or that the man lived in such fears that he could assuage them only by constant self-convincing acts of torture and murder.

One of his instruments was Andrei Vishinsky, now the Soviet representative at the United Nations, to whose dastardly ability Dr. Charles W. Mayo called attention in his brilliant United Nations speech. Orlov and Vishinsky worked together in the Supreme Court. Vishinsky, who attacks our country regularly with filthy venom, was, in his younger years, a bootlicker, an apple polisher, a vindictive careerist. And the facts are given in detail.

I know Orlov. Some day he ought to write a book on the Spanish Civil War, particularly the part played by Americans in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. This story has never been told in full. Also, it would be of great value to have him make a comparison between the espionage and counter-intelligence methods used by Soviet Russia and the United States. The Russians have done such a magnificent job in the United States, infiltrating our government and the institutions of our people, stealing our atom bomb and our radar developments, that the pattern of work ought to be described to our people.

It is not often that one of Orlov's experience lives long enough to come over to our side. Gouzenko, who exposed the spy ring in Canada, and Kravchenko, who provided some data on the spy ring in the United States, while their contributions were of value, never attained as high positions or such intimate personal relations as Orlov. And they did not know Stalin. Today, other men like Alexander Orlov are in hiding in various parts of the world. They might be encouraged, if they see what Orlov has done, to fill in some of the blank spaces in this carnival of murder.

Israelis Threaten Truce Supervisor, Arabs Report

Bennike Declines To Say If Life Endangered

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Arab delegates said today Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, U. N. truce supervisor in Palestine, and some of his observer staff had been threatened with death by Israelis.

Charles Malik, Lebanese delegate on the Security Council, then formally asked Bennike whether he or any of his men had been threatened.

Bennike told the council he wanted time to consider this question and others asked him by several delegates. He told a reporter after the council adjourned for the day that he had nothing to say about himself but that it was commonly known he had bodyguards in the Holy Lands.

He went on to say he had Israeli guards when he was in Israel and Arab guards while in Arab territory. Beyond that he would not comment. Israeli spokesmen had nothing to say on the reports or the questions.

Arab sources said Bennike had been informed by the Israeli government that it was not safe for him to move about in Israel without informing Israel where he would be.

The Malik query was asked at a council session devoted exclusively to putting questions to the truce supervisor, who flew here to inform the council about the Palestine situation.

Malik referred questions about his query to Bennike to Col. M. Riad, Egyptian delegate, who said there had been a series of threatenings. Riad said the latest came when U. N. truce observers were threatened by Israelis as they attempted to inspect the small village of El Auga.

The first U. N. mediator in Palestine, Count Folke Bernadotte, Sweden, was killed by Jews in Jerusalem Sept. 17, 1948, soon after beginning his work.

The council decided to meet again next Wednesday to hear Bennike's answers to the questions. The council will meet again tomorrow to debate further Syria's complaint that an Israeli hydroelectric project on the Jordan River—now suspended for the duration of debate here—diverts water from Syrian farmers in violaton of the armistice agreements of 1949.

IN CUSTODY — Pfc. Rothwell B. Floyd (above), 28, home after 30 months in a North Korean prison camp, has been seized for questioning in the slaying of two fellow prisoners, a spokesman for the 5th Army said yesterday. Floyd was picked up as a result of questioning of repatriated prisoners in North Korea. He is being held temporarily at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., near Chicago, where he was taken into custody without charge. Ft. Sheridan, Ill., says that Floyd was wearing a uniform with sergeant's stripes when he was picked up.

Second Youth Guilty Of Perverted Practice

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP) — The second of 14 youths charged with sex offenses against two girl cousins was found innocent of statutory rape today but found guilty of assault with intent to "carnally know" one of the girls who was 11 at the time.

Attorneys for the boy, Charles Cooper, 18, argued that the testimony of the girl was "uncorroborated and not of any weight."

William R. Krug, 17, was tried yesterday and found innocent of raping the 11-year-old but guilty of perverted practices.

The girl in the cases tried to date is 12 now and her cousin, who was 13 at the time of the alleged offenses last July, is now 14.

State CD Chief Raps Montgomery County

PIKESVILLE, Md., Oct. 29 (AP)—Maryland Civil Defense Director Shirley Ewing today charged Montgomery County officials with "apathy" and "complete indifference" toward Civil Defense activities.

"We have repeatedly offered all possible advice and assistance to the (Montgomery) County authorities," Ewing told Gov. McKeldin, "but have been unable to secure any evidence that the county government accepts any responsibility for Civil Defense."

Ewing's remarks were made in the course of a report on a statewide practice alert Sept. 22.

Bethlehem Steel Breaks Records

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 2 steel producer, announced today a series of smashed records for income, production, shipments and payroll for the first nine months of 1953.

The company announced net income for the first nine months totalled $93,525,340, equal to $9.25 a share, eclipsing the previous nine-month record of $90,800,000 on 1950 equal to $8.96.

The third quarter net income was $34,030,204, equal to $3.38 a share, also breaking the previous record for a third quarter of $33,563,841 in 1950 equal to $3.33 a share.

Board Chairman Eugene G. Grace also announced that production for the nine months was a record 13,376,000 tons of steel ingots and casting, toppling the previous record set in the first nine months of 1951 of 12,213,000.

Grace also unveiled a record nine months for shipments, totalling 9,697,000 tons, surpassing the previous high for a similar period of 9,085,000 tons in 1951.

Grace said the third quarter's total payroll of $185,240,000 was the greatest in Bethlehem's history.

Missing Ransom Mystery To Him, Shoulders Says

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29 (AP)—The policeman who nabbed the kidnap-killers of Bobby Greenlease and recovered half the $600,000 ransom ended a five-hour story before a federal grand jury today.

But Lt. Louis Shoulders of St. Louis said he had no answer to the mystery of the missing $300,000 that apparently is the object of intensive interest to the jury investigating the fatal abduction.

"I wish you could tell me the money had been found," the bulky officer said. "That would make me the happiest man in the world.

A St. Louis Police Board hearing on Shoulders' handling of the arrest and recovery of the money brought his resignation and an angry accusation that the questioning had injured his character and reputation.

Visited Landlady's Home

A visit by the officer to the home of his landlady, Miss June Marie George, the night of the arrest, was one of the reasons for the hearing.

There were indications the jury might vote an expected indictment today of Carl Austin Hall, 34, the ex-convict who has confessed he shot the 6-year-old son of wealthy Robert C. Greenlease, and Mrs. Bonnie Heady, 41, who stole the boy away from his Kansas City

But the jury's interest in the drunken spending spree in St. Louis that ended with Hall's arrest in a motel room was taking up all of today's time.

Blonde Taken Before Jury

As Shoulders left the jury room and strode down the corridor with his attractive landlady, deputy deputy marshals were bringing another St. Louis principal to the courthouse. She was Sandra O'Day a buxom strawberry blonde who spent a night with Hall and collected $1,000 for a trip to Los Angeles.

Miss O'Day may have been the first to discover the suitcases full of money in Hall's possession. When she told a St. Louis cab driver, John Hager, she had "seen a million bucks" in Hall's luggage, the taxi driver tipped Shoulders about Hall. Hager had been driving the kidnaper on a tour of taverns and errands for three days.

French Baron 'Cleaned' U. S. In Deal For Paris Mansion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rep. Phillips (R-Calif), now touring Europe, has sent back what he calls the "fantastic story" on how French Baron Henri Rothschild "cleaned" the United States in a big real estate deal.

As Phillips tells it in a letter to his constitutents, released by his office today, the baron sold the United States a magnificent mansion in Paris for two million dollars, then stripped it of priceless paneling, a marble staircase, and even the door knob before the United States took over.

While Phillips called it a "cleaning," he also opined: "The grounds are undoubtedly worth the price we paid."

The State Department, in reply to inquiries, said the United States did buy a mansion from Rothschild in April, 1948, paying the equivalent of about two million dollars in French and Belgian francs. The building now houses the U.S. Information Service and some other arms of the U.S. government.

The department said it was true that "some of the woodwork and interior finishes" were removed from the dwelling at 41 Rue Honore.

When this was discovered, an official said, an adjustment of about $50,000 was made in the purchase price.

The department official said the mansion has an annual rent valuation of $70,000.

Negro Quizzed In Killing Found Shot To Death

SYCKESVILLE, Md., Oct. 29 (AP)—A posse led by state police today discovered the shotgun-blasted body of Bernard H. West, 55-year-old Negro who had been wanted for questioning about the death of Edward Hamlin Hargrave.

Hargrave, 77-year-old former Baltimore city councilman, was found dead last August at his Sykesville home. An examination showed he had been poisoned.

West was found shot to death near this community about 14 miles west of Baltimore.

The discovery of his body came less than an hour after the posse, augmented by volunteer firemen and Boy Scouts, set out in search of West.

He had been wounded at the base of the throat. A shotgun lay nearby.

State Police said West was a former farm employe of Hargrave's. He had been questioned about the former councilman's death and released.

The search was begun today after it was learned West had been missing from his home for about a week.

The condition of the body indicated West had been dead for several days.

The discovery of his body came less than an hour after the posse, augmented by volunteer firemen and Boy Scouts, set out in search of West.

He had been wounded at the base of the throat. A shotgun lay nearby.

State Police said West was a former farm employe of Hargrave's. He had been questioned about the former councilman's death and released.

The search was begun today after it was learned West had been missing from his home for about a week.

Secretaries Entertain

Each American should shoulder their share of responsibilities in life to help world conditions, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, told members of the Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association last evening. Dr. Byrd was the speaker at the chapter's annual Bosses Night party, at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Miss Garnet Fazenbaker, president of the chapter, welcomed the guests. Malcolm Campbell served as master of ceremonies and Rev. Kenneth Grove offered the invocation. Entertainment was by the Harmonettes of Westernport.

Autumn leaves and pumpkin lanterns decorated the tables, centered with a fall bouquet of mums. Covers were laid for 46.

Miss Ella Mae Hodgdon was chairman, assisted by Miss Anna McGraw, Miss Betty Lewis, Miss Frances Snoeberger, Mrs. Henriette DeRosa, Miss Margaret Lester, Miss Anna Agress and Mrs. Mary Bell Light.

Marion Howdyshell To Be Bride Of Floyd Nelson Ryan

Miss Marion Lucille Howdyshell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Howdyshell, 121 Oak Street, is to become the bride of Floyd Nelson Ryan, son of Mrs. Alvey Ryan, Hazen Road, and the late Mr. Ryan, tonight.

The double ring ceremony is being solemnized in St. John's Lutheran Church at 7 p. m. with Rev. Frederick J. Eckert officiating. Bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decorations.

Miss Mae Howdyshell will be her sister's maid of honor; and Miss Mary Frances Franze and Miss Virginia Stotler, bridesmaids. R. Bruce Ryan is serving as his brother's best man, while John Cessna and Walter Reighard, brother-in-law of the bride, are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music will be sung by John Weber, with Robert Mann, Jr., at the organ and playing the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohegrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her brother, Charles R. Howdyshell, is wearing a floor length gown of lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice is buttoned down the front, has a Queen Anne neckline and long sleeves tapering to a point on the head. Her fingertip length veil is held by a lace crown and completing her costume, she is carrying a Colonial bouquet.

Her attendants gowns are of net over taffeta, with a satin panel down the front. They have V necklines and full skirts. The maid of honor's gown is lime color, Miss Franze's rose and Miss Stotler's violet. With them they are wearing headdress of yellow rosebuds and carrying matching bouquets.

Mrs. Howdyshell has chosen a purple dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Ryan selected a brown check suit for the wedding, and has brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1949, where she was a member of the Tri-Hi-Y and Glee Club. She attended Catherman's Business School and is employed in the tax office of the City of Cumberland.

The bridegroom also is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1949, where he was in the Hi-Y, vice president of the senior class and active in track. A veteran of four years in the Navy, he served in the Far East and was employed by the Celanese Corporation of America, before enrolling at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. Howdyshell are entaining with a reception for their daughter and her bridal party in the church social room. The bridal motif will be carried out in the decorations and tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to New York, the bride is wearing a cocoa brown suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. Upon their return Mr. Ryan and his bride will reside at 21 West First Street.

Salvation Army Drive Progresses

The classified goal for the Salvation Army fund drive has been set at $5,500 and solicitors are at work attempting to meet this figure.

Already $11,195 has been pledged toward the advance gifts goal of $14,000. The total goal is $19,500.

The classified drive began Tuesday night and a report meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. at the Citadel. The advance gifts section is expected to reach its goal by next week, according to Lewis J. Ort, chairman of the Advisory Board. Adolf Blunk is general drive chairman.

Local College Student Heads Publicity Work

Miss Patricia Close, daughter of Mrs. Sarah A. Close, 308 Harrison Street, is a co-chairman in charge of publicity for a Christian Living Emphasis Week being held this week at Bethany, W. Va. College.

A junior student, Miss Close is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and managing editor of the college newspaper, "The Tower." She is majoring in public relations.

Canadian Surrenders To State Police

A Canadian youth, Clifton John Peterkin, 21, of Toronto, gave himself up Wednesday night at the LaVale barracks of the State Police as an alien.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said Peterkin came into the barracks and said he had been "bumming" about the United States since July when he entered this country illegally.

Cpl. Baker has contacted U. S. Immigration Service officials at Baltimore and they will come here to take Peterkin into custody. The man has been fingerprinted and is being held in the county jail for federal authorities.

Insurance Association Will Elect Two Men

The Cumberland Life Underwriters Association will elect a director and second vice president at a luncheon meeting today at Central YMCA to fill vacancies created by resignations.

The offices to be filled were vacated by the resignations of Bernard Renz, director, and Lester Beall, second vice president. Bernard Loraditch, president of the group, will preside.

George Millenson, local merchant, will speak on "Why I Bought Insurance And What It Means To Me."

Douglas Ritchie, chairman of the education committee, said the first of 26 weekly classes of the Life Underwriters Training Council, will follow the meeting. The classes are sponsored by the local group in cooperation with the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Become Boy Scouts

James Feagles and Ray Weimer Jr., former members of Cub Pack 1, sponsored by Columbia Street School PTA, this week were advanced to Boy Scouts and became members of Troop 1, sponsored by St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

At the ceremony held at Columbia Street School, Mrs. Ray Weimer and Mrs. Alfred Crabtree were presented certificates of appreciation for their work as den mothers in the pack.

Voice Of Democracy Contest Under Way

The seventh annual Voice of Democracy contest is being sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce among 11 Allegany County public and parochial high schools.

The event for students of the three upper grades will be conducted in Allegany, Fort Hill, Bruce, Valley, LaSalle, St. Mary's, Beall, Flintstone, Oldtown, St. Peter's high schools and Ursuline Academy.

Last year 1,100 students participated in the contest that calls for a five-minute talk on "I Speak for Democracy."

Judging calls for 40 points for content, 40 points for delivery and 20 points for originality.

Chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge is E. James Scott and members are Dr. William Firey, John McVey, James Martinson, Eldred Steinmann, and Robert Mayott.

School winners are to be selected by November 13 while the county finals will be held here November 22.

The state eliminations will be held December 7 in Bethesda. Morgan L. Kenney, of Bethesda, is state chairman of the event.

The four national winners will be selected at a workshop at Williamsburg, Va., where the state winners will be sent for four days, February 19 to 21.

The four national winners, all co-equal will be given a week in Washington. In addition they will each receive $500 scholarships and either a radio or a television receiver.

Besides some 30,000 needle-sharp quills, the porcupine has sharp teeth that can sever a finger in one bite.

Hearing Slated Prior To TV Decision Here

Regardless or whether the Federal Communications Commission allocates another television channel to Cumberland, there still must be a hearing.

The FCC has already allotted one channel to Cumberland, No. 17. By the first of November it is understood another channel, No. 30, will be assigned here.

Cumberland has been in the same shape as a number of cities. There has been one channel available but two or more applicants.

This has resulted in a logjam of hearings by the applicants before the FCC. In order to do away with the hearings, the FCC announced plans to award a second channel to those cities that had only two outfits seeking the permits.

The FCC set October 13 as the deadline for the filing of additional applications on these extra permits and October 23 was set as the deadline for answering the comments.

After November 1 the FCC will announce its decision. So far the Cumberland Broadcasting Company and the Tri-State Broadcasting Company still remain the only and original applicants for the two permits.

But here is the hitch to the whole deal. Both the Cumberland firm, or Radio Station WTBO, and the Tri-State Company, Radio Station WDYK, want Channel 17.

For various technical reasons, Channel 30 is not as acceptable to the firms as the Channel 17.

This again will call for a hearing that the FCC was attempting to forestall by its granting another permit to Cumberland.

Poch Will Speak At Centennial Of Lutheran Church

Chaplain Had Colorful Career In U. S. Army

Col. Martin C. Poch, staff chaplain of the Military Air Transport Service, Washington, will be guest speaker Sunday morning during a centennial celebration service at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The service, according to Rev. Gerhardt A. Wagner, will be at 10:45 a.m. with special music by the Junior and Senior Choirs under the direction of Mrs. Paul Gilford.

A native of London, Colonel Poch attended the Lutheran parochial school in that city and in Grand Rapids, Mich. He graduated from Concordia College, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., in 1926.

He was ordained into the ministry on September 4, 1926. Later, he did missionary work and conducted services in CCC camps in the Northwest. On August 31, 1935 he accepted a reserve commission as chaplain in the U. S. Army and in a competitive examination was appointed a regular chaplain in 1936.

During his military career he served at Fort Clayton in the Canal Zone, Harbor Defense of Chesapeake Bay, Fort Story, Va., and during World War II was chaplain of the Sixth Division and saw action in the Pacific. Later he was with occupation forces in Japan.

In 1950 he was assigned to the office of the Chief of Air Force Chaplains as chief of plans and training. From 1951 until his assignment to headquarters of MATS in 1953 he was staff chaplain for the U. S. Air Force in Europe.

Besides campaign ribbons with six battle stars, Colonel Poch also holds a commendation ribbon given him by Major General Franklin D. Sibert, commanding general of the Sixth Division, and the Legion of Merit presented by General Walter Krueger, commanding general of the Sixth Army.

The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod also honored him when Concordia Seminary conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Gaming Case Trial Postponed Here

Defendants are Richard Fox, Cresaptown; James Murray, 211 Fulton Street; Joseph A. Franklin, 108 Independence Street; Sylvester Walker, 328 Emily Street; George Drew, Locust Grove, and Donald Swisher, Keyser.

Police said Murray, Franklin, Walker, Drew and Swisher were engaged in a card game at premises in the rear of 10 Baltimore Street. Cards and money were confiscated.

Fox is accused of maintaining a place for gambling.

"Frostburg Night" Set At K Of C Home

Today's 'Fun Night' program at the K. of C. Home will be known as 'Frostburg Night,' according to Patrick J. Creegan, chairman in charge, who said the Frostburg Council has been invited to participate in the festivities.

The program will get underway, Creegan said, following the Allegany-LaSalle football game. Assisting with arrangements are J. Paul Nose, Joseph Martin, Thomas Simon, Lacy Cifala, James J. Condon, Thomas Carroll, Edward Mattingly, Wilbert Firlie and Eugene McGreevy.

Entertainment will include group singing, with Lloyd L. "Peck" Mills at the piano.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

MRS. MARY MUNSON

Mrs. Mary Munson, 85, grandmother of John E. Byrd Jr., 30 Ridgeway Terrace, died yesterday morning at her home in Martinsburg, W. Va., following an extended illness.

She was a native of Great Cacapon, W. Va.

Survivors include a son, Elmer Munson, and two daughters, Mrs. John E. Byrd Sr., and Mrs. Lowell Stokes, all of Martinsburg. Four grandchildren and four great grandchildren also survive.

FRAZIER SERVICE

A funeral service for Miss Margaret Frazier, 86, who died Monday in Allegany County Infirmary, was held yesterday in Hafer's Funeral Home.

Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, officiated and interment was in the Schellsburg (Pa.) Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Bruce Scharf, Wilford Gordon, Harrison Lemmert and Ellis Burkett.

MRS. THOMAS WILSON

KITZMILLER — Mrs. Emma Virginia Wilson, 61, wife of Thomas Wilson, died Wednesday at her farm home at Short Run near here following an illness of 18 months.

Born at Good Hope, Va., she was a daughter of the late William E. and Virginia E. (Cheuvront) Hacker and had resided in this area since 1937. Mrs. Wilson was a member of Short Run Methodist Church, Group 1 of the WSCS of Mt. Bethel Methodist Church, Kitzmiller, and Dove Temple 61, Pythian Sisters of Blaine, W. Va.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three sons, Thomas Wilson Jr., Baltimore; William H. Wilson, Point Pleasant, W. Va., and Daniel B. Wilson, Short Run; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Cosner, Oakland, and Mrs. Anna Jane Sharpless, Kitzmiller; two brothers, Floyd Hacker, Philadelphia, and Brooks Hacker, Roanoke, Va.; five sisters, Miss Claudia Hacker and Mrs. R. Glenn Floyd, both of Weston, W. Va.; Mrs. F. Dorsey Bartlett and Mrs. W. W. Dawson, both of Lost Creek, W. Va., and Mrs. R. M. McWhorter, Jane Lew, W. Va., and 12 grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Sharpless Funeral Home, Blaine, until 10 a. m. today when it will be taken to the residence. Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Mt. Bethel Church here. Rev. Allen Parrish, pastor, and Rev. W. E. Wade, pastor of Gormania Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in the IOOF Cemetery, Elk Garden, W. Va.

BEEMAN BURIAL

ECKHART — Services for Samuel Beeman, 65, who died Wednesday in Miners Hospital, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg. Rev. William E. Dewberry, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial Church, Frostburg, will officiate and interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

A native of Meyersdale, Mr. Geisbert had worked with the A&P firm for 28 years. He was born April 22, 1894, a son of the late David F. and Esabella (Miller) Geisbert, both of Maryland.

Mr. Geisbert was a member of Meyersdale Lodge 554, A.F. and A.M.; Hebrum Chapter 272, Meyersdale, and Algonquin Forest 140, Tall Cedars, Cumberland.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Nora (Fiehl) Geisbert; a daughter, Mrs. John Metzger, Cumberland; a brother, Lawrence Geisbert, Gray, Pa., and two sisters, Mrs. Lula Lowery, Cumberland, and Mrs. Clyde Christner, Meyersdale.

The body will remain at the Price Funeral Home until 1:30 p. m. Saturday when it will be taken to the Meyersdale Reformed Church for services at 2:30 p.m. Rev. Nelson Brown, former pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Union Cemetery.

DONALD R. HYMES

Donald R. Hymes, of Willowbrook Road, died yesterday evening in Sacred Heart Hospital. He was an employe of the Amcelle plant.

A native of Artemas, Pa., he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hymes. Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Nora Blanche McDonald, Mrs. Betty Moore, city; Mrs. Mary Stuckey, Corriganville.

The body is at Stein's Funeral Home.

JOHN EDWARD RICE

John Edward Rice, three and one-half month old son of Leo and Mary Jane (Beckman) Rice, died yesterday at Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown.

A service will be conducted at Rest Haven Chapel tomorrow at 1 p.m. with interment in the chapel cemetery. Surviving, besides his parents, are two sisters, Frances Jane, and Jean Margaret Rice; two brothers, Robert Eugene and David William Rice, all at home.

Also surviving are his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Beckman, LaVale.

NELSON FUNERAL

A funeral service was conducted yesterday afternoon at the South Cumberland Assembly of God Church for Mrs. Nellie Nelson, 45, wife of Arlie Nelson, who died Monday at her home, 214 Potomac Street.

Poch Will Speak At Centennial Of Lutheran Church

Chaplain Had Colorful Career In U. S. Army

Col. Martin C. Poch, staff chaplain of the Military Air Transport Service, Washington, will be guest speaker Sunday morning during a centennial celebration service at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The service, according to Rev. Gerhardt A. Wagner, will be at 10:45 a.m. with special music by the Junior and Senior Choirs under the direction of Mrs. Paul Gilford.

A native of London, Colonel Poch attended the Lutheran parochial school in that city and in Grand Rapids, Mich. He graduated from Concordia College, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., in 1926.

He was ordained into the ministry on September 4, 1926. Later, he did missionary work and conducted services in CCC camps in the Northwest. On August 31, 1935 he accepted a reserve commission as chaplain in the U. S. Army and in a competitive examination was appointed a regular chaplain in 1936.

During his military career he served at Fort Clayton in the Canal Zone, Harbor Defense of Chesapeake Bay, Fort Story, Va., and during World War II was chaplain of the Sixth Division and saw action in the Pacific. Later he was with occupation forces in Japan.

In 1950 he was assigned to the office of the Chief of Air Force Chaplains as chief of plans and training. From 1951 until his assignment to headquarters of MATS in 1953 he was staff chaplain for the U. S. Air Force in Europe.

Besides campaign ribbons with six battle stars, Colonel Poch also holds a commendation ribbon given him by Major General Franklin D. Sibert, commanding general of the Sixth Division, and the Legion of Merit presented by General Walter Krueger, commanding general of the Sixth Army.

The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod also honored him when Concordia Seminary conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Gaming Case Trial Postponed Here

Defendants are Richard Fox, Cresaptown; James Murray, 211 Fulton Street; Joseph A. Franklin, 108 Independence Street; Sylvester Walker, 328 Emily Street; George Drew, Locust Grove, and Donald Swisher, Keyser.

Police said Murray, Franklin, Walker, Drew and Swisher were engaged in a card game at premises in the rear of 10 Baltimore Street. Cards and money were confiscated.

Fox is accused of maintaining a place for gambling.

"Frostburg Night" Set At K Of C Home

Today's 'Fun Night' program at the K. of C. Home will be known as 'Frostburg Night,' according to Patrick J. Creegan, chairman in charge, who said the Frostburg Council has been invited to participate in the festivities.

The program will get underway, Creegan said, following the Allegany-LaSalle football game. Assisting with arrangements are J. Paul Nose, Joseph Martin, Thomas Simon, Lacy Cifala, James J. Condon, Thomas Carroll, Edward Mattingly, Wilbert Firlie and Eugene McGreevy.

Treat For Halloween Dinner--Beef And Spaghetti

Halloween Menu
Beef Balls and Spaghetti
Tossed Salad with
Roquefort Cheese Dressing
French Bread
Butter or Margarine
Orange Sherbet
Chocolate Drop Cookies
Beverage

When dinner time arrives on Halloween treat your family to a meat ball and spaghetti dinner. This is a combination that's easy to prepare and lends itself to an interesting menu.

For instance, French bread is a must with this team. Perhaps you'll want to serve it as garlic bread. Cut the French loaf diagonally at 1-inch intervals (but not quite through.) Add a minced clove of garlic to melted butter or margarine, then remove the garlic before brushing the bread with the melted butter.

Wrap the loaf in aluminum foil or place in a waxed bag and heat it in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes before serving. Also include in your menu a tossed green salad and for a Halloween air turn to the colors orange and brown—orange sherbet with chocolate drop cookies.

HALLOWEEN DINNER — Plump beef balls ring the platter of spaghetti. A zestful tomato sauce is served in a side dish—adding up to good eating on Halloween night. Complete your menu with French bread, a tossed garden salad and a Halloween dessert of orange sherbet and chocolate drop cookies.

Meat balls served with spaghetti is only the beginning of the dishes you can prepare with meat balls. Make they large or small and heat in a spicy barbecue sauce and serve over rice. Or brown the meat balls and add condensed mushroom soup and serve over fine egg noodles. Or cook them with chopped vegetables and serve over mashed potatoes. For still another dish, mold the meat balls around stuffed olives or gherkin sections and serve with a cheese sauce.

Meat Balls And Spaghetti

1 pound ground beef
1 onion, grated
½ cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of black or cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ cup lard or drippings
¼ cup water
8 ounces uncooked spaghetti
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups tomato juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine ground beef, grated onion, bread crumbs, egg, and seasonings; mix well. Shape into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings and save. Add ¼ cup water to meat balls, cover and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti in boiling salted water. Make a Tomato Sauce as follows: Add ¼ cup drippings to pan and stir in flour; add tomato juice, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper, and cook for 10 minutes. Combine with cooked spaghetti and cook 5 minutes longer. Serve on hot platter with meat balls. 4 to 6 servings.

Orange Delight Cake

⅔ cup shortening or margarine; ¾ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon grated orange peel; 1-½ cups sugar; 3 eggs, unbeaten; 2-½ cups sifted cake flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; ⅓ cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons lemon juice with water to make 1 cup.

Combine shortening, salt, and orange peel. Add sugar gradually and cream well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Sift flour and baking powder together 3 times. Combine orange and lemon juice and add water to make 1 cup. Add small amount of flour to creamed mixture alternately with fruit juices and water, folding with a light motion, continue until all flour and liquid are used. Pour batter into 2 deep, 9-inch greased layer pans. Bake at 375°F. for 25 to 30 minutes.

Filling

1 cup sugar; 4 tablespoons cornstarch; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 cup orange juice; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons grated orange peel; 1-½ tablespoons lemon juice.

Mix together sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Add remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Chill before using.

Frosting

Combine all ingredients except orange peel in top of double boiler. Beat 1 minute with electric mixer. Place over boiling water. Remove from heat. Add peel. Beat beating constantly, until frosting forms peaks, or about 7 minutes. 2 minutes. Spread on cake.

Serve Dinners In Style With Sauerkraut, Pork And Apples

There's no need to spend a small fortune when special guests are expected for dinner. Entertaining will be economical if you serve this tempting Savory Sauerkraut Roll. Chopped onions and apples are combined with kraut and brown sugar in the flavorful filling. A sausage meat mixture makes a crisp and savory crust. Creamed potatoes with a buttered-crumb topping are an ideal accompaniment.

Savory Sauerkraut Roll
(Makes 6 servings)

1½ pounds bulk sausage meat
½ cup bread or cracker crumbs
1 egg, well beaten
1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut
1 cup chopped onions
2 large apples, cored and chopped
1 tablespoon firmly packed brown sugar

In a bowl, combine sausage, crumbs and egg; mix thoroughly. Remove both ends of an empty No. 3 tall (large juice) can. Mold ¾ sausage mixture around inside of can. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Turn can on its side and fill center with sauerkraut mixture. Seal ends of can with remaining sausage mixture. Turn can on end in baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 1½ hours. Cool 5 minutes and remove from can; slice to serve.

Treat For Halloween Dinner--Beef And Spaghetti

Halloween Menu
Beef Balls and Spaghetti
Tossed Salad with
Roquefort Cheese Dressing
French Bread
Butter or Margarine
Orange Sherbet
Chocolate Drop Cookies
Beverage

When dinner time arrives on Halloween treat your family to a meat ball and spaghetti dinner. This is a combination that's easy to prepare and lends itself to an interesting menu.

For instance, French bread is a must with this team. Perhaps you'll want to serve it as garlic bread. Cut the French loaf diagonally at 1-inch intervals (but not quite through.) Add a minced clove of garlic to melted butter or margarine, then remove the garlic before brushing the bread with the melted butter.

Wrap the loaf in aluminum foil or place in a waxed bag and heat it in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes before serving. Also include in your menu a tossed green salad and for a Halloween air turn to the colors orange and brown—orange sherbet with chocolate drop cookies.

HALLOWEEN DINNER — Plump beef balls ring the platter of spaghetti. A zestful tomato sauce is served in a side dish—adding up to good eating on Halloween night. Complete your menu with French bread, a tossed garden salad and a Halloween dessert of orange sherbet and chocolate drop cookies.

Meat balls served with spaghetti is only the beginning of the dishes you can prepare with meat balls. Make they large or small and heat in a spicy barbecue sauce and serve over rice. Or brown the meat balls and add condensed mushroom soup and serve over fine egg noodles. Or cook them with chopped vegetables and serve over mashed potatoes. For still another dish, mold the meat balls around stuffed olives or gherkin sections and serve with a cheese sauce.

Meat Balls And Spaghetti

1 pound ground beef
1 onion, grated
½ cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of black or cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon basil
¼ cup lard or drippings
¼ cup water
8 ounces uncooked spaghetti
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups tomato juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine ground beef, grated onion, bread crumbs, egg, and seasonings; mix well. Shape into balls about 1 inch in diameter. Brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings and save. Add ¼ cup water to meat balls, cover and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti in boiling salted water. Make a Tomato Sauce as follows: Add ¼ cup drippings to pan and stir in flour; add tomato juice, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper, and cook for 10 minutes. Combine with cooked spaghetti and cook 5 minutes longer. Serve on hot platter with meat balls. 4 to 6 servings.

Orange Delight Cake

⅔ cup shortening or margarine; ¾ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon grated orange peel; 1-½ cups sugar; 3 eggs, unbeaten; 2-½ cups sifted cake flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; ½ cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons lemon juice with water to make 1 cup.

Combine shortening, salt, and orange peel. Add sugar gradually and cream well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Sift flour and baking powder together 3 times. Combine orange and lemon juice and add water to make 1 cup. Add small amount of flour to creamed mixture alternately with fruit juices and water, folding with a light motion, continue until all flour and liquid are used. Pour batter into 2 deep, 9-inch greased layer pans. Bake at 375°F. for 25 to 30 minutes.

Filling

1 cup sugar; 4 tablespoons cornstarch; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 cup orange juice; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons grated orange peel; 1-½ tablespoons lemon juice.

Mix together sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Add remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Chill before using.

Frosting

Serve Dinners In Style With Sauerkraut, Pork And Apples

There's no need to spend a small fortune when special guests are expected for dinner. Entertaining will be economical if you serve this tempting Savory Sauerkraut Roll. Chopped onions and apples are combined with kraut and brown sugar in the flavorful filling. A sausage meat mixture makes a crisp and savory crust. Creamed potatoes with a buttered-crumb topping are an ideal accompaniment.

Savory Sauerkraut Roll
(Makes 6 servings)

1½ pounds bulk sausage meat
½ cup bread or cracker crumbs
1 egg, well beaten
1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut
1 cup chopped onions
2 large apples, cored and chopped
1 tablespoon firmly packed brown sugar

In a bowl, combine sausage, crumbs and egg; mix thoroughly. Remove both ends of an empty No. 3 tall (large juice) can. Mold ¾ sausage mixture around inside of can. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Turn can on its side and fill center with sauerkraut mixture. Seal ends of can with remaining sausage mixture. Turn can on end in baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 1½ hours. Cool 5 minutes and remove from can; slice to serve.

A record-breaking 394 billion cigarets were sold in the United States during the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1953.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P L P U X J J Z P G W M K J .—T Z B F F B T K.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 egg
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2, 8-ounce cans of tomato sauce
- 4 ½-cups of hot cooked rice

1. Put 1½ cups of uncooked rice, 3 cups of cold water and 1½ teaspoons of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice hot if you are not ready to use it immediately.

METHOD: Mix together the beef, egg, salt and pepper. Shape into six flat cakes, using about 1/3 cup of mixture for each cake. Melt 1 tablespoon of fat in a skillet and brown the cakes, first on one side, then on the other. While cakes are browning, melt the remaining 2 tablespoons of fat in a saucepan. Add the onions and cook in the fat until tender. Add the Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, sugar and tomato sauce and mix well. Pour this sauce over the cakes. Cover skillet and simmer for 15 minutes.

To serve, arrange the hot rice on a platter. Place the beef cakes over the rice and pour the sauce over the beef cakes and rice.

Popcorn And Soda Pop For A Bang Up Party

Orange Torte

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1 cup broken walnuts
- Grated peel of 2 oranges

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add eggs one at a time, beat well after each addition. Sift flour, baking powder, soda, and salt together 3 times. Add to creamed mixture alternately with buttermilk. Fold in vanilla, dates, walnuts, and grated peel. Pour into 10-inch spring form pan and bake at 375 degrees F. for 1 hour. Remove cake from oven and allow to cool in the pan for 10 minutes. Pour sauce over cake. Let cake stand in pan for several hours or overnight so that sauce will penetrate evenly and flavors will blend.

Sauce

Juice and pulp of 2 oranges
1 cup sugar

Bring juice, pulp and sugar to a boil. Pour over cake 10 minutes after it comes from oven.

Waffles With Hot Cranberry Sauce

Exciting new idea, isn't it? And when you make these tender, crisp waffles, and douse them generously with this tempting, bright sauce, you'll call it exciting eating.

The mere word "waffles" brings most families hustling to the table. But when rumor says you've made this special sauce (you needn't let on that it's a cinch), they'll arrive on the gallop—ready for vast numbers. And show me a Mom who won't gladly stay by her waffle iron, keeping up with the demand—for all that pleasure and praise!

Waffles With Hot Cranberry Sauce

WAFFLES:

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1½ cups milk
- 4 tablespoons melted shortening

Mix flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat eggs and milk together. Add dry ingredients and melted shortening. Blend batter thoroughly. Pour batter on hot waffle iron. Bake until brown and crisp.

CRANBERRY SAUCE:

- 1 cup cranberries
- ½ cup hot water
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons margerine

Add hot water to cranberries. Cook until skins pop. (5 to 10 minutes). Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Stir in margerine. Serve hot on waffles.

"I'll buy both pounds! Mrs. Filbert's and any other spread"

SAYS MRS. FILBERT

Mrs. M. V. Filbert, Pres.

"Compare the smoothness! Even ICE-COLD my margarine goes on bread easier than any other spread you try. No lumps! No holes in bread with Mrs. Filbert's...or I pay!"

Mrs. M. V. Filbert

"HERE'S MY OFFER—TAKE ME UP ON IT!

"Spread delicious Mrs. Filbert's Margarine ICE-COLD on fresh bread," says Mrs. Filbert. "Then try any other ice-cold spread, margarine or not. Does the other one lump, crumble, and tear holes? Mine goes on fast and easy! Yes, if it doesn't beat the other all hollow, send both cartons and a note with your reasons, tell me what you paid, and I'll buy both pounds!"

And smoothness isn't all! Mrs. Filbert's Margarine tastes so dewy-fresh and sweet you can't tell it from the most expensive spread! It's her own recipe—plenty of sweet, fat-free milk and 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound. Buy Mrs. Filbert's today! (One smoothness offer to a family, please—and the offer ends December 31, 1953.)

Spreads smooth even ICE-COLD!

Mary McMeekin's Barbecued Beefburgers

INGREDIENTS:
1 pound ground beef
1 egg
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
2, 8-ounce cans of tomato sauce
4 ½-cups of hot cooked rice

1. Put 1½ cups of uncooked rice, 3 cups of cold water and 1½ teaspoons of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice hot if you are not ready to use it immediately.

METHOD: Mix together the beef, egg, salt and pepper. Shape into six flat cakes, using about 1/3 cup of mixture for each cake. Melt 1 tablespoon of fat in a skillet and brown the cakes, first on one side, then on the other. While cakes are browning, melt the remaining 2 tablespoons of fat in a saucepan. Add the onions and cook in the fat until tender. Add the Worcestershire sauce, vinegar, sugar and tomato sauce and mix well. Pour this sauce over the cakes. Cover skillet and simmer for 15 minutes.

To serve, arrange the hot rice on a platter. Place the beef cakes over the rice and pour the sauce over the beef cakes and rice.

We're All For One--On A Tray

Designed for a time-of-your-life party—our Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers. They are easy to cook, attractive to serve and the proof of it all is in the eeting. It's a one-tray meal in keeping with modern ranch house living. Let the man-of-the-house carry it triumphantly to porch or yard for popular outdoor eating. It will match the appetites of good neighbors assembled for impromptu get-togethers.

Menus which include foods that can be arranged on one large serving platter or tray are most suitable for transporting to a cool, breezy dining spot. The hashburgers, on toasted buns, are prepared with a minimum of time and effort. Food trays need the impact of color and here it is in the sparkling green of fresh or frozen stringless beans and the relish garnishes.

Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers

1 (#2) can corned beef hash
1/4 cup tomato catsup
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon vinegar
5 sandwich buns

Open both ends of can and push hash out, leaving it whole. Slice hash crosswise into 5 equal size rounds. Place hash slices in a greased baking dish and brown them in a hot oven (400° F.) for ten minutes, turn hash slices and brown them on other side for ten minutes. Combine catsup, mustard and vinegar and spread over top of hash slices during last ten minutes of baking. Cut buns in half and toast both cut sides. Place a slice of barbecued hash in each bun. Yield: 5 Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers.

November Cheer-ups

All in all, November is a fine month, but it can stand a bit of brightening now and then. One of the best ways to dispel the gloom of a gray day is to cook something really special — a batch of yeast rolls, a fancy dessert, a party dish even if there's no party. These are good "cooking binge" recipes, not too elaborate and well worth the little extra effort they require. The cook, incidentally, has the assurance of basking in the glow of a well-earned compliment or two.

Lemon Crisp

1/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup brown sugar
2 cups corn flakes
3/4 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

3/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water
2 eggs, well-beaten
1/2 cup lemon juice

Blend butter and brown sugar. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Add to butter mixture together with flour and salt; mix well. Press 3/4 of crumb mixture into bottom of 8 x 8-inch pan.

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together in top of double boiler. Add hot water gradually, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until thick and clear, stirring frequently. Combine eggs and lemon juice. Slowly add small amount of hit mixture, stirring constantly. Pour back into remaining hot mixture and continue cooking about 1 minute longer. Cool. When cool, pour lemon mixture into crumb-lined pan; sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes or until lightly browned. When cool, cut into squares and serve.

Save-a-Day Rolls

1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup sugar
2 cups ready-to-eat bran
2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 cakes compressed or 2 packages dry granular yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, well-beaten
6 cups sifted flour

Measure shortening, sugar, bran and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir into bran mixture together with eggs. Add half of the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour and beat well. Let rise until double in bulk; punch down. Form balls of dough to fill greased muffin pans about half full. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) about 15 minutes.

Yield: 4 dozen rolls (2 1/2 inches in diameter).

Note: After flour is added, dough may be stored in refrigerator until ready to use.

Creamed Eggs, Shrimp

1/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon grated horseradish
3 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
2 cups coarsely chopped cooked shrimp
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Melt butter; stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Place over hot water. Carefully fold in horseradish, eggs, and shrimp; heat thoroughly. Crush rice cereal into fine crumbs; mix with melted butter. Serve Creamed Eggs and Shrimp in toast cups or on toast, sprinkled with buttered crumbs.

Yield: 6 servings.

Destined For Repeat Performances

Beef pot-roasts are dishes you can come back to again and again. Among the pot-roasts in your market are arm and blade, heel of round, standing and rolled beef rumps. They're all prepared by slow braising—browning first, then adding a little liquid, covering and cooking slowly until tender. In this case, a boneless beef rump is braised with a variety of vegetables.

Rolled Beef Rump Pot-Roast with Vegetables

3 3 to 4-pound beef rump pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt
Pepper
1/4 cup water
6 medium potatoes, cut in half
6 small onions
6 medium carrots, sliced
6 stalks celery, cut in 1-inch pieces

Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Season. Add water, cover closely and simmer about 2 hours, adding more water if necessary. Add vegetables and continue cooking 45 minutes or until meat is tender and vegetables done. Serve with gravy made from cooking liquid. 6 to 8 servings.

A Menu That Kicks Goal

Menus that "kick goal" first run interference in the kitchen for Mom. Good planning and team work will find her carrying the ball with cheers from the family when they return from the game to find that dinner is ready in a jiffy. Today, mother is free to go to the game because she wisely chose foods that required only a minimum of preparation time just before serving.

Her main dish is Spaghetti with Meat Balls, using dry bread crumbs and topping all with Parmesan cheese. The dish has a perfect accompaniment—French bread spread with garlic butter. A tossed salad adds the desirable taste contrast, while a baker's apple pie wins with a new play—a Walnut Whip Topping. She wins the final score for good management by setting the table just before leaving for the game.

Garlic French Bread

1 garlic clove
1/2 cup (1/4 pound) soft butter or margarine
1 (1 lb.) loaf French bread

Cut garlic clove into 4 pieces; cream garlic pieces into butter. Let stand for thirty minutes to allow flavor to permeate butter; remove garlic. Cut French bread diagonally, almost through to bottom crust, in even slices about 1 1/2 inches apart. Spread garlic butter generously between slices. Wrap loaf in aluminum foil. Heat in a hot oven (400°F.) about twenty minutes, or until piping hot and crusty.

YIELD: 12 servings.

Walnut Whip Topping

1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts

Fold sugar and walnuts into whipped cream. Serve with bakers' apple or cherry pie.

We're All For One--On A Tray

Designed for a time-of-your-life party—our Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers. They are easy to cook, attractive to serve and the proof of it all is in the eating. It's a one-tray meal in keeping with modern ranch house living. Let the man-of-the-house carry it triumphantly to porch or yard for popular outdoor eating. It will match the appetites of good neighbors assembled for impromptu get-togethers.

Menus which include foods that can be arranged on one large serving platter or tray are most suitable for transporting to a cool, breezy dining spot. The hashburgers, on toasted buns, are prepared with a minimum of time and effort. Food trays need the impact of color and here it is in the sparkling green of fresh or frozen stringless beans and the relish garnishes.

Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers

1 (#2) can corned beef hash
1/4 cup tomato catsup
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon vinegar
5 sandwich buns

Open both ends of can and push hash out, leaving it whole. Slice hash crosswise into 5 equal size rounds. Place hash slices in a greased baking dish and brown them in a hot oven (400° F.) for ten minutes, turn hash slices and brown them on other side for ten minutes. Combine catsup, mustard and vinegar and spread over top of hash slices during last ten minutes of baking. Cut buns in half and toast both cut sides. Place a slice of barbecued hash in each bun. Yield: 5 Barbecued Corned Beef Hashburgers.

November Cheer-ups

All in all, November is a fine month, but it can stand a bit of brightening now and then. One of the best ways to dispel the gloom of a gray day is to cook something really special — a batch of yeast rolls, a fancy dessert, a party dish even if there's no party. These are good "cooking binge" recipes, not too elaborate and well worth the little extra effort they require. The cook, incidentally, has the assurance of basking in the glow of a well-earned compliment or two.

Lemon Crisp

1/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup brown sugar
2 cups corn flakes
3/4 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

3/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water
2 eggs, well-beaten
1/2 cup lemon juice

Blend butter and brown sugar. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Add to butter mixture together with flour and salt; mix well. Press 3/4 of crumb mixture into bottom of 8 x 8-inch pan.

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together in top of double boiler. Add hot water gradually, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until thick and clear, stirring frequently. Combine eggs and lemon juice. Slowly add small amount of hit mixture, stirring constantly. Pour back into remaining hot mixture and continue cooking about 1 minute longer. Cool. When cool, pour lemon mixture into crumb-lined pan; sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes or until lightly browned. When cool, cut into squares and serve.

Save-a-Day Rolls

1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup sugar
2 cups ready-to-eat bran
2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 cakes compressed or 2 packages dry granular yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, well-beaten
6 cups sifted flour

Measure shortening, sugar, bran and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water; stir into bran mixture together with eggs. Add half of the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour and beat well. Let rise until double in bulk; punch down. Form balls of dough to fill greased muffin pans about half full. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) about 15 minutes.

Yield: 4 dozen rolls (2 1/2 inches in diameter).

Note: After flour is added, dough may be stored in refrigerator until ready to use.

Creamed Eggs, Shrimp

1/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon grated horseradish
3 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
2 cups coarsely chopped cooked shrimp
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Melt butter; stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Place over hot water. Carefully fold in horseradish, eggs, and shrimp; heat thoroughly. Crush rice cereal into fine crumbs; mix with melted butter. Serve Creamed Eggs and Shrimp in toast cups or on toast, sprinkled with buttered crumbs.

Yield: 6 servings.

Destined For Repeat Performances

Beef pot-roasts are dishes you can come back to again and again. Among the pot-roasts in your market are arm and blade, heel of round, standing and rolled beef rumps. They're all prepared by slow braising—browning first, then adding a little liquid, covering and cooking slowly until tender. In this case, a boneless beef rump is braised with a variety of vegetables.

Rolled Beef Rump Pot-Roast with Vegetables

3 3 to 4-pound beef rump pot-roast
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt
Pepper
1/4 cup water
6 medium potatoes, cut in half
6 small onions
6 medium carrots, sliced
6 stalks celery, cut in 1-inch pieces

Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Season. Add water, cover closely and simmer about 2 hours, adding more water if necessary. Add vegetables and continue cooking 45 minutes or until meat is tender and vegetables done. Serve with gravy made from cooking liquid. 6 to 8 servings.

A Menu That Kicks Goal

Menus that "kick goal" first run interference in the kitchen for Mom. Good planning and team work will find her carrying the ball with cheers from the family when they return from the game to find that dinner is ready in a jiffy. Today, mother is free to go to the game because she wisely chose foods that required only a minimum of preparation time just before serving.

Her main dish is Spaghetti with Meat Balls, using dry bread crumbs and topping all with Parmesan cheese. The dish has a perfect accompaniment—French bread spread with garlic butter. A tossed salad adds the desirable taste contrast, while a baker's apple pie wins with a new play—a Walnut Whip Topping. She wins the final score for good management by setting the table just before leaving for the game.

Garlic French Bread

1 garlic clove
1/2 cup (1/4 pound) soft butter or margarine
1 (1 lb.) loaf French bread

Cut garlic clove into 4 pieces; cream garlic pieces into butter. Let stand for thirty minutes to allow flavor to permeate butter; remove garlic. Cut French bread diagonally, almost through to bottom crust, in even slices about 1 1/2 inches apart. Spread garlic butter generously between slices. Wrap loaf in aluminum foil. Heat in a hot oven (400°F.) about twenty minutes, or until piping hot and crusty.

YIELD: 12 servings.

Walnut Whip Topping

1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts

Fold sugar and walnuts into whipped cream. Serve with bakers' apple or cherry pie.

YIELD: 2/3 cup Walnut Whip Topping.

Familiar Scene at HALLOWEEN

Two Grand Old Favorites Combine In One Dessert

Baked Apples And Rice Make Fare That's Nice

Forget the fancy desserts now that it's National Apple Week, and revel in the plain but wonderful sweets of yesteryear. Who can forget the plump and glistening baked apples that were a regular feature of the old-fashioned kitchen? Who doesn't remember the rice pudding that was baked in a slow oven and had indescribably delicious flavor? There's a new recipe that combines the best features of both those old-fashioned treats to make one grand and glorious dessert. It's Cinnamon Apples baked with Rice and served with Custard sauce.

Know your apples for this grand dessert. It's the cooking apples you need, apples like Rome Beauty or Rhode Island Greenings, or your local varieties for baking. And do you know the latest way to cook rice for a really light and fluffy product? The experts advise that to make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, you put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2 quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is then ready to use.

Baked Rice And Cinnamon Apples

1 teaspoon cornstarch
¾ cup water
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
4 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon red cinnamon candies
6 medium-baking apples
3 cups cooked rice
½ cup milk

Mix together sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Stir in water, lemon rind, lemon juice and cinnamon candies. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and candies are melted. Core apples; pare ⅓ of the way down from stem end. Turn rice and milk into a greased shallow baking dish; place apples on top. Spoon small amount hot syrup over each apple. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven, (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes, basting frequently with remaining syrup. Serve with "Custard Sauce. Yield: 6 servings:

Custard Sauce

2 cups milk
2 eggs,
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat eggs slightly; stir in sugar and salt. Slowly stir in scalded milk; return to double boiler. Cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from heat at once; cool. Add vanilla.

Bake a batch of Blonde Brownies to send to that girl or boy away at school. Send enough so there will be plenty to pass around to dormmates. Sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, and ½ teaspoon salt. Melt ¼ cup shortening. Cool and add 1½ cups brown sugar and 2 eggs, beaten. Mix well. Add flour mixture gradually, mixing until smooth. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 cup chopped nuts and ½ cup chocolate bits (3 ounces). Spread in greased pan, 7 x 11 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into bars. Makes 21 bars, about 1½ x 2 inches. When bars have cooled, wrap them individually in waxed paper or aluminum foil to keep them fresh while traveling.

"I think I liked them better the way they were."

Fancy For Beef Flank

Here's the perfect dish to give new life to monotonous meals — Flank Steak Savoy. The steak is first scored to shorten connective tissue, and thus take less cooking time to make it tender. It is then cooked slowly with an interesting combination of vegetables. With this dish your meal is complete with only the addition of a molded gelatin salad, hard rolls and a dessert of fresh fruit and cookies.

Flank Steak Savoy

1 beef flank steak
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup catchup
1 cup thinly sliced sweet pickles
1 cup thinly sliced onions
1½ cups water
6 medium carrots
6 medium potatoes
1½ cups celery, cut in 1-inch pieces

Score steak, pounding flour into both sides with knife. Brown in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper, pour catchup over top and cover with pickles and onions. Pour ¾ cup of water around steak. Cover and cook in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 1 hour. Add carrots, potatoes, celery and remaining water. Continue cooking 1 hour longer or until tender. Serve with gravy in pan, thickened if desired. 6 servings.

There are about 200 major varieties of rice produced in different parts of Japan and an additional 800 varieties which are of minor importance in local areas. Practically all of these varieties are the short grain type of rice. The Japanese stick to the short grain type of rice because of the higher yield obtained in the relative short growing season required, which permits the production of rice in areas with a climate similar to that of the states bordering the Great Lakes.

Sweet Potato Price Low, Supply Plentiful

That information comes from marketing specialist Charles Porter, University of Maryland.

Not only that, the sweet potato is a prize package of food value—rich in vitamin A with a fair quantity of vitamin C and small amounts of vitamin B and minerals. In energy value, the sweet potato surpasses the white potato. A medium sized sweet potato gives you about 150 calories to the white potato's 100. You get the most food value from sweet potatoes by cooking them in their jackets and peeling them afterwards.

Porter says the most popular commercial sweet potatoes in the state, Maryland Goldens and Porto Ricos, are now at their peak. Maryland Goldens, dry and mealy, are rather light in color, while Porto Ricos have a deep yellow or orange color and are moist.

You can tell the quality of a sweet potato by its outside appearance. Good quality potatoes are well-shaped, firm and bright. Badly misshapened potatoes and those with growth cracks or wire worm injury aren't desirable because of their wastefulness.

Sometimes you'll see small dark clay-colored spots on sweet potatoes which may unite and form dark blotches. These blotches are only skin deep and effect the appearance, not the flesh. Avoid buying a mixture of varieties because of differences in color, flavor and lack of uniformity in cooking.

Be careful how you store sweet potatoes, warns Porter. Although they are thought of as a non-perishable crop, sweet potatoes are very sensitive to temperature and moisture. According to the specialist, for home storage, sweet potatoes keep best at room temperature. Storage at a temperature below 50° for a prolonged length of time will bring about decay.

Commercial sweet potatoes are cured immediately after digging for 10 to 14 days at 80-85° in high humidity. Because of that, they aren't good keepers in home kitchens, and it's best to buy them in small lots and use promptly.

Are You A Smart Lunch Packer?

Did you ever stop to think of the effect your child's lunch can have on his school work?

Nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says few people realize that inadequate lunches may seriously effect the child's health and will eventually result in poor school work.

The lunch box meal is just as important as any of the other two meals of the day. A little planning and following a few simple rules can keep lunches from becoming a humdrum chore—not only for the one who packs the lunch, but for the one carrying the box.

Use variety in sandwiches — different fillings, kinds of bread and ways of cutting.

Spread sandwiches with softened butter or mayonnaise, or a blend with mayonnaise, chili sauce, relish or bottled spreads to keep sandwiches moist.

Add something crisp to the lunch —carrot or pepper strips, a whole tomato, or stuffed celery.

Lemon Meringue Pie

1½ cups sugar
7 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated lemon peel
Mix together sugar, cornstarch and water and boil 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, stir in egg yolks, return and cook over low heat for 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add butter, lemon juice and grated peel. Stir only until well blended. Pour into 9-inch baked pie shell. Top with meringue.

Meringue

3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff. Add sugar gradually, add vanilla last and beat until meringue is glossy and stands in firm peaks. Spread on pie and bake at 400 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an overall cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naphtha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner known as Fina Foam may be purchased at ROSENBAUM'S.

Two Grand Old Favorites Combine In One Dessert

Baked Apples And Rice Make Fare That's Nice

Forget the fancy desserts now that it's National Apple Week, and revel in the plain but wonderful sweets of yesteryear. Who can forget the plump and glistening baked apples that were a regular feature of the old-fashioned kitchen? Who doesn't remember the rice pudding that was baked in a slow oven and had indescribably delicious flavor? There's a new recipe that combines the best features of both those old-fashioned treats to make one grand and glorious dessert. It's Cinnamon Apples baked with Rice and served with Custard sauce.

Know your apples for this grand dessert. It's the cooking apples you need, apples like Rome Beauty or Rhode Island Greenings, or your local varieties for baking. And do you know the latest way to cook rice for a really light and fluffy product? The experts advise that to make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, you put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2 quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is then ready to use.

Baked Rice And Cinnamon Apples

½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
¾ cup water
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
4 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon red cinnamon candies
6 medium baking apples
3 cups cooked rice
½ cup milk

Mix together sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Stir in water, lemon rind, lemon juice and cinnamon candies. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and candies are melted. Core apples; pare ⅓ of the way down from stem end. Turn rice and milk into a greased shallow baking dish; place apples on top. Spoon small amount hot syrup over each apple. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven, (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes, basting frequently with remaining syrup. Serve with *Custard Sauce. Yield: 6 servings:

Custard Sauce

2 cups milk
2 eggs,
¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat eggs slightly; stir in sugar and salt. Slowly stir in scalded milk; return to double boiler. Cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from heat at once; cool. Add vanilla.

Bake a batch of Blonde Brownies to send to that girl or boy away at school. Send enough so there will be plenty to pass around to dormmates. Sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, and ½ teaspoon salt. Melt ¼ cup shortening. Cool and add 1½ cups brown sugar and 2 eggs, beaten. Mix well. Add flour mixture gradually, mixing until smooth. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 cup chopped nuts and ½ cup chocolate bits (3 ounces). Spread in greased pan, 7 x 11 inches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into bars. Makes 21 bars, about 1¼ x 2 inches. When bars have cooled, wrap them individually in waxed paper or aluminum foil to keep them fresh while traveling.

"I think I liked them better the way they were."

Fancy For Beef Flank

Here's the perfect dish to give new life to monotonous meals — Flank Steak Savoy. The steak is first scored to shorten connective tissue, and thus take less cooking time to make it tender. It is then cooked slowly with an interesting combination of vegetables. With this dish your meal is complete with only the addition of a molded gelatin salad, hard rolls and a dessert of fresh fruit and cookies.

Flank Steak Savoy

1 beef flank steak
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup catchup
1 cup thinly sliced sweet pickles
1 cup thinly sliced onions
1½ cups water
6 medium carrots
6 medium potatoes
1½ cups celery, cut in 1-inch pieces

Score steak, pounding flour into both sides with knife. Brown in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper, pour catchup over top and cover with pickles and onions. Pour ¾ cup of water around steak. Cover and cook in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 1 hour. Add carrots, potatoes, celery and remaining water. Continue cooking 1 hour longer or until tender. Serve with gravy in pan, thickened if desired. 6 servings.

There are about 200 major varieties of rice produced in different parts of Japan and an additional 800 varieties which are of minor importance in local areas. Practically all of these varieties are the short grain type of rice. The Japanese stick to the short grain type of rice because of the higher yield obtained in the relative short growing season required, which permits the production of rice in areas with a climate similar to that of the states bordering the Great Lakes.

Sweet Potato Price Low, Supply Plentiful

That information comes from marketing specialist Charles Porter, University of Maryland.

Not only that, the sweet potato is a prize package of food value—rich in vitamin A with a fair quantity of vitamin C and small amounts of vitamin B and minerals. In energy value, the sweet potato surpasses the white potato. A medium sized sweet potato gives you about 150 calories to the white potato's 100. You get the most food value from sweet potatoes by cooking them in their jackets and peeling them afterwards.

Porter says the most popular commercial sweet potatoes in the state, Maryland Goldens and Porto Ricos, are now at their peak. Maryland Goldens, dry and mealy, are rather light in color, while Porto Ricos have a deep yellow or orange color and are moist.

You can tell the quality of a sweet potato by its outside appearance. Good quality potatoes are well-shaped, firm and bright. Badly misshapened potatoes and those with growth cracks or wire worm injury aren't desirable because of their wastefulness.

Sometimes you'll see small dark clay-colored spots on sweet potatoes which may unite and form dark blotches. These blotches are only skin deep and effect the appearance, not the flesh. Avoid buying a mixture of varieties because of differences in color, flavor and lack of uniformity in cooking.

Be careful how you store sweet potatoes, warns Porter. Although they are thought of as a non-perishable crop, sweet potatoes are very sensitive to temperature and moisture. According to the specialist, for home storage, sweet potatoes keep best at room temperature. Storage at a temperature below 50° for a prolonged length of time will bring about decay.

Commercial sweet potatoes are cured immediately after digging for 10 to 14 days at 80-85° in high humidity. Because of that, they aren't good keepers in home kitchens, and it's best to buy them in small lots and use promptly.

Are You A Smart Lunch Packer?

Did you ever stop to think of the effect your child's lunch can have on his school work?

Nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, says few people realize that inadequate lunches may seriously affect the child's health and will eventually result in poor school work.

The lunch box meal is just as important as any of the other two meals of the day. A little planning and following a few simple rules can keep lunches from becoming a humdrum chore—not only for the one who packs the lunch, but for the one carrying the box.

Miss Coblentz says if you are a smart lunch packer you will do the following:

Have a special place for storing all supplies for packing lunches.

Use variety in sandwiches — different fillings, kinds of bread and ways of cutting.

Spread sandwiches with softened butter or mayonnaise, or a blend with mayonnaise, chili sauce, relish or bottled spreads to keep sandwiches moist.

Add something crisp to the lunch —carrot or pepper strips, a whole tomato, or stuffed celery.

Put something hot in the thermos bottle, such as soup or cocoa, for crisp cool days.

Use fruit or maybe a cookie to finish off the meal.

Always include milk. Flavor it with molasses, chocolate or fruit.

Lemon Meringue Pie

1½ cups sugar
7 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons grated lemon peel

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and water and boil 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, stir in egg yolks, return and cook over low heat for 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add butter, lemon juice and grated peel. Stir only until well blended. Pour into 9-inch baked pie shell. Top with meringue.

*Meringue

3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff. Add sugar gradually, add vanilla last and beat until meringue is glossy and stands in firm peaks. Spread on pie and bake at 400 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes.

CARE OF WALL TO WALL CARPETING

To maintain the new appearance of carpeting, experience proves that spots should be removed as they appear rather than doing an over-all cleaning job once or twice each year.

There is available a foam cleaner that does not leave rings when removing spots since it contains no naphtha or solvents. The use of this foam when spots appear, preserves the new appearance and life of carpeting. This cleaner known as Fina Foam may be purchased at ROSENBAUM'S.

Dinner Plan For The Novice Hostess

For the novice in the kitchen a company meal can be a big test. Does the dinner run smoothly? Are hot foods served hot, cold foods served cold? Does the hostess enjoy her guests rather than being tied to the kitchen from the moment she greets them at the door until dinner is on the table?

The clue to easy, gracious serving is planning. And for the inexperienced hostess it is, also, choosing a menu which requires a limited amount of last minute preparation. Last minute work can be the novice cook's downfall.

When having guests, take time out in advance and think your menu through from start to finish—from your grocery list on down to the platter and garnishes for your meat.

For example, here is a truly occasion menu that might seem complicated at first, but with thought and planning it can be mastered by the most inexperienced cook. And it's a menu to serve with pride.

Tomato Juice Cocktail
with Assorted Crackers
Rolled Rib Roast of Beef
Gravy
Oven-Brown Potatoes
Frenched Green Beans
with Toasted Almond Slivers
Fruit Salad
Hard Rolls
Butter or Margarine
Ice Cream Sundae
Cookies
Beverage

Starting at the beginning of this menu you have tomato juice. Chill it in advance, then serve in the living room. Pass a tray of assorted crisp crackers.

Roasting Beef

Roasting is perhaps the easiest of all meat cookery methods. For the finest results with the rolled rib (it is boneless, thus easy to carve) roast it on a rack in an open roasting pan. If your roasting pan is not fitted with a rack, a cake rack will keep the meat up out of its drippings.

A roast meat thermometer will be a constant aid when preparing any roast. Insert it into the center of the rolled roast, making sure it is not in fat. Place the roast in a preheated 300° F. oven and let it cook at this constant temperature until done.

Your roast meat thermometer will show when it has reached the degree of doneness you desire. However, you can estimate cooking time by allowing 32 minutes per pound for rare done beef; 39 for medium; 48 for well-done beef. Here's an important tip—let the roast "set" in a warm place for 15 to 20 minutes after it comes from the oven and before serving. This will make carving easier. Simply garnish with the oven-browned potatoes and sprigs of parsley.

To prepare the browned potatoes, pare and parboil them until nearly tender, then drain and place them in the roasting pan with the meat and allow them to brown.

Gravy Making

Gravy is a problem of many experienced cooks. Here are a couple of suggestions that will start you off on the right road. Measure the drippings in the roasting pan, then pour back in 2 tablespoons for each cup of gravy desired. To the drippings add an equal number of tablespoons of flour. Thoroughly combine, then add cold water (1 cup for each 2 tablespoons of fat and flour) and stir constantly until gravy is thickened and flour cooked — 2 to 3 minutes boiling time.

Frozen frenched green beans take about 18 to 20 minutes total cooking time. Have the slivered almonds ready to saute in butter or margarine for a few minutes, then pour over the green beans in the serving dish. The gelatine fruit salad will be made in advance, ready to place on lettuce cups. With hard rolls the task of heating is eliminated. Ice cream topped with chocolate sauce or fruit makes an easy dessert. This may be served with dainty cookies and coffee.

Crown Your Breakfast Bowl With Peaches

LET'S crown the peach as August Queen. This favorite fruit does reign over all in quantity during the late summer season.

Let's crown the cereal bowl, too, with a wreath of the fruit slices. Topped with chilled milk your breakfast main dish is easy to look at and ever so easy to eat.

Wide Variety

Crisp cereal plus fresh fruit of any kind add up to refreshing summertime eating. The choice of fruit is wide now; try pitted fresh plums, some fresh pear slices, cantaloupe sections, or some fresh bright cherries atop your cereal bowl.

The choice of cereals is even more varied, no matter what the season. Over two dozen varieties of cereal, both hot and ready-to-eat, wait on the grocer's shelves for your selection.

This wide variety of ingredients at hand shows just how changeable your breakfasts can be. There is such a selection that a breakfast menu need not be repeated for a long period of time.

Follow Pattern

A convenient pattern to use in planning the morning menu is one widely recommended for everyone's use. The outline for breakfast meal planning features the main dish of cereal and milk, then adds fruit, bread and butter for extra nourishment, helping the meal measure up to the requirement of ¼ to ⅓ of the day's total food needs. Assure yourself of enjoyable summer mornings by following menus similar to the one suggested today: fresh peach slices on presweetened corn flakes, milk, corn muffins, and butter. With daily breakfasts such as this one, you'll rule with ease over hot summer mornings.

You can serve fresh home-baked rolls often with a minimum of effort when you keep refrigerator roll dough on hand. You mix the dough when it's most convenient for you, then store it in the refrigerator. When you want fresh rolls for dinner, you just shape as many rolls as you want, and return the remainder to the refrigerator.

Dinner Plan For The Novice Hostess

For the novice in the kitchen a company meal can be a big test. Does the dinner run smoothly? Are hot foods served hot, cold foods served cold? Does the hostess enjoy her guests rather than being tied to the kitchen from the moment she greets them at the door until dinner is on the table?

The clue to easy, gracious serving is planning. And for the inexperienced hostess it is, also, choosing a menu which requires a limited amount of last minute preparation. Last minute work can be the novice cook's downfall.

When having guests, take time out in advance and think your menu through from start to finish—from your grocery list on down to the platter and garnishes for your meat.

For example, here is a truly occasion menu that might seem complicated at first, but with thought and planning it can be mastered by the most inexperienced cook. And it's a menu to serve with pride.

Tomato Juice Cocktail
with Assorted Crackers
Rolled Rib Roast of Beef
Gravy
Oven-Brown Potatoes
Frenched Green Beans
with Toasted Almond Slivers
Fruit Salad
Hard Rolls
Butter or Margarine
Ice Cream Sundae
Cookies
Beverage

Starting at the beginning of this menu you have tomato juice. Chill it in advance, then serve in the living room. Pass a tray of assorted crisp crackers.

Roasting Beef

Roasting is perhaps the easiest of all meat cookery methods. For the finest results with the rolled rib (it is boneless, thus easy to carve) roast it on a rack in an open roasting pan. If your roasting pan is not fitted with a rack, a cake rack will keep the meat up out of its drippings.

A roast meat thermometer will be a constant aid when preparing any roast. Insert it into the center of the rolled roast, making sure it is not in fat. Place the roast in a preheated 300° F. oven and let it cook at this constant temperature until done.

Your roast meat thermometer will show when it has reached the degree of doneness you desire. However, you can estimate cooking time by allowing 32 minutes per pound for rare done beef; 39 for medium; 48 for well-done beef. Here's an important tip—let the roast "set" in a warm place for 15 to 20 minutes after it comes from the oven and before serving. This will make carving easier. Simply garnish with the oven-browned potatoes and sprigs of parsley.

To prepare the browned potatoes, pare and parboil them until nearly tender, then drain and place them in the roasting pan with the meat and allow them to brown.

Gravy Making

Gravy is a problem of many experienced cooks. Here are a couple of suggestions that will start you off on the right road. Measure the drippings in the roasting pan, then pour back in 2 tablespoons for each cup of gravy desired. To the drippings add an equal number of tablespoons of flour. Thoroughly combine, then add cold water (1 cup for each 2 tablespoons of fat and flour) and stir constantly until gravy is thickened and flour cooked — 2 to 3 minutes boiling time.

Frozen frenched green beans take about 18 to 20 minutes total cooking time. Have the slivered almonds ready to saute in butter or margarine for a few minutes, then pour over the green beans in the serving dish. The gelatine fruit salad will be made in advance, ready to place on lettuce cups. With hard rolls the task of heating is eliminated. Ice cream topped with chocolate sauce or fruit makes an easy dessert. This may be served with dainty cookies and coffee.

Crown Your Breakfast Bowl With Peaches

LET'S crown the peach as August Queen. This favorite fruit does reign over all in quantity during the late summer season.

Let's crown the cereal bowl, too, with a wreath of the fruit slices. Topped with chilled milk your breakfast main dish is easy to look at and ever so easy to eat.

Wide Variety

Crisp cereal plus fresh fruit of any kind add up to refreshing summertime eating. The choice of fruit is wide now; try pitted fresh plums, some fresh pear slices, cantaloupe sections, or some fresh bright cherries atop your cereal bowl.

The choice of cereals is even more varied, no matter what the season. Over two dozen varieties of cereal, both hot and ready-to-eat, wait on the grocer's shelves for your selection.

This wide variety of ingredients at hand shows just how changeable your breakfasts can be. There is such a selection that a breakfast menu need not be repeated for a long period of time.

Follow Pattern

A convenient pattern to use in planning the morning menu is one widely recommended for everyone's use. The outline for breakfast meal planning features the main dish of cereal and milk, then adds fruit, bread and butter for extra nourishment, helping the meal measure up to the requirement of ¼ to ⅓ of the day's total food needs. Assure yourself of enjoyable summer mornings by following menus similar to the one suggested today: fresh peach slices on presweetened corn flakes, milk, corn muffins, and butter. With daily breakfasts such as this one, you'll rule with ease over hot summer mornings.

You can serve fresh home-baked rolls often with a minimum of effort when you keep refrigerator roll dough on hand. You mix the dough when it's most convenient for you, then store it in the refrigerator. When you want fresh rolls for dinner, you just shape as many rolls as you want, and return the remainder to the refrigerator.

Herbs For The Home Garden

Sage is a hardy perennial, found on a limited scale in many of the older home gardens in Maryland. The aromatic leaves are the part of the plant used, principally in flavoring sausage and other meat and poultry products, for dressings and to impart attractive flavor to certain types of cheese.

Propagation may be from seeds, cuttings from old or new growth of parent plants, or by division of older plants. Seed may be sown in a coldframe or in the open ground as soon as outside weather will permit. Plants should be set in a permanent place when 2 to 3 inches high.

Three or four plants will be enough for the average family. They will last almost indefinitely. One crop of leaves may be harvested the first year and in later years several harvestings may be made. Leaves may be picked by hand or the terminal 3 or 4 inches of the young tender stems may be clipped and the leaves stripped. Dry the leaves in the shade or wire mesh trays or cheese-cloth sheets, in airy location, to retain as much of the original color and flavor as possible. Store in air-tight containers when dry.

Caraway is usually considered as a biennial. Seed is sown in the spring, and the plants are carried over winter, they producing seed the second year about the middle of June. The flowers are small and white resembling the flower clusters of wild carrot. The seeds, which are really small fruits, contain from 5 to 7 per cent of an aromatic, volatile oil. They are used to flavor bread, cake, cookies, cheeses and baked fruits. The leaves are sometimes used as garnishes and in salads.

The plants are started from seed, usually sown in open ground and should be given clean cultivation. As soon as the oldest fruits ("seeds") ripen, cut off the seed clusters before the ripening seeds begin to shatter and spread on cheese cloth in a shady place. When reasonably dry the seeds are beaten or rubbed out of the heads and by light fanning are separated from the chaff. Store in light, porous, cloth sacks in a cool dry location.

Coriander is an annual. The plants are easily grown from seed which may be sown in late April. Mature plants will grow 2 to 3 feet tall and should stand about 1½ feet apart in the row. Keep down weeds.

This is a quick growing plant and does well on relatively poor soil. The small white flowers appearing about 10 weeks after seeding are grown in clusters characteristic of the carrot family and the ripened fruits, commonly called seeds, are gathered and handled very much as caraway. These are used whole in mixed pickles and in batters for cookies, biscuits, pastries, and confections. When ground they are used in sausage making and to rub on fresh pork.

As the "seeds" ripen the color of the stem changes from green to light yellow. This indicates the seeds are beginning to harden and their color changes from green to gray, accompanied by the asquisition of a pleasant aromatic odor and sweet taste.

Water-Cress is a perennial and while a native of Europe has been naturalized in many parts of the United States along ditches and streams. It is used as an ingredient in salads. It roots at the joints and may be easily propagated from cuttings or may be grown from seed. While commonly grown along spring fed streams or ditches, it is possible to grow it in cool moist soil in gardens provided the soil moisture is kept up. It will last almost indefinitely along clean streams where the water is pure.

Most of the herb plants are just as easy to grow as are our well known vegetables. A few require special conditions, as in the case of water-cress. Thorough preparation of the seed bed is very desirable. Keep out weeds by clean cultivation. If slow growing side dress with 5-10-5 fertilizer and work it in.

Antarctic waters now supply about two-thirds of the world's whale catch.

Cever Steak Rolls

Have fun introducing new dishes to your family. Such a dish as Steak Wraparounds is sure to cause favorable comment for rolled up inside the steak is bacon and dill pickle. The rolls are cooked in a catchup sauce.

Steak Wraparounds

- 1½ pounds beef round steak, cut ½ inch thick
- 6 slices bacon
- 3 dill pickles
- Salt and pepper
- Flour
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ¼ cup catchup
- ½ cup water
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cut into 6 rectangular pieces. Lay slice of bacon on each piece, then half a dill pickle. Roll and fasten with wooden picks. Roll in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Make a sauce by combining catchup, water and Worcestershire sauce and pour over meat. Cover and cook slowly for about 1 hour. Thicken liquid for gravy, if desired. 6 servings.

Thrifty Beef Dinner

Kind to your budget — that's short ribs. You'll find short ribs (cut from ends of ribs and made up of layers of lean and fat) one of the best buys in your market today. Prepare them by braising, the same as round steak or a pot-roast.

Short Ribs With Vegetables

- 2 pounds beef short ribs
- ¼ cup flour
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup diced onion
- 1 cup diced carrots
- 1 cup diced potatoes
- 6 stalks celery, cut in 1-inch pieces

Dredge short ribs with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Season. Add water; cover and simmer 1 hour, or until meat is nearly tender. Add vegetables and cook until tender. Place meat on hot platter. Remove excess fat from the liquid and vegetables. Make a flour paste and thicken liquid for gravy. 6 servings.

Herbs For The Home Garden

Sage is a hardy perennial, found on a limited scale in many of the older home gardens in Maryland. The aromatic leaves are the part of the plant used, principally in flavoring sausage and other meat and poultry products, for dressings and to impart attractive flavor to certain types of cheese.

Propagation may be from seeds, cuttings from old or new growth of parent plants, or by division of older plants. Seed may be sown in a coldframe or in the open ground as soon as outside weather will permit. Plants should be set in a permanent place when 2 to 3 inches high.

Three or four plants will be enough for the average family. They will last almost indefinitely. One crop of leaves may be harvested the first year and in later years several harvestings may be made. Leaves may be picked by hand or the terminal 3 or 4 inches of the young tender stems may be clipped and the leaves stripped. Dry the leaves in the shade or wire mesh trays or cheese-cloth sheets, in airy location, to retain as much of the original color and flavor as possible. Store in air-tight containers when dry.

Caraway is usually considered as a biennial. Seed is sown in the spring, and the plants are carried over winter, they producing seed the second year about the middle of June. The flowers are small and white resembling the flower clusters of wild carrot. The seeds, which are really small fruits, contain from 5 to 7 per cent of an aromatic, volatile oil. They are used to flavor bread, cake, cookies, cheeses and baked fruits. The leaves are sometimes used as garnishes and in salads.

The plants are started from seed, usually sown in open ground and should be given clean cultivation. As soon as the oldest fruits ("seeds") ripen, cut off the seed clusters before the ripening seeds begin to shatter and spread on cheese cloth in a shady place. When reasonably dry the seeds are beaten or rubbed out of the heads and by light fanning are separated from the chaff. Store in light, porous, cloth sacks in a cool dry location.

Coriander is an annual. The plants are easily grown from seed which may be sown in late April. Mature plants will grow 2 to 3 feet tall and should stand about 1½ feet apart in the row. Keep down weeds.

This is a quick growing plant and does well on relatively poor soil. The small white flowers appearing about 10 weeks after seeding are grown in clusters characteristic of the carrot family and the ripened fruits, commonly called seeds, are gathered and handled very much as caraway. These are used whole in mixed pickles and in batters for cookies, biscuits, pastries, and confections. When ground they are used in sausage making and to rub on fresh pork.

As the "seeds" ripen the color of the stem changes from green to light yellow. This indicates the seeds are beginning to harden and their color changes from green to gray, accompanied by the asquisition of a pleasant aromatic odor and sweet taste.

Water-Cress is a perennial and while a native of Europe has been naturalized in many parts of the United States along ditches and streams. It is used as an ingredient in salads. It roots at the joints and may be easily propagated from cuttings or may be grown from seed. While commonly grown along spring fed streams or ditches, it is possible to grow it in cool moist soil in gardens provided the soil moisture is kept up. It will last almost indefinitely along clean streams where the water is pure.

Most of the herb plants are just as easy to grow as are our well known vegetables. A few require special conditions, as in the case of water-cress. Thorough preparation of the seed bed is very desirable. Keep out weeds by clean cultivation. If slow growing side dress with 5-10-5 fertilizer and work it in.

Antarctic waters now supply about two-thirds of the world's whale catch.

Cever Steak Rolls

Have fun introducing new dishes to your family. Such a dish as Steak Wraparounds is sure to cause favorable comment for rolled up inside the steak is bacon and dill pickle. The rolls are cooked in a catchup sauce.

Steak Wraparounds

- 1½ pounds beef round steak, cut ½ inch thick
- 6 slices bacon
- 3 dill pickles
- Salt and pepper
- Flour
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ¼ cup catchup
- ½ cup water
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cut into 6 rectangular pieces. Lay slice of bacon on each piece, then half a dill pickle. Roll and fasten with wooden picks. Roll in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Make a sauce by combining catchup, water and Worcestershire sauce and pour over meat. Cover and cook slowly for about 1 hour. Thicken liquid for gravy, if desired. 6 servings.

Thrifty Beef Dinner

Kind to your budget — that's short ribs. You'll find short ribs (cut from ends of ribs and made up of layers of lean and fat) one of the best buys in your market today. Prepare them by braising, the same as round steak or a pot-roast.

Short Ribs With Vegetables

- 2 pounds beef short ribs
- ¼ cup flour
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup diced onion
- 1 cup diced carrots
- 1 cup diced potatoes
- 6 stalks celery, cut in 1-inch pieces

Dredge short ribs with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Season. Add water; cover and simmer 1 hour, or until meat is nearly tender. Add vegetables and cook until tender. Place meat on hot platter. Remove excess fat from the liquid and vegetables. Make a flour paste and thicken liquid for gravy. 6 servings.

Macaroni And Lunch Meat Tasty Team In Casserole

A bubbling, piping hot macaroni casserole is a welcome addition to any dinner table. Luncheon-meat strips make this Chevron Macaroni Casserole substantial enough to satisfy the most robust appetites.

These days macaroni casseroles are no longer Friday fare or an easy out when time and budget are limited. Served with imagination and flair, baked macaroni dishes take on party manners and will please your entire family. They're a budget aid, too, because they're an economical source of protein as well as excellent extenders of other protein-rich foods, such as meat, fish, milk, cheese and eggs. Make your fall menus a real success and serve praise-winning macaroni casseroles often.

Chevron Macaroni Casserole
(Makes 4-6 servings)

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounce elbow macaroni (2 cups)
1 10½ ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk
1 cup grated processed Cheddar cheese (about ¼ pound)
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Freshly ground pepper
1 12-ounce can luncheon meat, cut in ¼-inch strips

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a saucepan, combine soup, milk, cheese, Worcestershire sauce, and pepper; place over low heat and cook, stirring occasionally, until cheese is melted. Add cooked macaroni and luncheon meat, reserving 6 strips meat for garnish. Turn into a greased 1½-quart casserole and place meat strips on top of casserole to form chevrons. Place under broiler about 3 inches from heat for 10 minutes, or until lightly browned and sauce is bubbly.

Glamour touch for dinner rolls: Make Butterfly Rolls. Roll out dough into rectangular sheet ¼ inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with Cinnamon Sugar. Roll up like jelly roll. Cut into pieces 2 inches long. Press across center of each piece with knife handle or small rolling pin. Place on greased baking sheet. Let rise until doubled. Bake.

How much thought do you give to the bread you buy? Do you always make sure that white bread carries the label, "enriched?" If you do, you're making the best buy for your money. That little label tells you that added food iron and three essential B-vitamins are present. The required amounts of these nutrients have been set by the Federal government.

No Longer In A Stew

Beef cubes meant only for a stew? No longer is this their sole spot in menus. Today you'll find an appealing dinner dish when you brown these chunky beef cubes, then cook them in a little liquid with sliced mushrooms.

Braised Beef Cubes With Mushrooms

1½ pounds beef, cut in 1-inch pieces
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 to 4 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ cup water
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
Flour

Dredge the meat with seasoned flour. Brown slowly in lard or drippings. Add water, cover and cook slowly for 1 hour. Add sliced mushrooms, cover and continue cooking until meat is tender and mushrooms are done, about 30 minutes. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy. 6 servings.

Slow Cooking Is Rule

Slow cooking — that's the rule to follow from the start of browning the pot-roast until it is done. Let the beef simmer in the cooking liquid, catchup, until tender. This provides a wonderful gravy for the meat.

Pot-Roast With Catchup

3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup catchup
6 medium potatoes

Dredge meat with flour and brown in lard or drippings. Season and add catchup. Cover and simmer 3 hours or until tender. Add potatoes the last 45 minutes. Remove meat and potatoes and make gravy.

Easy Baked Dessert--Rice, Pecans, Pears and Cinnamon

Succulent pears are at their best when baked on top of a "dreamy good" pecan and cinnamon rice. Here is a rice and pear dessert your family will praise as being really yummy and "just right."

But this dessert is also "company pretty" and will cause your guests to exclaim, "Oh, how lovely!" So serve this perfectly luscious rice, pecan and pear dessert at the table to really show it off. You will be called "quite clever" to have dreamed up such a masterpiece in looks and flavor.

Ingredients:

3 cups cooked rice
⅓ cup chopped pecans
Grated rind of a lemon
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup milk
6 pear halves
6 maraschino cherries
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice.

1. Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. 2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. 3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

For extra convenient and economy of time and effort, cook 2 cups of rice, 4 cups of water and 2 teaspoons of salt — keeping the extra cups of unused ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. Use this rice as needed in fruits, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method: Mix together the rice, pecans, grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons of the sugar, ½ teaspoon of the cinnamon and the milk. Spread over a well greased deep 9" or 10" pie plate or other shallow baking dish. Arrange the pear halves around the edge of the baking dish. Place a cherry in the seed cavity of each pear. Sprinkle the remaining 1 tablespoon of sugar and the remaining ½ teaspoon of cinnamon over the pears. Dot with the butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated 350 degrees F. oven for about 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

This recipe makes 6 generous servings.

Savory beef stews are uuniversally popular and to insure tender, juicy meat cubes never boil a stew, just simmer until done. Beef stews may be dark or light as you prefer. Dredging the cubes with flour and browning in a small amount of fat will add to the flavor and aroma as well as giving the cubes a rich brown color. Season after browning and add just enough liquid to cover the meat. Vary the stew with your favorite vegetables added just long enough before the end of the cooking time for them to be tender. Of course, you'll want to thicken the cooking liquid for a delicious gravy.

Yorkshire Ground Beef

A perfect companion piece for roast beef is Yorkshire pudding. For lovers of this garnish, here's a variation equally as tempting. Sprightly seasoned ground beef is added to the pudding, thus turning it into a main dish serving.

Yorkshire Beef Squares

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ tablespoons grated onion
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon finely chopped chives
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon cloves

Combine all the above ingredients and mix well.

1 cup lard, drippings or melted suet
1 cup sifted enriched flour
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon mace
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper

Put lard, drippings or melted suet in a shallow baking pan (8 by 12 inches). Sift flour and salt together. Moisten with milk to form smooth paste. Add whole eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly. Add spices and beat mixture 2 or 3 minutes after second egg is added. Heat the pan with lard, drippings or melted beef suet in oven until hot but not smoking. When hot, pour in half of flour-egg mixture; quickly spread meat mixture over it as evenly as possible. Pour remainder of egg mixture over it and bake immediately in a hot oven (400° to 425° F.) until pudding has risen and set, about 20 minutes. Lower temperature to moderate (350° F.) and continue baking for 25 minutes. 6 servings.

Easy On The Budget

Meat drumsticks are a clever dish sure to be enthusiastically received by both young and old. They're simply prepared by molding the ground beef on metal or wooden skewers (obtained from most meat retailers) and simmering in condensed mushroom soup until tender.

Meat Drumsticks

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can condensed mushroom soup
⅓ cup water
6 skewers

Add salt and pepper to ground meat. Mix well. Shape into drumsticks on skewers. Brown in lard or drippings. Combine mushroom soup and water and pour over drumsticks. Cover closely and simmer for 45 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

Churchill Says Cold War Began Before Shooting War Was Over

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill says the cold war began before the shooting war ended with Russia's refusal to give immediate aid to Warsaw underground fighters being wiped out by the Germans.

With Russian troops less than 10 miles away, the Polish underground in Warsaw began Aug. 1, 1944, a battle to seize the city from the Germans. The Germans turned their Tiger tanks against the underground, which pleaded for supplies from the Allies.

Sir Winston says Premier Stalin refused the use of Russian air bases to Allied planes dropping supplies to the underground. which also appealed for Russian aid. A joint appeal by Sir Winston and the late President Roosevelt brought this reply from Stalin:

"Sooner or later the truth about the group of criminals who have embarked on the Warsaw adventure in order to seize power will become known to everybody. These people have exploited the good faith of the inhabitants of Warsaw, throwing many almost unarmed people against the German guns, tanks and aircraft . . . "

Sir Winston tells of these events in Life magazine, out today, which is publishing the second installment of "Triumph and Tragedy," the sixth and final volume of his Nobel Prize-winning memoirs.

"On Sept. 10, after six weeks of Polish torment, the Kremlin appeared to change their tactics," Sir Winston says.

"That afternoon shells from the Soviet artillery began to fall upon the eastern outskirts of Warsaw, and Soviet planes appeared again over the city. Polish Communist forces, under Soviet orders, fought their way into the fringe of the capital. They wished to have the non-Communist Poles destroyed to the full, but also to keep alive the idea that they were going to their rescue. Meanwhile, house by house the Germans proceeded with their liquidation of Polish centers of resistance throughout the city. A fearful fate befell the population. Many were deported by the Germans. Out of a population of a million nearly 200,000 had been stricken.

"When the Russians entered the city on Jan. 17, they found little but shattered streets and the unburied dead. Such was their liberation of Poland, where they now rule."

Sir Winston says Poland's fate "struck us keenly," adding:

"For Poland we had entered the war; her government had taken refuge in London, and we considered ourselves responsible for its restoration to its own country, if that was what the Poles really wished.

"In the main these feelings were shared by the United States, but they were very slow in realizing the upsurge of Communist influence, which slid on before, as well as followed, the onward march of the mighty armies directed from the Kremlin."

The wartime and present British Prime Minister decided to go to Moscow and see Stalin on these and other problems and took Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden with him. Members of the Polish government and of a Polish Communist group were called in.

Attempts to work out a new Polish government failed, Sir Winston said, and the two Polish groups left Moscow.

Later the conversations at the Kremlin took up Japan. U. S. Ambassador Averell Harriman took part in these talks. Sir Winston says Stalin declared Russia would be ready to attack Japan about three months after the defeat of Germany if the United States helped build up fuel, food and transport reserves in the Far East.

"There is no doubt that in our narrow circle we talked with an ease, freedom, and cordiality never before attained between our two countries," Sir Winston says.

Turning to the Western Front, he tells of the German attempt to break the center of the Allied line and the fierce Battle of the Bulge that resulted.

"This was the enemy's final offensive of the war," he says. "At the time it caused us no little anxiety."

He added the "American troops were the ones who bore the brunt of the battle," quoting Field Marshall Lord Montgomery that "the battle of the Ardennes was won primarily by the staunch fighting qualities of the American soldier."

Frank Costello Leaves Prison

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—Big-time gambler Frank Costello came out of prison today only to face the prospect of more federal prosecution.

The New York racket boss, whom the government set down for a year for his defiance of Congress, rode away from the Milan Federal Correctional Institution to a place and purpose he wasn't telling about.

All he would say was that he was going to take "a rest."

Accompanying him were his wife, Loretta, and an unidentified man described as a lawyer and a friend of Mrs. Costello.

Costello had served about a year of his year and a half sentence imposed in New York for contempt for his refusal to talk to Senate crime investigators.

Costello, 59, served time for the first time in 38 years. His only other conviction was on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. That was in his youth in the east.

The Sicilian-born racketeer faces deportation action by the government as an undesirable. He also has been charged with income tax evasion.

The tax cases are both criminal and civil. Together they charge he evaded $212,466 in income taxes for the years 1947 through 1950.

Navy Denies Sabotage In Boston During War

BOSTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Navy denied today any proven sabotage affecting the Navy in Boston during World War II and further said there were no known Communist groups within 1st Naval district activities.

The statement was issued by Navy authorities in commenting on a Washington statement by Charman Velde (R-Ill) of the House un-American Activities Committee that a subcommittee has been holding hearings regarding Communist infiltration of the Navy in Boston.

The district includes all New England except Connecticut and is commanded by rear adm. Charles B. Momsen, who developed the "Momsen lung," submarine escape device.

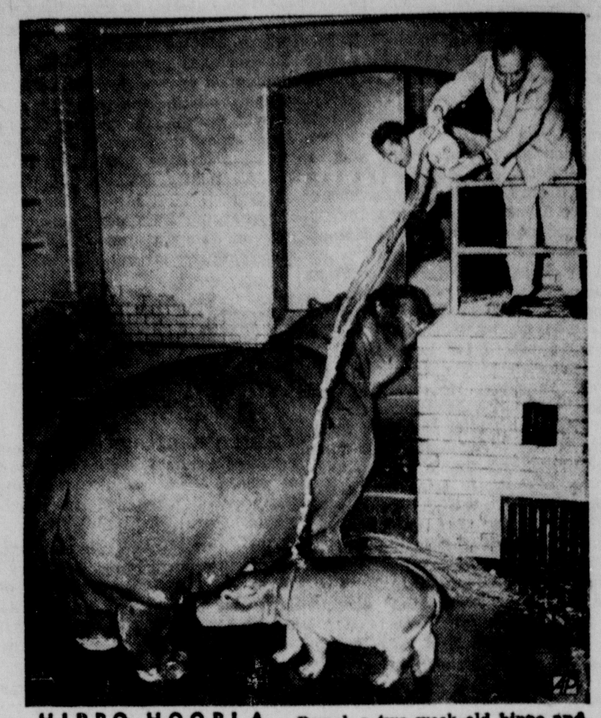
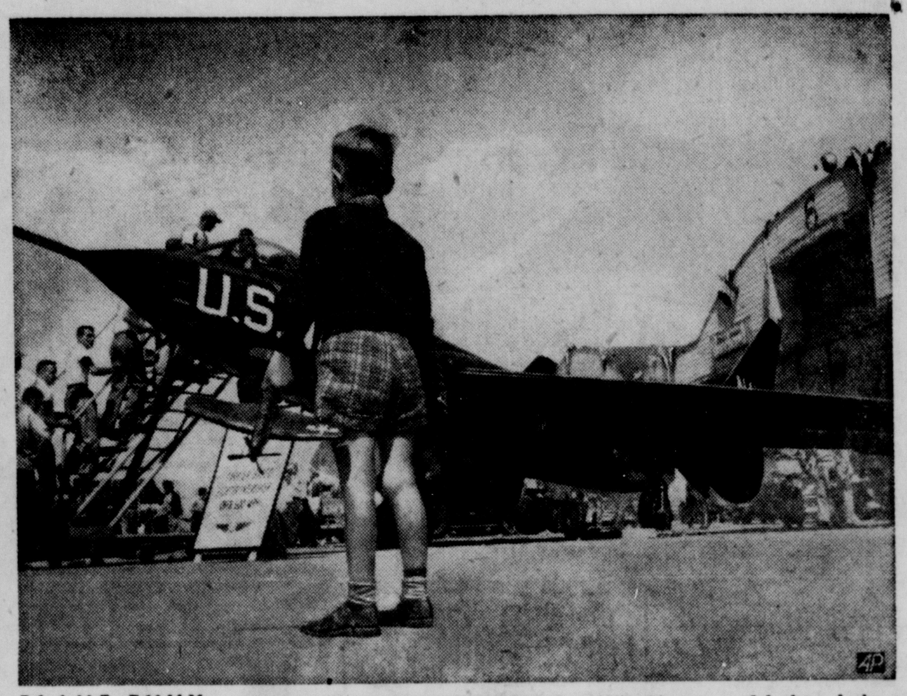
FINALE BY TORCHLIGHT— West Berlin's Olympic Stadium is a mass of shimmering and flickering lights as West Berlin police aided by spectators hold traditional German "big tattoo" with torchlights as finale to their annual demonstration.



HIPPO HOOPLA— Bemel, a two-week-old hippo and the Frankfurt Zoo's newest arrival, is named with cider by Zoo director Bernhard Grzimek, with Bemel's mother as witness.

EXPENSIVE TOUCH— Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida examines an evening gown at Pierre Balmain's salon in Paris. Gown is embroidered with thousands of gold and black sequins.



PLANE ENVY— Daniel Bradburn, six, of Portland, Ind., holding his own model plane, looks with awe at a Cutlass F7U, Navy fighter, displayed at aircraft show in Dayton, Ohio.

NEW AMBASSADOR— Lester De Witt Mallory of Houlton, Me., is the new United States Ambassador to Jordan. He formerly was counsellor of U. S. Embassy at Buenos Aires.

IMPERIAL INTEREST— Japan's Crown Prince Akihito views Henry Ford's first car with William C. Ford, grandson of auto pioneer, on visit to Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Mich.

ANOTHER SHELL GAME— Sisal tree in Puerto Rico is adorned with egg shells, which, according to Spanish custom, reflect light to scare away lizards and insects from gardens.

CARRY-ALL— Singer Betty Ann Grove checks through tote bag in silky-nap leopard-printed fabric with polished brass handles. These roomy bags are popular with career girls.

TITLED SUBJECT— Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of the wonder drug, penicillin, sits for a portrait in stone by the Bulgarian sculptor, Assen Peikov, in Rome.

BEER BLOWOUT— Foaming beer mugs take legs in opening parade of the October Festival, Munich's traditional fall frolic, which is dominated by tributes to the amber fluid.

THE THAI WEIGH— A sturdy baby is weighed in the United Nations International Children's Fund headquarters of the Chiengmai health project in Thailand. In background is a poster illustrating proper food and feeding times.

SQUARE WITH ARTY LOOK— This is San Francisco's famed Union Square during a recent art festival. There was space for 700 amateur and professional artists in 34 pavilions.

Former Frostburg Woman Honored On 80th Birthday

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Florence H. Carney was the guest of honor at an open-house reception held Sunday at her new home, 8 East Franklin Avenue, Silver Spring.

The event was arranged by her daughters, Mrs. Mervin Shuck and Miss Josephine Carney, in observance of their mother's 80th birthday.

The reception was held from 2 to 5 p. m., with Mrs. Leroy Crowl in charge of the refreshment table which was adorned with a huge birthday cake inscribed with the words "80th Birthday."

The highlight of the afternoon took place when Mrs. Carney's niece, Mrs. William Footen, gave a toast to the guest of honor. The response to the toast was a song, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," sung by Miss Frances Carney Shuck, a granddaughter of Mrs. Carney.

The reception was attended by approximately 50 neighbors and friends. Mrs. Carney received many greetings from Frostburg, her former home. Lifelong neighbors sent spiritual bouquets, flowers and cards.

Mrs. Carney, a resident here practically all her life, resided at 209 Maple Street, until a short time ago when she moved to Silver Spring to be nearer to her daughters.

The first concrete pavement in the United States was laid in 1891 in Bellefontaine, O.

Information For Mineral School History Sought

KEYSER — Luke McDowell, former Mineral County school superintendent who is preparing a history of education in the county, would like to have any available information about people who taught in county schools before 1877-1879.

McDowell said the history is nearly complete, but that there are no records of teachers prior to 1877 in Keyser and prior to 1879 in the rest of the county.

Only four names of people who taught prior to those dates are known. They are John Edward Broom of Frankfort District, who may have been the county's first paid teacher; and James Mott, Jennie Vandiver and Emma Wilson, all teachers in Welton District. Names of more than 2,000 later teachers also are known.

McDowell asked that anyone who knows anything about teachers prior to the period covered by existing records contact him.

KEYSER—Rev. Alvin Frantz Brightbill, professor of Fine Arts in Religion at Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, will be the leader at a sub-district Music Institute to be held at the Keyser Church of the Brethren over the week-end. The institute will open with a general session at 2:30 p. m. Sunday and close Monday evening.

On Sunday the session will feature singing of old hymns as well as learning new ones, and at 6:30 p. m. a youth session for the combined Church of the Brethren Youth Fellowships of the area churches will be held. At 7:30 p. m., at the evening worship, a musical service, conducted by Rev. Brightbill, will be held.

Canaan Valley Has Good Crop Of Cauliflower

PARSONS—The cauliflower crop in nearby Canaan Valley during the past season was reported as very successful here yesterday.

Cecil E. Parsons, president of the Cauliflower Growers Inc., of Canaan Valley, said 20,073 crates of number one grade cauliflower was shipped during the past summer months.

For an average crate, growers netted $2.39 or a total of $48,105.50 for the season's work.

Twenty growers planted 51 and four-tenths acres during the past year with Rev. R. W. Morrow, Jr., a new member of the association, having the most, 10 acres. Cecil Parsons, the Harr Brothers, each planted six acres and Raymond Harr had four acres.

Hoye Smith, Peter Cosner and Asa Pennington each had three acres; Venora Heitz, Victor Wolford and Joseph Cooper two acres each. Growers with one acre or less were, I. G. Teter, Francis M. Barker, Gerald Bible, Cline Allman, B. F. Cooper, Ben F. Thompson, Charles Teter, Ruth Allman, Danny Graham and S. Bonner.

These same growers will plant an estimated 80 acres for the coming season.

Those plans were made at a re-organization meeting held recently in Davis. Cecil E. Parsons was re-elected as president; Victor Wolford vice-president; Hoye Smith, treasurer, and Richard M. Harr, secretary. The board of directors is composed of the above officers along with Charles and Porter Cosner.

Former Frostburg Woman Honored On 80th Birthday

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Florence H. Carney was the guest of honor at an open-house reception held Sunday at her new home, 8 East Franklin Avenue, Silver Spring.

The event was arranged by her daughters, Mrs. Mervin Shuck and Miss Josephine Carney, in observance of their mother's 80th birthday.

The reception was held from 2 to 5 p. m., with Mrs. Leroy Crowl in charge of the refreshment table which was adorned with a huge birthday cake inscribed with the words "80th Birthday."

The highlight of the afternoon took place when Mrs. Carney's niece, Mrs. William Footen, gave a toast to the guest of honor. The response to the toast was a song, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," sung by Miss Frances Carney Shuck, a granddaughter of Mrs. Carney.

The reception was attended by approximately 50 neighbors and friends. Mrs. Carney received many greetings from Frostburg, her former home. Lifelong neighbors sent spiritual bouquets, flowers and cards.

Mrs. Carney, a resident here practically all her life, resided at 209 Maple Street, until a short time ago when she moved to Silver Spring to be nearer to her daughters.

Information For Mineral School History Sought

KEYSER — Luke McDowell, former Mineral County school superintendent who is preparing a history of education in the county, would like to have any available information about people who taught in county schools before 1877-1879.

McDowell said the history is nearly complete, but that there are no records of teachers prior to 1877 in Keyser and prior to 1879 in the rest of the county.

Only four names of people who taught prior to those dates are known. They are John Edward Broom of Frankfort District, who may have been the county's first paid teacher; and James Mott, Jennie Vandiver and Emma Wilson, all teachers in Welton District. Names of more than 2,000 later teachers also are known.

McDowell asked that anyone who knows anything about teachers prior to the period covered by existing records contact him.

Valley High Dedication Set November 10

Valley High School, the new $2,000,000 educational facility at Lonaconing, will be dedicated in ceremonies Tuesday, November 10, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

The speaker will be William A. Gunter, local attorney and a member of the State Board of Education.

Jack A. Petry, principal, is arranging a program for the ceremony. The new school was opened last month after being under construction more than a year. The school serves students from Lonaconing and Barton and adjacent territory. The old Barton High and Central High School of Lonaconing were merged in the new school.

Structure Ultra Modern

Of two-story construction in the section where the classrooms are located, Valley High is one of the most modern in the country. In addition to the classrooms there are industrial arts shops, a cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium as well as offices and classrooms.

The George F. Hazelwood Construction Company of Cumberland had the contract to erect the building. They were awarded the contract on their low bid of $1,275,700. Plumbing and heating and electrical work cost over $400,000 and there was additional costs for purchase of the land and equipping the school.

McCoole Dedication Set

On Wednesday, November 11, the two rooms and auditorium which have been added to the McCoole Elementary School will be dedicated in a ceremony at 8 p. m.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth Jr., of Westernport, will be the principal speaker. This program is also in process of being arranged.

Webster conferred with Francis Madden, of the architectural firm of Walton and Madden of Mt. Rainier yesterday on preliminary plans for new faculties at Carver High School here and Oldtown High School.

The school superintendent also said that preliminary plans for the new elementary school in LaVale have been approved by the State Board of Education. Francis J. Thuman, architectural adviser to the State Board of Education, notified Webster of the okay on the preliminary drawings and plans.

Former Davis Girl Teaches

DAVIS, W. Va. — Miss Dolores Jean Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Howe of Monroeville, Ala., and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Green of Davis has accepted a teaching position as physical education supervisor at Decatur, Ala., High School.

Miss Howe attended Allegany High School in Cumberland, Md., and was graduated from Monroeville High. She was graduated from Alabama University in June of this year when she was elected the most outstanding senior in physical education.

She is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and is a past president of the College Recreational Program Association, a member of the College Theater and Theater Council. She also served on the staff of the college newspaper, was a member of Lamba Sigma Pi, Orchesis Pi and Epsilon Delta sororities.

PTA At Shinnston To Hear R. F. Shaw

OLDTOWN—Ross F. Shaw, of Oldtown, will address the Parent-Teachers Association of Shinnston, W. Va., November 12 at the high school auditorium there.

Shaw, a former instructor of penmanship and history at Shinnston, is still a member of the PTA there.

He accepted the invitation to speak before the PTA from I. O. Ash, superintendent of public schools at Shinniston.

College Plans Parents' Night

FROSTBURG — The annual Parents' Night program for parents and friends of freshman students at State Teachers College will be held next Thursday, November 5.

Highlight of the evening will be a one-act play, "Give Us Time to Sing," by David Hanig. The Maryland Singers will present several selections from Sigmund Romberg's "New Moon."

After the program in the auditorium-gymnasium, parents will be guests in the dining hall, where refreshments will be served, and parents will meet the faculty.

In the receiving line will be Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the college; Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction, and Miss Irene Kirkeby, freshman advisor and instructor in romance languages and English.

Assisting will be Dr. Alice Schuster of the History Department; Mrs. Alfred Taylor, supervising teacher in the College Laboratory School; Miss Pauline Hobbs, social director and English instructor, and Mrs. Robert Elderdice.

Scouts To Report

KEYSER — All Girl Scouts who will participate in the tag sale for the Keyser-Mineral County Public Library, are asked to report at the Library at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, to receive containers. This announcement was made by the Girl Scouts' executive.

Valley High Dedication Set November 10

Valley High School, the new $2,000,000 educational facility at Lonaconing, will be dedicated in ceremonies Tuesday, November 10, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

The speaker will be William A. Gunter, local attorney and a member of the State Board of Education.

Jack A. Petry, principal, is arranging a program for the ceremony. The new school was opened last month after being under construction more than a year. The school serves students from Lonaconing and Barton and adjacent territory. The old Barton High and Central High School of Lonaconing were merged in the new school.

Structure Ultra Modern

Of two-story construction in the section where the classrooms are located, Valley High is one of the most modern in the country. In addition to the classrooms there are industrial arts shops, a cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium as well as offices and classrooms.

The George F. Hazelwood Construction Company of Cumberland had the contract to erect the building. They were awarded the contract on their low bid of $1,275,700. Plumbing and heating and electrical work cost over $400,000 and there was additional costs for purchase of the land and equipping the school.

McCoole Dedication Set

On Wednesday, November 11, the two rooms and auditorium which have been added to the McCoole Elementary School will be dedicated in a ceremony at 8 p. m.

Delegate Horace P. Whitworth Jr., of Westernport, will be the principal speaker. This program is also in process of being arranged.

Webster conferred with Francis Madden, of the architectural firm of Walton and Madden of Mt. Rainier yesterday on preliminary plans for new faculties at Carver High School here and Oldtown High School.

The school superintendent also said that preliminary plans for the new elementary school in LaVale have been approved by the State Board of Education. Francis J. Thuman, architectural adviser to the State Board of Education, notified Webster of the okay on the preliminary drawings and plans.

Homemakers Hold Election At Frostburg

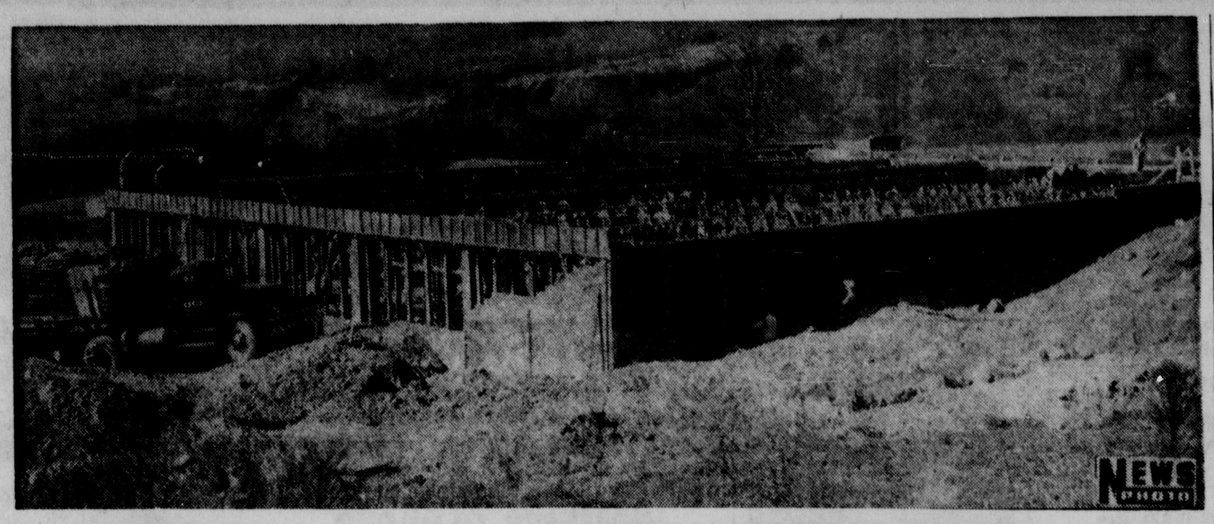
Mrs. George Griffith Will Head Group

FROSTBURG — Mrs. George Griffith was elected president of the Frostburg Homemakers Club at a recent meeting held in the College day room. Other officers are Mrs. Allen Hager, treasurer, and Mrs. George Wellings, secretary. Mrs. LaVern Kerr is vice president from a preceding election.

The meeting was opened with song of United Nations, and a prayer by Miss Elizabeth Workman. Mrs. Allen Hager gave a demonstration on "Meals for the Thick and Thin." Mrs. Adam Baer, gave a talk on United Nations.

Miss Elizabeth Workman exhibited flags and charts, and gave a brief resume of a talk given by Dr. Butler to the A.A.U.W. on "A Citizen Looks at United Nations." Mrs. Amy Richardson displayed knitted articles she had made to send to Korea.

Mrs. George Griffith led in group singing and Halloween games. Hostesses for November are Mrs. Melvin Ward, chairman, Miss Edna Spitznas, Mrs. Robert Wiebrecht, Mrs. Henry Weber, Mrs. William Walsh and Mrs. Eugene Valentine.



COLLEGE BUILDING GOING UP—The first section of the foundation for a new auditorium-gymnasium at Frostburg State Teachers College is shown as it nears completion. The building, begun last summer, is being erected on the South side of Park Avenue as part of a long-range building program at the college. Construction, thanks to ideal building weather, is ahead of schedule, and forms already are being erected for the other section of the foundation. The new building, which will replace the present small combination auditorium-gymnasium, will house these sections in two separate wings joined by a central hallway. Some office space also will be provided in the new building, which is scheduled to be ready for occupancy by June 1954.

Halloween Events Are Planned By Frostburg School

Program, Parade, Partiese Scheduled

Beginning at 10 o'clock, the program will open in the school auditorium with a play presented by the Dramatic Club, entitled, "The Spirit of Halloween".

Members of the cast include Sandra Twigg, Thomas Rase, Ruth Ann Edwards, Carole Settle, Carol Starkey, Richard Andrews, Kenneth Baer, Linda Bender, Bonnie Conrad, Ida Rankin, Donna Ross, Doris Jeffries, Genevieve Gracie, Delores Weslow and Marion Davis.

Halloween poems will be recited by Darlene Logue, Barbara Chaney and Dorothy Hill.

Section I will recite a poem "Late October" written by Section 2; Section 6 will give a choral recitation of "Halloween Night;" Section 3 will sing two Halloween favorites; Section 5 will sing a parody on "Yankee Doodle", and Section 1 will sing a parody on "Huckleberry Finn". Marsha Barclay will be the announcer.

Immediately following lunch a Halloween parade will be organized which will leave the school at 1:35 p. m. going out Broadway to Main Street to Water Street and back to the school.

100F To Honor V. B. Kooken

WESTERNPORT — V. Browne Kooken, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will be honored by Philos Lodge 91 at a testimonial dinner Saturday at Bruce High School.

The turkey dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., and a program will be presented afterwards.

Midland Homemakers Will Display Projects Nov. 18

MIDLAND — Members of Midland Homemakers Club will display achievement projects at the November 18 meeting, with members of the 4-H Girls Club participating.

Each member will bring a friend to the meeting, to be introduced at roll call.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, Cumberland commissioner of streets and public property, spoke at the club's last meeting. Other guests were Mrs. Clarence Miller and Mrs. Russell Keister of the Shaft club; Mrs. John Steiding, of the Young Women's Club of Lonaconing, and Mrs. Irene McDonald of the Valley Road Club, Cumberland.

A nominating committee was named at the meeting. Members are Mrs. Anna Jenkins, Mrs. Mary Baker, Mrs. Nancy Lease, Mrs. Clara Mae Loar, and Mrs. Viola McGann.

The club voted a $5 contribution to the Midland Medical Center. Mrs. Bertie Clark, Fair chairman, presented a check for $10 to the club from the Cumberland Fair Association.

Mrs. Clara Mae Loar won the guest cake baked by Mrs. Edgar Llewellyn, and Mrs. Roeder won the annual prize.

School Hot Lunch Program Report Cited In Grant Co.

During the first month of school in Grant County an average daily total of 911 pupils took advantage of the county hot lunch program and ate their noon meals in one of the schools serving lunches. This figure represents 40 percent of the pupils in the schools of the county, according to Beverly Roby of the county superintendent's office as she reviewed the statistics preparatory to forwarding them into state headquarters of the hot lunch program in Charleston.

Only 10 of the county's 16 schools have a hot lunch program in operation and a breakdown would show that in these 10 schools the percentage is over 47 percent who are eating the Type A meal authorized by state headquarters.

The Type A lunch consists of a half-pint of raw milk; two ounces of lean meat, poultry, fish or cheese; or one half cup of dried peas, beans; or one egg; or four tablespoons of peanut butter; three-fourth cup of raw, cooked or canned vegetables and or fruit; a portion of bread, muffin, or hot bread and two teaspoons of butter or fortified margarine.

This program is operated out of money received from students and teachers paying a nominal charge for this meal plus some food items received from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Since the present school term began, the county has received canned products including peas, beef and gravy, orange juice, cotton seed oil, and peaches, and dried food including kidney and lima beans; butter, cheese and ground hamburger.

Local cooks are employed to operate the kitchen and prepare the food. With the exception of two schools, Forman and Town Hill, two or more cooks are employed.

Schools serving lunches are the two mentioned above plus Mt. Storm, Dorcas, Maysville, Johnson Run, Petersburg grade, Bayard grade, Bayard and Petersburg high schools.

Equipment used in the kitchens has purchased through the hot lunch funds and in some incidents the county board of education has supplied the schools with part of this equipment, Miss Roby said.

Church Group Is Sponsoring Party Tonight

Halloween Dance Set At St. John's Hall

FROSTBURG—The Youth Group of St. John's Episcopal Church is sponsoring a Halloween Dance in the Parish Hall tonight, from 8 to 11 p. m. Admission will be charged.

Refreshments will be served at this combination dance and party. Oliver Wittig is chairman of the refreshment committee. Other committee members are Colleen and Norma Jean Festerman and Judy Wellings.

The parish hall has been decorated for the party under the direction of Jean Morgan, chairman of the decoration committee. Other members of the committee are Arthur Hugglestone, Jean Robertson, Josephine Roe, Louise Downton, Bill James and Donald Pryor.

The entertainment committee under the leadership of Arthur Hugglestone has planned games and stunts for the evening. Other members of the committee are Michael Barnhart, Jean Morgan, Jean Robertson and Bill James.

Donald Pryor is in charge of the ticket sales. Adult advisors to the Youth Group include Miss Regina Pryor, Miss Sally Bird Vandevert and Mrs. Charles I. Kratz, Jr.

Monrovia, Liberia, is named after President James Monroe.

Cresaptown PTA Planning Fun Carnival This Evening

The highlight of the Halloween fun night and carnival this evening in Cresaptown School being held by the budget committee of its Parent-Teacher Association will be the crowning of a carnival king and queen.

The coronation is sponsored for the junior high grades and is under the direction of John Garrett and Augustine Diaz, faculty members.

Students of the three grades will vote for their choice, along with teachers and residents of the community.

Candidates are Margaret Wilson and Allan Lahem, 9-A; Jean Shirey and Donald Ware, 9-M; Erma Flannigan and Gary McKenzie, 8-L; Judy May and Donnelly Boor, 8-G; Faye Evans and Ronald Delligatti, 7-L, and Kitty Taylor and Thomas Knotts, 7-C.

Mrs. Otis Chaney is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. The event will start at 7:15 p. m. with various displays and activities in homerooms and concessions in the hallways.

Those in charge include: Doll show, Mrs. George Ziegler and Miss Mary Elizabeth Kammauf; guess cake, Mrs. Virginia Mignot; fish pond and pop corn, Mrs. Anna Crowe, Mrs. Novella Crowe, Miss Betty Matese and Miss Helen Parker.

Movies, James Long and Roger Lynch; voice recordings, Oberlin Chaney and Glenn Hanna; fortunes and games Miss Colleen Burns and Miss Lelia Thrush; profile, Miss Georgia Gianopoulos and Mrs. Mary Martirano.

For the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Grades, activities will start at 8 p. m. with a costume parade. Judges will be Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Heineman and Mrs. Thomas Miller.

At 8:30 p. m. a stage show will be presented in the auditorium with Diaz, as master of ceremonies. Following will be the crowning of the king and queen.

Faculty members assisting will be Mrs. Annetta Gerson, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Mrs. Helen Loewendick and Mrs. Charlotte Folk.

PSC Is Ready For Homecoming Day Festivities

Saturday other activities will be featured prior to the football game at Staymen Field at 2 p. m. Potomac State plays Concord College. Members of the 1928 Class will sit in a group in a reserved section of the stands, and the Potomac State Band will play during the game. The ROTC color guard will conduct a flag raising ceremony prior to the opening of the game.

At half time, "Miss Catamount XV," homecoming queen, will be presented.

The military department has announced that the entire ROTC corps will take part in a formal dress parade. Five women sponsors will also take part.

Following the game tea will be served in Science Hall, with Mrs. Harold Carvey, vice president of the Alumni Association, in charge. Miss Katherine Broaderick, instructor in home economics, will assist.

The annual homecoming dinner will be served in the College Dining Room in Davis Hall at 7 p. m. Harry I. Stegmeier, Cumberland attorney, will speak.

Rev. Mr. Heyward will speak on "Problems Confronting Christian Endeavor In This Area." Following his talk, an effort will be made to form a Christian Endeavor Society.

42 W. Va. Counties Are Reported As Emergency Areas

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 28 (AP)—The State Mobilization Committee asked the federal government today to declare 42 West Virginia counties emergency areas.

The 10-man committee met to study reports submitted by mobilization committees from 51 counties on local drought conditions.

It sent recommendations to the national drought committee and the secretary of agriculture in Washington.

J. Ward Wood, chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration for West Virginia, said that should the national drought committee declare the counties in question as emergency areas, eligible farmers would be entitled to purchase feed grains at reduced prices.

Among the counties recommended were: Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Mineral, Morgan, Tucker, and Preston.

PE Substation In Service At Berkeley Springs

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va.—Construction crews of the Potomac Light and Power Company have completed work on the new Morgan Substation located about one mile south of here.

Built at an estimated cost of nearly $200,000, this unit will afford better regulated service to the residents of the Berkeley Springs-Hancock area.

This fully automatic substation was begun in February of this year and was placed in service on September 18. It is now the primary source of power for the Berkeley Springs area, having replaced an older installation at the Cacapon Hydro Plant.

The Morgan Substation is directly tied in with the new Albright Station which was recently added to the power facilities of the Potomas Edison System.

Because of the type of equipment installed in the new substation area residents will now have the advantages of over 100% increased capacity in terms of power, better regulated voltage, and a more lightning proof installation to protect against future outages.

Home On Leave

NIKEP—Pvt. Rowe Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Miller, of here, is spending a 13-day leave with his parents after completing 13 weeks training at the Atlanta General Depot in Atlanta, Ga. He will report to the Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

Aluminum is found in more forms than any other metal.

Eckhart School Faculty

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of pictures of Allegany County's Public School elementary teachers.)

Petersburg School PTA Sets Halloween Carnival Tonight

PETERSBURG—The annual Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the Petersburg PTA, will be held tonight in the grade school gymnasium.

The celebration will begin at 6:15 p. m. with a parade which will march from the Vo-ag building to Grove Street to Virginia Avenue to Main Street to Highland Avenue to the school where it will disband.

The review will be led by the Viking Band, and a feature of the parade will include the Petersburg Volunteer Fire Company drill team.

Prizes will be awarded to mummers and include a prize for the best group, most original, prettiest and ugliest costumes. There will be two awards in each group.

Listed in the carnival attractions are cake walks, food sale, fish ponds, ball throwing contests and turkey raffle.

All proceeds will go for the benefit of the grade and high schools.

Sfc. Angle Gets Top Honors In Writing Contest

WESTERNPORT — Sfc. George E. Angle, editor of the Wurzburg District Post-Argus newspaper, took top honors in the District Soldier Show Writing Contest this month.

Sgt. Angle was the author of a play in five scenes entitled "An Incident at Fort Patterson." A comedy, the play relates the story of two soldiers who discover a six-weeks old baby near the post and proceed to care for the abandoned infant.

Their efforts to keep the baby a secret from the Commanding Officer and the picturization of husky Army sergeants trying to feed and clothe it provide many hilarious situations.

Sgt. Angle is a native of Westernport, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Angle. He attended Potomac State College, Keyser, and Loyola of Baltimore. His wife, the former Ella Spitzer, of Keyser, and their two children are in Wurzburg with him. He has sold stories to pulp fiction magazines. His play won him a three-day trip to Paris, France. His wife and children accompanied him on the trip.

Soroptimist Club Plans Card Party

PIEDMONT — The Soroptimist Club decided at a recent meeting to hold a public card party Tuesday, November 17.

The club also reported it has purchased a wheel chair for an invalid. The purchase of a bed table for another sick person was authorized.

Teachers Association To Hear C. D. Sions

PETERSBURG—C. D. Sions, recent exchange teacher to Ireland, will address a meeting of the Grant County Classroom Teachers Association at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at Mt. Storm Grade School.

Sions will speak on the topic, "Education in Ireland." The meeting will be preceded by a covered dish supper.

Parking Probe Instigator Faces Contempt Action

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP) — Hyman Pressman, Baltimore attorney who inspired a grand jury probe of the city's off-street parking program, was ordered today to defend himself in a contempt of court action arising from the investigation.

The contempt proceeding was instituted by Dominic Piracci, Baltimore contractor, and the Piracci Construction Co., defendants in presentments returned by the grand jury in its parking inquiry.

Piracci and his firm contended that statements made by Pressman since the presentments were returned prejudiced their rights to a fair trial.

Accordingly, Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith and Judge James K. Cullen and Joseph R. Carter of the Baltimore Supreme Bench issued an order giving Pressman until Nov. 5 to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt.

The order was handed down only a few hours before Pressman was to go before the grand jury to ask for a full-scale investigation of the entire city administration.

Pressman, a persistent critic of the city administration, said as he waited to go before the grand jury:

"The first item on a long list I will discuss with the jury is the Fallsway garage deal."

Pressman contends that the city paid too much for a garage on the Fallsway acquired for city use. C. Edward Jones, former member of the Off-Street Parking Commission and one of those presented by the grand jury, acted as counsel for the seller in the deal.

In the contempt action, Piracci and his fim contended that statements and actions by Pressman were calculated to influence and prejudice the grand jury in further consideration of the case, and to "pre-suppose guilt on the part of your petitioners and others..."

Among matters complained of were Pressman's petition to the Board of Estimates asking for $50,000 for a full-scale inquiry into the administration; his letter to Mayor D'Alesandro demanding such a probe; and his direct appeal to the grand jury for the investigation.

The injunction petition asked that Pressman be enjoined from "any further expressions of damaging opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the petitioners, and from interfering with the orderly process of justice in the pending proceedings."

Viscose-Textile Union Talks Are Adjourned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Representatives of 15,000 CIO textile workers opened wage talks with officials of the American Viscose Corp. today and then adjourned until an undetermined date, probably in November when negotiations will begin in earnest.

Wesley Cook, director of the CIO Textile Workers Synthetic Yarn Division, told a reporter both sides outlined their positions at today's preliminary meeting.

The union is asking a 10 cents an hour wage increase for its members in seven viscose plants. It also wants certain other wage rate adjustments.

Cook said American Viscose Corp. workers now earn an average of $1.75 to $1.80 an hour. He said company officials made no counter offer.

La Rosa Will Have Radio Show Of Own

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Julius La Rosa, ousted last week from Arthur Godfrey's radio-TV family, will have a radio show of his own.

Beginning Monday, Nov. 9, the singer will be heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday over the CBS radio network from 7:35 to 7:45 p.m. (EST), said Lester Gottlieb, CBS radio vice president in charge of network programs, today.

La Rosa will be assisted on the program by Russ Case and his orchestra and by a singing group.

Man, 62, Girl, 17, Are Found Slain

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 29 (AP)—Authorities pressed their investigation today into the deaths of a 62-year-old man and a teen-age girl, whose bodies were found on a lonely road near here yesterday.

So far no motive has been advanced by police for the shooting but Marshall County Coroner Ernest D. Conner entered a finding of murder and suicide.

The bullet torn bodies of Charles Ray and 17-year-old Mildred Moore were found about 2 p.m., shortly after they left Moore farm where Ray lived with the girl's parents.

A Soil Conservation Service employe, Harold Burk of Moundsville, found the bodies. Miss Moore had been shot four times. Conner said the position of her body indicated she had been trying to run away when killed.

Tax Evader Receives Jail Term And Fined

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP) — R. Thornton Strange, Annapolis merchant and former business manager of St. John's College, today was dealt a six-month prison sentence and fines totaling $25,000 for income tax evasion.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut pronounced the penalty, saying he would reconsider the sentence if a prison physician found it would greatly endanger Strange's health.

A doctor had told the court earlier both Strange and his wife were victims of heart ailments.

Strange, who for many years operated an Annapolis clothing business, was convicted by a jury Tuesday of trying to cheat the government out of $35,000 in taxes in 1945-47.

Prosecutors said he actually evaded closer to $75,000 in taxes over a nine-year period but could not be prosecuted for the entire amount because the case was not started early enough. They he owed about $145,000 in taxes, interest and penalties.

Far From "Blind"

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Oct. 29 (AP)—A woman phoned the police station to report a "blind man" walking in circles in the athletic park.

"He can't find his way out; he's been there over an hour feeling around with his white cane. Come and help him."

Big Bank Deposits Race Winnings, Accused Teller Says

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Victor McSherry, young Hagerstown bank teller who said it was not by system that he won so many horse race bets, took the stand today to explain three transactions by which the government says he stole $28,000 from the bank.

Time ran out before the prosecution could wind up the loose ends of its rebuttal and the trial was recessed until next Tuesday.

The stocky 26-year-old defendant, married and the father of three young children, said he won between $4,000 and $5,000 on the races in 1952. He told of betting as much as $400 on a race and reported one $1,100 killing he made at the Charles Town, W. Va., track.

The winnings, he said, accounted for the large deposits in his personal banking account at a time when he was making only $57.50 a week at the Nicodemus National Bank and picking up $20 to $35 a week from a filling station job and other part-time work.

His wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha Irene Miller, and three cronies—Paul Suffecool, Early W. Bates, and Harry C. Smith—all testified they knew of big days McSherry had at the track last year.

Eyerly's Department Store in Hagerstown made a deposit which shows in McSherry's handwriting in the passbook at more than $9,000 but which shows on the bank records as only $4,000 plus.

George F. Mesnig, FBI laboratory expert from Alexandria, Va., testified two figures were changed on the deposit slip to make the $5,000 difference.

McSherry acknowledged he handled the deposit.

He said he put the bag full of money and checks, and the deposit slip, on a table back of the tellers' cages so he could continue waiting on customers and count the money later.

Before he got a chance to count it, he said, someone must have slipped $5,000 out of the bag and changed the deposit slip.

He denied he had done it.

Woman Dies As Cars Of Husband, Son Crash

HENDERSON, Ky., Oct. 29 (AP)—A head-on collision between cars driven by her husband and son today caused the death of Mrs. Manny Royster, 64.

Mrs. Royster was riding in a car driven by her husband, F. P. Royster, 68, and which collided with another auto driven by their son, Posey A. Royster, 40. Neither Royster nor his son was hurt.

State police reported the two cars met head-on at the crest of a steep hill on a narrow road.

The twenty-fifth meeting of LaSalle High School's Explorers and Allegany High School's Campers is set for tonight at the stadium at 8 o'clock.

It's the second contest of the intra-city series that involves three schools and a defeat for LaSalle would eliminate them from further consideration in the championship struggle.

If Roy Lester's Campers win tonight's game they'll battle it out Thanksgiving Day with Fort Hill for the title as the Sentinels already hold a 7-0 decision over LaSalle. A LaSalle victory tonight, however means that Fort Hill would have to win on Turkey Day or else the championship race will windup in a triple tie.

Two Definitely Out

Allegany will play without the services of Tackle Ellis Wisler, who has a broken nose and an injured hand while Leo Franklin, LaSalle tackle, is also sidelined with injuries. No other key players are expected to be missing. Several of the players with minor injuries are expected to see limited service.

This contest is expected to attract the largest crowd of the current season to date as the teams appear to be pretty evenly matched.

Both schools dropped their opening games but are now enjoying five-game winning streaks. Fort Hill knocked off the Explorers in the initial tilt while Allegany was kayoed by Patterson Park of Baltimore.

LaSalle Won 1952 Game

Last year LaSalle whipped the Campers, 19-7, and it marked the first time in ten years that such a thing happened. It was the Explorers sixth win of the series that began back in 1928. Allegany has finished on top 19 times while two games ended in ties.

Coaches Norman F. Geatz, Jr., and Roy Lester last night announced that the probable starting lineups will be as follows:

Pos.	Allegany	LaSalle
LE	V. Lowery (15)	Williams (21)
LT	Beerman (16)	Kegg (40)

Stadium Inn Ties Knights

Sweeps Three From Frostburg Legion

Stadium Inn of Frostburg tied the Cumberland Knights of Columbus for first place in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League last night by capturing three games from the Frostburg American Legion while the Knights were gaining a 2-1 decision over Fisher and Robinette.

The K-C and Stadium Inn shufflers now have 13-5 records.

Frostburg K. of C. took over the runner-up position by copping two out of three games from the Goodfellowship. The winning team's record is 12-6, one full game off the pace.

Other results were:

Mike Miller's 2, Golden Nugget 1; Hi Dee Bar 2, Cumberland Amvets 1; Mt. Savage V.F.W. 2, Cas Taylor's 1. The Hann's Tavern-Purple Heart Club match was not reported.

The W.O.W.-Cumberland V.F.W. match is scheduled for tonight.

Norris, Mike Miller's, 26; Charles Morgan, Golden Nugget, 22; R. Kenny, Frostburg K. of C., 12; C. Gilbert, Goodfellowship Club, 20; John Esposito, Amvets, 22; Davis, Hi Dee Bar, 25; Challinor, Cumberland K. of C., 20; Saum, Fisher and Robinette, 19; "Poodles" Stewart, Frostburg Legion, 13; Olin Duckworth, Stadium Inn, 20; King, Mt. Savage V.F.W., 17; Bob Powers, Cas Taylor's, 19.

SLIPPERY FINGERS

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—After four games, Nebraska football coach Bill Glassford claimed a spot at the weeping wall. His team had fumbled 13 times and lost the ball on 12 of these bobbles. His clubs hadn't then won a ball game but did have a surprise 21-21 tie with Illinois. In that game Nebraska fumbled only once.

Romney High School's Pioneers put a seven-game winning streak on the line today when they come to grips with Petersburg High's Vikings in the feature attraction of the day in the Potomac Valley Conference.

The scene of action will be Romney and the officials will be John Shelton, Hubert Feeney and Larry Geiger.

Dick McElwee's Pioneers, battling for recognition in the West Virginia Class "B" title chase, and Petersburg have not met on the gridiron since 1950 when the Hampshire countians won by the score of 47-13. Romney also won the 1949, 1948 and 1947 contests but was held to a scoreless tie by the Grant county school in 1946.

Petersburg, like Romney, is enjoying a banner season, having won four, lost one and tied one. Jesse Riggleman's outfit suffered its only loss at the hands of LaSalle's Explorers and battled Moorefield to a scoreless tie.

Romney is battling it out with Keyser for the P. V. C. lead and will be angling for its fourth consecutive win. Petersburg is 4-0-1 in the nine school circuit.

Keyser Has Breather

Keyser High School's Golden Tornado is figured to romp over the West Virginia School for the Deaf in a P. V. C. affair at Keyser today. The Lions have dropped six in a row and have yielded 234 points while Keyser with a 5-2-0 overall record will be shooting for its third straight victory in league competition.

The third P. V. C. tilt of the day finds Bob Hartman's Franklin Panthers invading Circleville for a contest with Guy Propst's Circleville High Indians. Franklin is having a good season with a 5-2 record and is expected to cop this one from its Pendleton county rival.

Jackets At Berkeley

Bob Sullivan's Parsons Panthers invade Doddridge county today to lock horns with the gridders of West Union High School. It's the Tucker team's 8th contest of the campaign and a victory will put it in the .500 class. Thomas High is idle today.

In other games Martinsburg High's Bulldogs host St. James School, Frederick High's Cadets play at Littlestown, Pa., and Bedford High's winless Bisons entertain Ferndale High's Yellow Jackets in a night contest at Bedford.

Clifton Fuller Plans To Attend Big Homecoming

Terp, South Carolina Contest Is Highlight

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — More than 4,000 University of Maryland alumni, including the school's first football quarterback and a Virginian who was graduated 73 years ago, are expected here Saturday for Homecoming Day.

Highlight of the day will be the afternoon football game between Maryland and the University of South Carolina.

Dr. Sumpter Griffith of Waynesboro, Va., a member of the class of 1880 and the school's oldest living alumnus, plans to attend as does Clifton E. Fuller of Cumberland, an 1896 graduate and quarterback of the first Maryland football team.

Activities will start with an alumni luncheon in the campus dining hall at 11:45 a.m. Dr. H.C. Byrd, president of the University, will be the speaker.

After the luncheon there will be a parade of student floats and selection of a Homecoming queen from a court of 27 campus beauties. The floats will enter the stadium between 1:30 and 2 p.m. and the queen is to be crowned at halftime. She will be escorted around the track in Byrd Stadium by Dr. Griffith and Fuller.

Two Hunters Die Of Heart Attacks

Deaths Are Reported As Season Reopens

[By The Associated Press]

Two squirrel hunters suffered heart attacks and died in the field Thursday on the first day of the reopened hunting season in West Virginia.

Both the victims were 72. Albert Ruddell Yerkey of near Glenville, who retired last year after 28 years as a maintenance supervisor at Glenville State College, died while hunting near his home.

Emory Stephen Harbert of Lumberport, a retired Hope Natural Gas Co. employe, was stricken and died while hunting near Big Rock Camp in Harrison County. Three hunting companions took Harbert's body to the nearest main road on a sledge borrowed from a farmer.

The hunting season was reopened Thursday after rains abated the state's fall forest fire outbreak. The season had been suspended Oct. 1 only a few hours after it began because the fire outbreak appeared to be attaining serious proportions.

Sportsmen who went into the field Thursday tramped through a chilly, drizzling rain in many parts of West Virginia.

KICK IN PANTS

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Here's a football play that really is a kick in the pants. It occurred during the Norfolk-Albion Junior High School game. The Norfolk team punted on fourth down. Ra Weaver took a healthy kick at the ball—but missed. Instead he kicked his quarterback square in the pants. Norfolk lost the ball but won the game by a score of 19-5.

Flintstone High To Battle Valley For First Place

Important WMI Game Is Set For Barton

A battle for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League is scheduled for today at Barton where Coach Johnny Meyers' Valley High booters battle Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone High Aggies at 3:30 o'clock.

Valley High leads the championship race with a 4-1-1 record and nine points while Flintstone holds the runner-up spot with 4-1-0 and eight points.

A victory or a tie would enable the Black Knights to stay out in front. Flintstone must defeat Valley High to take over the league leadership.

The Mt. Savage at Bruce game scheduled for yesterday in Westernport was postponed until next Wednesday on account of the muddy condition of the field.

Hogan Voted Pro Golfer Of The Year

Ben Wins 4th Time, Worsham Runner-Up

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — Ben Hogan today won by an overwhelming margin the PGA honor as "Professional Golfer of the Year."

Hogan, winning the award for the fourth time, was named on a record-breaking 803 ballots from PGA members and the nation's sports writers. He had a 748 plurality over his nearest rival, Lew Worsham.

Worsham, who holed an eagle 2 wedge shot to win the Tam O'Shanter "World" title and a $25,000 check, was mentioned on 55 ballots in the poll. Walter Burkemo, 1953 PGA titlist, was third with 22 votes.

The other votes were distributed among Lloyd Mangrum (7), Doug Ford and Chandler Harper (5), Porky Oliver, Sam Snead and PGA President Horton Smith (3), and Dutch Harrison (2). Receiving one vote was the 1952 award winner, Julius Boros, and Dave Douglas, Pete Cooper, Tommy Bolt, Leo Biagetti and Duke Gibson.

The award capped the 41-year-old Hogan's sensational season of record-shattering performances in the Masters and British Open and his equally brilliant conquest in the United States Open.

Maryland Squad Drills Indoors

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — A heavy rain drove the University of Maryland Terrapins indoors today, knocking them out of a final heavy day of work for their homecoming game against South Carolina here Saturday.

The squad went through 30 minutes of calisthenics in sweatsuits at the campus armory then reviewed game movies. Ordinarily, there would have been heavy work afield.

By custom, Coach Jim Tatum schedules no field practice for the day before a game, so tomorrow's session will consist of a two-hour blackboard session.

Work Pass Defense

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 28 (AP)—Passes filled the air today on the William and Mary practice field as Coach Jack Freeman worked his Indians on pass offense and defense. North Carolina State plays were used by the freshmen, who provided opposition for the varsity.

There was no heavy body contact—nothing but dummy scrimmage. The practice ended with tackling practice on dummies.

Neff With '16 Champs
Mel Henry Is Quoted
Grid Rules Different
Polar Bears Explode

By C. V. BURNS

DR. Charles Thompson (Ted) Neff, 54, vice president of West Virginia University, who died in Morgantown Tuesday, was the regular center of Piedmont High School, champions of the Upper Potomac Basketball League in 1916.

Piedmont and Allegany wound up the regular season in a tie for first place and in the playoff for the title at Keyser, Piedmont won by the score of 25-19.

Other members of the Mineral county quint were Charles and Oscar Mullen, "Dip" Lashorn, Tom Gocke, who is now Dr. Gocke, of Clarksburg, and Hill.

Allegany's players were Charles "Big Zim" Zimmermann, now a well known Cumberland medical surgeon; Thorner Smith, John Deetz, Lester Kline, Al Cromwell and Preston Gaither.

HERE'S WHAT Coach Mel Henry had to say about Fort Hill after he returned to Hagerstown and was asked whether the Sentinels had a bad night or weren't all they were cracked up to be.

"I can't say the team impressed me," Mel declared. "They've been running up some big scores, but look at the opposition. There's no doubt they've been playing an easy schedule while we've been meeting some pretty fair ball clubs.

"The Sentinels don't show much finesse. They're a strong bull-ish team but I think they'll have trouble with any good ball club. They have been beating those smaller schools which haven't done much, you know."

TWO RULE BOOKS were necessary the other day when Westmount High of Montreal played Proctor Academy of Andover, N. H., because Canadian football rules differ from those in the U. S.

In Canada only three downs are allowed to make 10 yards. Twelve players are used instead of eleven, with the extra man being stationed in the backfield.

Blocking is not allowed beyond the line of scrimmage for backs. Linemen have a little more leeway; they may block five yards beyond the line.

The value of a touchdown under Canadian rules is five points.

In the Westmount-Proctor game, Canadian rules were used for one half and American rules the other half.

FREDDIE COLWILL, Maryland's best known racing secretary, who officiates at Fairgo annually, expressed the opinion the other day that Tom Fool is the best horse to race in the last 25 years.

That's also the opinion of John P. Turner, Jr., a former Cumberland racing secretary and now director of racing at Pimlico.

Tom Fool carried 128 pounds in the Suburban Handicap and later carried 135 pounds in the Carter Handicap. The more the weight the more Jock Whitney felt his horse was being honored.

The only reason Tom Fool, who was retired to the stud the other day, isn't better known and regarded by the general public is that he was sick when last year's Triple Crown races were run.

To be a national idol, a horse has almost got to win some of those big three-year-old races.

THAT MUST have been a thriller at Indiana, Pa., the other day when Westmont High of Johnstown pulled the game out of the fire on a pass play that covered 100 yards. Tied at 7-7, Westmont won on the last play of the game when Quarterback Hal Fuge faded to his goal line and uncorked a 35-yard aerial to Jim Hemphill who raced 65 yards to score although time had run out. Final score: Westmont 13, Indiana 7.

WEST FAIRMONT's Polar Bears trounced Elkins last weekend by the score of 37-12 in a game featured by the play of Jim Urbaniak who scored four touchdowns.

The setback was the third

Mantle Will Undergo Operation On Monday

Mantle pulled a cartilege in his right knee in the second game of the 1951 World Series and was out for the rest of the series. He reinjured the joint last August.

Fort Hill High School's gridiron Sentinels are scheduled to invade Carroll County tonight for their third annual contest with Westminster High School. The game is set for 8 o'clock.

Coach William P. Hahn's Hilltoppers will be striving to return to the win column after two eventful weekends during which they saw their four-game victory streak snapped by Handley High at Winchester, Va., followed by a scoreless tie with Hagerstown.

The Westminster game is one of the three remaining on the Sentinels' schedule. Next week they tackle Franklin Borough High of Johnstown here and windup the campaign with Allegany High on Thanksgiving Day.

Fort Hill opened football relations with Westminster in 1951 and has swept two games by decisive scores, 32-0 and 34-6. Westminster dropped a 6-0 decision to Hagerstown before the Hubs fought Fort Hill to a 0-0 stalemate.

The Owls, coached by Herb Ruby, have won their last three games from Bel Air, Delone of near Hanover, and Laurel, after dropping the first three games of the season.

Leahy Leaves Hospital, To View Game At Home

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29 (INS) — Football Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame checked out of St. Joseph Hospital at South Bend tonight but will be unable to direct the Fighting Irish against Navy next Saturday.

Dr. Nicholas Johns pronounced his condition satisfactory today, but Leahy will be confined to his home at Long Beach, Ind., where he will view the Navy game over television.

Three of Leahy's assistants, Joe McArdle, Bill Early and Bob McBride, will take over his coaching duties for the Irish Saturday.

SLIPPERY FINGERS

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—After four games, Nebraska football coach Bill Glassford claimed a spot at the weeping wall. His team had fumbled 13 times and lost the ball on 12 of these bobbles. His clubs hadn't then won a ball game but did have a surprise 21-21 tie with Illinois. In that game Nebraska fumbled only once.

Vikings Meet Unbeaten Romney Pioneers Today

Clifton Fuller Plans To Attend Big Homecoming

Terp, South Carolina Contest Is Highlight

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — More than 4,000 University of Maryland alumni, including the school's first football quarterback and a Virginian who was graduated 73 years ago, are expected here Saturday for Homecoming Day.

Highlight of the day will be the afternoon football game between Maryland and the University of South Carolina.

Dr. Sumpter Griffith of Waynesboro, Va., a member of the class of 1880 and the school's oldest living alumnus, plans to attend as does Clifton E. Fuller of Cumberland, an 1896 graduate and quarterback of the first Maryland football team.

Activities will start with an alumni luncheon in the campus dining hall at 11:45 a.m. Dr. H.C. Byrd, president of the University, will be the speaker.

After the luncheon there will be a parade of student floats and selection of a Homecoming queen from a court of 27 campus beauties. The floats will enter the stadium between 1:30 and 2 p.m. and the queen is to be crowned at halftime. She will be escorted around the track in Byrd Stadium by Dr. Griffith and Fuller.

Romney High School's Pioneers put a seven-game winning streak on the line today when they come to grips with Petersburg High's Vikings in the feature attraction of the day in the Potomac Valley Conference.

The scene of action will be Romney and the officials will be John Shelton, Hubert Feeney and Larry Geiger.

Dick McElwee's Pioneers, battling for recognition in the West Virginia Class "B" title chase, and Petersburg have not met on the gridiron since 1950 when the Hampshire countians won by the score of 47-13. Romney also won the 1949, 1948 and 1947 contests but was held to a scoreless tie by the Grant county school in 1946.

Petersburg, like Romney, is enjoying a banner season, having won four, lost one and tied one. Jesse Riggleman's outfit suffered its only loss at the hands of LaSalle's Explorers and battled Moorefield to a scoreless tie.

Romney is battling it out with Keyser for the P. V. C. lead and will be angling for its fourth consecutive win. Petersburg is 4-0-1 in the nine school circuit.

Keyser Has Breather

Keyser High School's Golden Tornado is figured to romp over the West Virginia School for the Deaf in a P. V. C. affair at Keyser today. The Lions have dropped six in a row and have yielded 234 points while Keyser with a 5-2-0 overall record will be shooting for its third straight victory in league competition.

The third P. V. C. tilt of the day finds Bob Hartman's Franklin Panthers invading Circleville for a contest with Guy Propst's Circleville High Indians. Franklin is having a good season with a 5-2 record and is expected to cop this one from its Pendleton county rival.

Jackets At Berkeley

Bob Sullivan's Parsons Panthers invade Doddridge county today to lock horns with the gridders of West Union High School. It's the Tucker team's 8th contest of the campaign and a victory will put it in the .500 class. Thomas High is idle today.

In other games Martinsburg High's Bulldogs host St. James School, Frederick High's Cadets play at Littlestown, Pa., and Bedford High's winless Bisons entertain Ferndale High's Yellow Jackets in a night contest at Bedford.

Two Hunters Die Of Heart Attacks

Deaths Are Reported As Season Reopens

[By The Associated Press]

Two squirrel hunters suffered heart attacks and died in the field Thursday on the first day of the reopened hunting season in West Virginia.

Both the victims were 72. Albert Ruddell Yerkey of near Glenville, who retired last year after 28 years as a maintenance supervisor at Glenville State College, died while hunting near his home.

Emory Stephen Harbert of Lumberport, a retired Hope Natural Gas Co. employe, was stricken and died while hunting near Big Rock Camp in Harrison County. Three hunting companions took Harbert's body to the nearest main road on a sledge borrowed from a farmer.

The hunting season was reopened Thursday after rains abated the state's fall forest fire outbreak. The season had been suspended Oct. 1 only a few hours after it began because the fire outbreak appeared to be attaining serious proportions.

Sportsmen who went into the field Thursday tramped through a chilly, drizzling rain in many parts of West Virginia.

KICK IN PANTS

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Here's a football play that really is a kick in the pants. It occurred during the Norfolk-Albion Junior High School game. The Norfolk team punted on fourth down. Ra Weaver took a healthy kick at the ball—but missed. Instead he kicked his quarterback square in the pants. Norfolk lost the ball but won the game by a score of 19-5.

Flintstone High To Battle Valley For First Place

Important WMI Game Is Set For Barton

A battle for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League is scheduled for today at Barton where Coach Johnny Meyers' Valley High booters battle Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone High Aggies at 3:30 o'clock.

Valley High leads the championship race with a 4-1-1 record and nine points while Flintstone holds the runner-up spot with 4-1-0 and eight points.

A victory or a tie would enable the Black Knights to stay out in front. Flintstone must defeat Valley High to take over the league leadership.

The Mt. Savage at Bruce game scheduled for yesterday in Westernport was postponed until next Wednesday on account of the muddy condition of the field.

The league race ends one week from today.

Hogan Voted Pro Golfer Of The Year

Ben Wins 4th Time, Worsham Runner-Up

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — Ben Hogan today won by an overwhelming margin the PGA honor as "Professional Golfer of the Year."

Hogan, winning the award for the fourth time, was named on a record-breaking 803 ballots from PGA members and the nation's sports writers. He had a 748 plurality over his nearest rival, Lew Worsham.

Worsham, who holed an eagle 2 wedge shot to win the Tarn O'Shanter "World" title and a $25,000 check, was mentioned on 55 ballots in the poll. Walter Burkemo, 1953 PGA titlist, was third with 22 votes.

The other votes were distributed among Lloyd Mangrum (7), Doug Ford and Chandler Harper (5), Porky Oliver, Sam Snead and PGA President Horton Smith (3), and Dutch Harrison (2). Receiving one vote was the 1952 award winner, Julius Boros, and Dave Douglas, Pete Cooper, Tommy Bolt, Leo Biagetti and Duke Gibson.

The award capped the 41-year-old Hogan's sensational season of record-shattering performances in the Masters and British Open and his equally brilliant conquest in the United States Open.

This is the sixth year of the award. Snead won in 1949 and Boros last year.

Maryland Squad Drills Indoors

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — A heavy rain drove the University of Maryland Terrapins indoors today, knocking them out of a final heavy day of work for their homecoming game against South Carolina here Saturday.

The squad went through 30 minutes of calisthenics in sweatsuits at the campus armory then reviewed game movies. Ordinarily, there would have been heavy work afield.

By custom, Coach Jim Tatum schedules no field practice for the day before a game, so tomorrow's session will consist of a two-hour blackboard session.

Work Pass Defense

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 28 (AP)—Passes filled the air today on the William and Mary practice field as Coach Jack Freeman worked his Indians on pass offense and defense. North Carolina State plays were used by the freshmen, who provided opposition for the varsity.

There was no heavy body contact—nothing but dummy scrimmage. The practice ended with tackling practice on dummies.

Neff With '16 Champs

Mel Henry Is Quoted

Grid Rules Different

Polar Bears Explode

By C. V. BURNS

DR. Charles Thompson (Ted) Neff, 54, vice president of West Virginia University, who died in Morgantown Tuesday, was the regular center of Piedmont High School, champions of the Upper Potomac Basketball League in 1916.

Piedmont and Allegany wound up the regular season in a tie for first place and in the playoff for the title at Keyser. Piedmont won by the score of 25-19.

Other members of the Mineral county quint were Charles and Oscar Mullen, "Dip" Lashorn, Tom Gocke, who is now Dr. Gocke, of Clarksburg, and Hill.

Allegany's players were Charles "Big Zim" Zimmermann, now a well known Cumberland medical surgeon; Thorner Smith, John Deetz, Lester Kline, Al Cromwell and Preston Gaither.

HERE'S WHAT Coach Mel Henry had to say about Fort Hill after he returned to Hagerstown and was asked whether the Sentinels had a bad night or weren't all they were cracked up to be.

"I can't say the team impressed me," Mel declared. "They've been running up some big scores, but look at the opposition. There's no doubt they've been playing an easy schedule while we've been meeting some pretty fair ball clubs.

"The Sentinels don't show much finesse. They're a strong bull-ish team but I think they'll have trouble with any good ball club. They have been beating those smaller schools which haven't done much, you know."

TWO RULE BOOKS were necessary the other day when Westmount High of Montreal played Proctor Academy of Andover, N. H., because Canadian football rules differ from those in the U. S.

In Canada only three downs are allowed to make 10 yards. Twelve players are used instead of eleven, with the extra man being stationed in the backfield.

Blocking is not allowed beyond the line of scrimmage for backs. Linemen have a little more leeway; they may block five yards beyond the line.

The value of a touchdown under Canadian rules is five points.

In the Westmount-Proctor game, Canadian rules were used for one half and American rules the other half.

FREDDIE COLWILL, Maryland's best known racing secretary, who officiates at Fairgo annually, expressed the opinion the other day that Tom Fool is the best horse to race in the last 25 years.

That's also the opinion of John P. Turner, Jr., a former Cumberland racing secretary and now director of racing at Pimlico.

Tom Fool carried 128 pounds in the Suburban Handicap and later carried 135 pounds in the Carter Handicap. The more the weight the more Jock Whitney felt his horse was being honored.

The only reason Tom Fool, who was retired to the stud the other day, isn't better known and regarded by the general public is that he was sick when last year's Triple Crown races were run.

To be a national idol, a horse has almost got to win some of those big three-year-old races.

THAT MUST have been a thriller at Indiana, Pa., the other day when Westmont High of Johnstown pulled the game out of the fire on a pass play that covered 100 yards. Tied at 7-7, Westmont won on the last play of the game when Quarterback Hal Fuge faded to his goal line and uncorked a 35-yard aerial to Jim Hemphill who raced 65 yards to score although time had run out. Final score: Westmont 13, Indiana 7.

WEST FAIRMONT's Polar Bears trounced Elkins last weekend by the score of 37-12 in a game featured by the play of Jim Urbaniak who scored four touchdowns.

Mantle Will Undergo Operation On Monday

Mantle pulled a cartilege in his right knee in the second game of the 1951 World Series and was out for the rest of the series. He reinjured the joint last August.

Fort Hill High School's gridiron Sentinels are scheduled to invade Carroll County tonight for their third annual contest with Westminster High School. The game is set for 8 o'clock.

Coach William P. Hahn's Hilltoppers will be striving to return to the win column after two eventful weekends during which they saw their four-game victory streak snapped by Handley High at Winchester, Va., followed by a scoreless tie with Hagerstown.

The Westminster game is one of the three remaining on the Sentinels' schedule. Next week they tackle Franklin Borough High of Johnstown here and windup the campaign with Allegany High on Thanksgiving Day.

Fort Hill opened football relations with Westminster in 1951 and has swept two games by decisive scores, 32-0 and 34-6. Westminster dropped a 6-0 decision to Hagerstown before the Hubs fought Fort Hill to a 0-0 stalemate.

The Owls, coached by Herb Ruby, have won their last three games from Bel Air, Delone of near Hanover, and Laurel, after dropping the first three games of the season.

Leahy Leaves Hospital, To View Game At Home

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29 (INS) — Football Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame checked out of St. Joseph Hospital at South Bend tonight but will be unable to direct the Fighting Irish against Navy next Saturday.

Dr. Nicholas Johns pronounced his condition satisfactory today, but Leahy will be confined to his home at Long Beach, Ind., where he will view the Navy game over television.

West Virginia Picked To Top Nittany Lions

Notre Dame, Maryland, And SMU Also Favored

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Last Saturday was "Black Saturday" for the pigskin prophets, especially this one who came up with an all-time low of 17 slips in 45 games.

For picking Dixie's pride, Georgia Tech, over Notre Dame, we're not eating crow. We're having to eat chitterlings, collard greens, blackeyed peas and a side dish of grits.

Notre Dame over Navy: The Midshipmen were looking ahead to this one when beaten by Penn, but the Irish are still out to "win for Leahy."

Maryland over South Carolina: The second-ranked Terrapins, out to replace Notre Dame as No. 1, probably will pile up a big score.

UCLA over California: The best game on the Pacific Coast should go to the bowl-eager Uclans.

Illinois over Purdue: The Boilermakers spent themselves in beating Michigan State last week.

West Virginia over Penn State: The Mountaineers are so big they don't look at anybody under 220 pounds. Too tough for Penn State's Rados-Arnelle battery in the East's best game.

The others:

Friday night

Chattanooga over Louisville, VPI over The Citdael.

Saturday

Midwest—Ohio State over Northwestern, Pittsburgh over Minnesota, Michigan State over Oregon State.

Southwest—Rice over Kentucky.

Babe Zaharias Makes Record, Wax Variety

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — Babe Zaharias, who has smashed golf and other athletic records with the greatest of ease, had quite a struggle today with a record of the wax variety.

Harmonica-playing Babe and deep-voiced, guitar-playing Betty Dodd, also a pro golf star, worked hard and long at a recording studio (Universal) turning out two platters.

Their piece de resistance was a hill-billy ditty called "I Felt a Little Tear Drop Start."

Mrs. Zaharias, who this year staged a comeback from a cancer operation, has been playing a harmonica since she was a youngster.

But she "blew out" one during some 20 tries trying to get the "Little Tear Drop" wrapped up. The duo had to switch keys, but the music came out strong and with plenty of beat.

CONGRATS to William D. Evans, Jr., on his appointment as managing editor of the Fairmont (W.Va.) Times.

"Bill" began his newspaper career on that paper in 1923. He also worked on the Morgantown, Clarksburg, Martinsburg and Wheeling papers. In 1947 he returned to The Times as sports editor.

We first became acquainted with Evans in 1925 when the Middle Atlantic Baseball League made its debut. Larry Boggs was the other Fairmont sports scribe in those days. Wade Pepper was at Clarksburg, "Skeets" Fluharty at Wheeling and "Doc" Simon and George Cooper at Johnstown. Pepper and Simon have died but Cooper is still in harness on the Johnstown Tribune and Boggs remains on the staff of a Fairmont paper.

Evans will serve the Fairmont paper for the present at least in a dual capacity and will continue his sports column.

REMEMBER Johnny Chiodo, the clever Johnstown lightweight boxer of bygone days who pleased with about a half dozen performances in "Vic" Ricker's pro shows?

Johnny has opened a new gymnasium in Johnstown, Pa., and many of the amateur and pro boxers in that area are in training there.

MOOSE KRAUSE, director of athletics at Notre Dame, who is openly in favor of unrestricted television, was explaining his position recently at a luncheon in Chicago.

When he finished he was asked if he thought that uncontrolled football video would eventually kill the sport among lesser institutions.

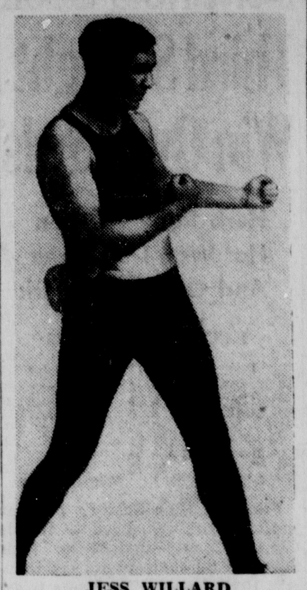
"No," Krause answered, "let them play their games on Friday nights."

"This would affect the high schools," he was told.

"Not necessarily," Krause declared, "they could play on Thursday nights."

Since Krause had four more nights to work on no more questions were asked.

Willard Slaps Boxing, Plugs Grid For Kids



JESS WILLARD
In His Heydey

"Too many fighters get hurt," he explained. "Why, we've got 20,000 punch-drunk fighters in this country now. By that I mean they've been hurt in the ring.

Big Jess was in Dallas to appear at "The Circus Side Show," at the State Fair of Texas.

He recalled his heydey in the ring. "Sure, I went into the business, but not with my heart. I won the title in 1915 from Jack Johnson. It was a long fight—26 rounds. It was in Havana, Cuba, and the temperature was 115 degrees in the shade. Only there wasn't any shade.

"I'd trained pretty good for about four months. When I entered the ring that day I weighed 238. When the fight was over I had lost 10 pounds."

Willard will be 70 years old in December but doesn't look it. He's a real estate dealer in California now.

Md. Legislators Question Fees Of Architects

Claim Cost Of Plans For Schools Too High

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP) — State legislators questioned today whether too much money was being spent on school construction because of high architects' fees.

House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) said a Legislative Council committee would call in spokesmen for the Department of Education and architects to study the costs.

Both Republicans and Democrats were critical of blueprint expenses as the council, between-sessions sounding board of the Legislature, heard pleas for more money from the state to build schools.

The council also heard the state's two ranking fiscal officers attack proposals for an automatic tax reduction plan and elimination of the real estate tax as a means of paying off lons.

Elaborate Buildings

Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) contended some local schools boards want to erect "elaborate buildings" without reflecting public sentiment on construction.

He spoke up after C.W. Willis, superintendent of schools for Harford County, had commented on state outlays for roads and added: "I have not yet found a parent who thought more of a road than of his children."

Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert), Senate majority leader, and Del. Green (R-Garrett) suggested centralizing architectural work in a state agency would save money. For the most part architects are now hired for single projects, with approval of the State Department of Education.

Pressure Applied

Goldstein said a bill by Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) to consolidate construction plans provoked architects to apply "so much pressure on the Legislature that it never saw the light of day."

Sen. McLaughlin (R-Washington) asserting a "clique" dominated school designing, said individual architects had told the state department for years that money could be saved.

"They never get employed," he said.

Dr. David S. Jenkins insisted public bodies "can't employ the quality of architectural service that you can get in the open market."

Jenkins and Willis said many counties have reached a point where they are unable to finance new schools needed for expanding enrollments.

Bill Was Scrapped

They supported a bill scrapped in the last General Assembly session to enlarge the state's building incentive fund. This now makes up the difference whenever 5 cents on the local tax rate fails to raise $10 per pupil. The proposal would have the state supply an additional $10 for each pupil. Fiscal officers estimate it would cost about four millions.

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and treasurer Hooper S. Miles opposed the two tax measures with arguments echoing objections made while they were before the Legislature.

Tawes said the days of surplus funds in the state treasury are "coming to a close." He said it would be academic in this situation to discuss an automatic tax reduction program similar to that used in Virginia.

The Legislature may always cut taxes if a surplus develops, he said. He opposed writing a required procedure into law.

Building Permits Total $510,065

The permits issued this month include 13 new construction jobs, including six residences, estimated to cost a total of $54,000, and eight addition and repair jobs which will cost about $25,650.

October construction rose considerably above September, when the value of work planned was $46,950.

The total of all building permits so far this year stood at $510,065 yesterday.

Local Bus Line

the results of the conference, assured city officials the Cumberland situation is not unique and that transportation problems are arising everywhere as demands for public transportation fall off.

Giardina was accompanied by Thomas L. Lovelace, junior assistant utilities engineer, and Dorn I. Gamber, PSC inspector.

Present Report

An official of the Maryland Public Service Commission presented to the Mayor and Council the report on its study of the operations of the Cumberland Transit Lines.

The report was signed by Thomas J. Lovelace Jr., junior assistant utility engineer who was in charge of the survey taken October 14, 15 and 16.

Lovelace's report said the traffic check was made at Baltimore and George streets which is the hub of the line's various routes.

The check indicated that in many instances the company is not maintaining from that point present schedules to Narrows Park, Bowman's Addition, Patterson Avenue-Kelly and Baltimore Avenue and Kelly.

"It was observed that bus operations were disrupted by trains blocking the crossings and by general traffic conditions.

Runs Are Adequate

"A study of past and present patronage of the company's buses taken from receipts and from traffic checks made, indicates service from Baltimore Street to Narrows Park, Baltimore Street and Patterson-Park-Kelly, and Baltimore Street to Baltimore Avenue is sufficient to handle the carrier's present patronage," Lovelace stated.

On the Bowman's Addition and Mapleside study it was indicated the service is curtailed between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. under the schedule that went into effect October 1, Lovelace reported.

The engineer said he believed service to those points between those hours should be restored.

This can be accomplished, he said, by scheduling an additional bus to operate from Bowman's Addition to Baltimore Street to Mapleside. This would provide one-half hour service to Mapleside and hourly service to Bowman's addition, Lovelace added.

To Revise Schedule

The report further stated:

"After 9 a. m. this Bowman's Addition bus would also be released from service and its time would be utilized in allowing sufficient recovery time on the coordinating schedules which as previously indicated is needed.

"During the course of our investigation it was ascertained that many of the complaints registered were due to the failure of the carrier to properly advertise or notify the public of the changes it was making.

"The schedule the carrier eventually distributed was confusing and must be simplified in order to be clearly understood by the users of the service.

"Mr. Davis was advised of this fact and stated he would attempt to revise the schedule and publish it as soon as possible.

"The company at present under its union contract is required to post 30-day notices of schedule changes for its drivers in order for them to pick runs. This has the effect of a premature public release of proposed schedule changes which are misconstrued in many instances, which create false impressions and which result in unwarranted complaints even from areas not affected.

"It is suggested that any further schedule be posted and advertised for the public simultaneously with the posting for the drivers.

"Another reason for considerable complaint was the failure of the carrier to provide for a 5:15 p. m. schedule from Baltimore Street to Bowman's Addition. This was quickly recognized by the carrier but was not advertised in time to prevent complaints.

"In the publicizing of the schedules that went into effect October 1 some confusion also existed insofar as service to the various plants was concerned.

"This was corrected to the satisfaction of the various plant managements almost immediately.

Study Suggested

"During the survey we were advised by Mr. Davis that Mr. M. E. Barnhart, superintendent of transportation, had been relieved of that capacity on October 1 and that no replacement had been made. The lack of proper operating supervision was very noticeable during the duration of the investigation and it has been strongly urged that the said post be filled.

"While no study was made of Sunday operations, a cursory examination of the carrier's records revealed that very little use is made of the service on Sundays.

"However, it does appear from complaints received that the schedule presently in operation should be restudied and adjusted to better serve the patrons attending Sunday church services.

"It is quite obvious that the company's public relations are very poor and this accounts for much of the hostile attitude that has been expressed by the patrons of the lines and the general public.

"No study was made of the carrier's Ridgeley-Carpenter's Addition to West Virginia which is an interstate operation.

"The route in Maryland is approximately one-half mile in length and we were informed by operators that rarely is an intra-state passenger carried."

Plan Turkey Shoot

Clifford B. Sisler Post No. 9451, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Oldtown, will hold a turkey and ham shoot Sunday at 1 p. m. on their club house grounds, Uhl Highway. Shot guns of .12, .16, and .20 guage will be used. Members of the ladies auxiliary will serve refreshments.

West Virginia Picked To Top Nittany Lions

Notre Dame, Maryland, And SMU Also Favored

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Last Saturday was "Black Saturday" for the pigskin prophets, especially this one who came up with an all-time low of 17 slips in 45 games.

For picking Dixie's pride, Georgia Tech, over Notre Dame, we're not eating crow. We're having to eat chitterlings, collard greens, blackeyed peas and a side dish of grits.

Notre Dame over Navy: The Midshipmen were looking ahead to this one when beaten by Penn, but the Irish are still out to "win for Leahy."

Maryland over South Carolina: The second-ranked Terrapins, out to replace Notre Dame as No. 1, probably will pile up a big score.

UCLA over California: The best game on the Pacific Coast should go to the bowl-eager Uclans.

Illinois over Purdue: The Boilermakers spent themselves in beating Michigan State last week.

West Virginia over Penn State: The Mountaineers are so big they don't look at anybody under 220 pounds. Too tough for Penn State's Rados-Arnelle battery in the East's best game.

The others:

Friday night

Chattanooga over Louisville, VPI over The Citdael.

Saturday

Southwest—Rice over Kentucky.

Babe Zaharias Makes Record, Wax Variety

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — Babe Zaharias , who has smashed golf and other athletic records with the greatest of ease, had quite a struggle today with a record of the wax variety.

Harmonica-playing Babe and deep-voiced, guitar-playing Betty Dodd, also a pro golf star, worked hard and long at a recording studio (Universal) turning out two platters.

Their piece de resistance was a hill-billy ditty called "I Felt a Little Tear Drop Start."

Mrs. Zaharias, who this year staged a comeback from a cancer operation, has been playing a harmonica since she was a youngster.

But she "blew out" one during some 20 tries trying to get the "Little Tear Drop" wrapped up. The duo had to switch keys, but the music came out strong and with plenty of beat.

Sport Slants

CONGRATS to William D. Evans, Jr., on his appointment as managing editor of the Fairmont (W.Va.) Times.

"Bill" began his newspaper career on that paper in 1923. He also worked on the Morgantown, Clarksburg, Martinsburg and Wheeling papers. In 1947 he returned to The Times as sports editor.

We first became acquainted with Evans in 1925 when the Middle Atlantic Baseball League made its debut. Larry Boggs was the other Fairmont sports scribe in those days. Wade Pepper was at Clarksburg, "Skeets" Fluharty at Wheeling and "Doc" Simon and George Cooper at Johnstown. Pepper and Simon have died but Cooper is still in harness on the Johnstown Tribune and Boggs remains on the staff of a Fairmont paper.

Evans will serve the Fairmont paper for the present at least in a dual capacity and will continue his sports column.

REMEMBER Johnny Chiodo, the clever Johnstown lightweight boxer of bygone days who pleased with about a half dozen performances in "Vic" Ricker's pro shows?

Johnny has opened a new gymnasium in Johnstown, Pa., and many of the amateur and pro boxers in that area are in training there.

MOOSE KRAUSE, director of athletics at Notre Dame, who is openly in favor of unrestricted television, was explaining his position recently at a luncheon in Chicago.

When he finished he was asked if he thought that uncontrolled football video would eventually kill the sport among lesser institutions.

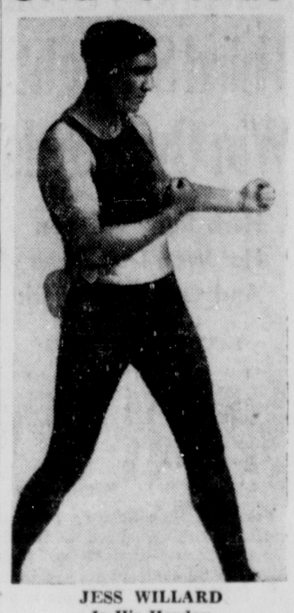
"This would affect the high schools," he was told.

"Not necessarily," Krause declared, "they could play on Thursday nights."

Since Krause had four more nights to work on no more questions were asked.

Willard Slaps Boxing, Plugs Grid For Kids



JESS WILLARD
In His Heydey

"Too many fighters get hurt," he explained. "Why, we've got 20,000 punch-drunk fighters in this country now. By that I mean they've been hurt in the ring.

Big Jess was in Dallas to appear at "The Circus Side Show," at the State Fair of Texas.

He recalled his heydey in the ring. "Sure, I went into the business, but not with my heart. I won the title in 1915 from Jack Johnson. It was a long fight—26 rounds. It was in Havana, Cuba, and the temperature was 115 degrees in the shade. Only there wasn't any shade.

"I'd trained pretty good for about four months. When I entered the ring that day I weighed 238. When the fight was over I had lost 10 pounds."

Willard will be 70 years old in December but doesn't look it. He's a real estate dealer in California now.

Md. Legislators Question Fees Of Architects

Claim Cost Of Plans For Schools Too High

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP) — State legislators questioned today whether too much money was being spent on school construction because of high architects' fees.

House Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) said a Legislative Council committee would call in spokesmen for the Department of Education and architects to study the costs.

Both Republicans and Democrats were critical of blueprint expenses as the council, between-sessions sounding board of the Legislature, heard pleas for more money from the state to build schools.

The council also heard the state's two ranking fiscal officers attack proposals for an automatic tax reduction plan and elimination of the real estate tax as a means of paying off lons.

Elaborate Buildings

Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) contended some local schools boards want to erect "elaborate buildings" without reflecting public sentiment on construction.

He spoke up after C.W. Willis, superintendent of schools for Harford County, had commented on state outlays for roads and added: "I have not yet found a parent who thought more of a road than of his children."

Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert), Senate majority leader, and Del. Green (R-Garrett) suggested centralizing architectural work in a state agency would save money. For the most part architects are now hired for single projects, with approval of the State Department of Education.

Pressure Applied

Goldstein said a bill by Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) to consolidate construction plans provoked architects to apply "so much pressure on the Legislature that it never saw the light of day."

Sen. McLaughlin (R-Washington) asserting a "clique" dominated school designing, said individual architects had told the state department for years that money could be saved.

"They never get employed," he said.

Dr. David S. Jenkins insisted public bodies "can't employ the quality of architectural service that you can get in the open market."

Jenkins and Willis said many counties have reached a point where they are unable to finance new schools needed for expanding enrollments.

Bill Was Scrapped

They supported a bill scrapped in the last General Assembly session to enlarge the state's building incentive fund. This now makes up the difference whenever 5 cents on the local tax rate fails to raise $10 per pupil. The proposal would have the state supply an additional $10 for each pupil. Fiscal officers estimate it would cost about four millions.

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and treasurer Hooper S. Miles opposed the two tax measures with arguments echoing objections made while they were before the Legislature.

Tawes said the days of surplus funds in the state treasury are "coming to a close." He said it would be academic in this situation to discuss an automatic tax reduction program similar to that used in Virginia.

The Legislature may always cut taxes if a surplus develops, he said. He opposed writing a required procedure into law.

Building Permits Total $510,065

The permits issued this month include 13 new construction jobs, including six residences, estimated to cost a total of $54,000, and eight addition and repair jobs which will cost about $25,650.

October construction rose considerably above September, when the value of work planned was $46,950.

The total of all building permits so far this year stood at $510,065 yesterday.

Local Bus Line

the results of the conference, assured city officials the Cumberland situation is not unique and that transportation problems are arising everywhere as demands for public transportation fall off.

Giardina was accompanied by Thomas L. Lovelace, junior assistant utilities engineer, and Dorn I. Gamber, PSC inspector.

Present Report

An official of the Maryland Public Service Commission presented to the Mayor and Council the report on its study of the operations of the Cumberland Transit Lines.

The report was signed by Thomas J. Lovelace Jr., junior assistant utility engineer who was in charge of the survey taken October 14, 15 and 16.

Lovelace's report said the traffic check was made at Baltimore and George streets which is the hub of the line's various routes.

The check indicated that in many instances the company is not maintaining from that point present schedules to Narrows Park, Bowman's Addition, Patterson Avenue-Kelly and Baltimore Avenue and Kelly.

"It was observed that bus operations were disrupted by trains blocking the crossings and by general traffic conditions.

Runs Are Adequate

"A study of past and present patronage of the company's buses taken from receipts and from traffic checks made, indicates service from Baltimore Street to Narrows Park, Baltimore Street and Patterson-Park-Kelly, and Baltimore Street to Baltimore Avenue is sufficient to handle the carrier's present patronage," Lovelace stated.

On the Bowman's Addition and Mapleside study it was indicated the service is curtailed between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. under the schedule that went into effect October 1, Lovelace reported.

The engineer said he believed service to those points between those hours should be restored.

This can be accomplished, he said, by scheduling an additional bus to operate from Bowman's Addition to Baltimore Street to Mapleside. This would provide one-half hour service to Mapleside and hourly service to Bowman's addition, Lovelace added.

To Revise Schedule

The report further stated:

"After 9 a. m. this Bowman's Addition bus would also be released from service and its time would be utilized in allowing sufficient recovery time on the coordinating schedules which as previously indicated is needed.

"During the course of our investigation it was ascertained that many of the complaints registered were due to the failure of the carrier to properly advertise or notify the public of the changes it was making.

"The schedule the carrier eventually distributed was confusing and must be simplified in order to be clearly understood by the users of the service.

"Mr. Davis was advised of this fact and stated he would attempt to revise the schedule and publish it as soon as possible.

"The company at present under its union contract is required to post 30-day notices of schedule changes for its drivers in order for them to pick runs. This has the effect of a premature public release of proposed schedule changes which are misconstrued in many instances, which create false impressions and which result in unwarranted complaints even from areas not affected.

"It is suggested that any further schedule be posted and advertised for the public simultaneously with the posting for the drivers.

"Another reason for considerable complaint was the failure of the carrier to provide for a 5:15 p. m. schedule from Baltimore Street to Bowman's Addition. This was quickly recognized by the carrier but was not advertised in time to prevent complaints.

"In the publicizing of the schedules that went into effect October 1 some confusion also existed insofar as service to the various plants was concerned.

"This was corrected to the satisfaction of the various plant managements almost immediately.

Study Suggested

"During the survey we were advised by Mr. Davis that Mr. M. E. Barnhart, superintendent of transportation, had been relieved of that capacity on October 1 and that no replacement had been made. The lack of proper operating supervision was very noticeable during the duration of the investigation and it has been strongly urged that the said post be filled.

"While no study was made of Sunday operations, a cursory examination of the carrier's records revealed that very little use is made of the service on Sundays.

"However, it does appear from complaints received that the schedule presently in operation should be restudied and adjusted to better serve the patrons attending Sunday church services.

"It is quite obvious that the company's public relations are very poor and this accounts for much of the hostile attitude that has been expressed by the patrons of the lines and the general public.

"No study was made of the carrier's Ridgeley-Carpenter's Addition to West Virginia which is an interstate operation.

Baltimore Gets A. L. Franchise From Harridge

Browns' Stockholders Receive $2,475,000

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, handed Baltimore a franchise today and then threw it a challenge to beat the attendance record set in Milwaukee last year.

Harridge called the Braves' National League attendance record of 1,826,397 the "Miracle at Milwaukee" after they transferred from Boston.

"To me, it poses a real challenge for Baltimore," he told a luncheon celebrating official transfer of the St. Louis Browns. He expressed confidence that Baltimore fans will not only want to match Milwaukee, "but to beat it."

The two transfers to Milwaukee and Baltimore were the first in the major leagues in half a century. The last, incidentally, was from Baltimore to the New York Yankees.

Baltimore was voted back in the American League exactly one month ago in New York after twice being turned down. It became official this morning when Clarence W. Miles, a lawyer heading a local syndicate, gave a check for $2,475,000 to Sidney Schiff, a Chicago lawyer, representing owners of 80 per cent of the stock in the Browns.

The Baltimore Orioles, as the new team will be known to replace one of the same name in the International League, shouldn't have much trouble bettering the St. Louis attendance. The last place Browns drew only 310,914 last year.

ATHLETIC HEROES, PAST AND PRESENT, RETURN HOME

The Pie King, British Champ, Tosses Jockey

Bolts Quarter Mile While In Training

By JOHN CHANDLER

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 29 (AP) — The Pie King, British 2-year-old champion, provided the excitement as a large field of around 18 2-year-old horses put in their final training for the world's richest horse race — the $260,000 Garden State Stakes Saturday.

While heavy rain pelted the track this morning, The Pie King broke away from his starting gate, unseated British Jockey Tommy Gosling, and bolted a quarter of a mile to his barn.

Gosling, who is Winston Churchill's jockey, was uninjured. When the British colt broke from the starting gate, which was unfamiliar because the contraptions are not used abroad, he slipped. At the same time the saddle girth slipped, and Gosling was in the mud.

Jumps Four Foot Fence

The Pie King, owned by Ray Bell and Elwood Johnston of Los Angeles, sped down the track, jumped a four foot fence which he cleared by two feet, and never stopped until he got to his stable door.

Bell and Johnston got a veterinarian, who said the colt suffered no ill effects. The Pie King, who won the Coventry, Richmond and Gimcrack Stakes in England, was flown to the U. S. two weeks ago.

"We don't know how fast he'll run, but he sure can jump," one observer remarked.

The probable favorite Saturday is C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, called by many the heir-apparent to the American juvenile championship. Fisherman won the Great American, Cowdin, Champagne and East View Stakes, and will be ridden by the veteran Canadian jockey, Headley Woodhouse.

Another leading contender for the rich purse, which will gross $266,395 if 18 start, is Joe Gavegnano's Errard King, champion of the New Jersey-Maryland circuit.

Errard King won the Tyro, World's Playground Stakes, the Longport Handicap and the Pimlico Futurity, and will be ridden by Sammy Boulmetis.

Winner May Get $161,521

R. S. Lytle's California colt, Correlation, is to be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, regarded as this country's premier pockey. Correlation finished second to Fisherman in the mile and one sixteenth East View Stakes, same distance as Saturday's Garden State gold mine scramble.

The winner of the Garden State stands to pocket a record $161,521 if 18 start. The second horse would collect $43,279, with $34,959 to third, and $13,318 to fourth—more money than most horses get for winning a stakes race.

Just to discourage owners of so-so horses from cluttering up the premises, it will cost $500 to pass the entry box tomorrow morning, and an additional $1,000 to start the race.

60 DAYS OFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Following his effors to regain the world's middleweight boxing championship in his losing bout with Bobo Olson, Randy Turpin of England was placed on the "ill and unavailable" list by the New York State Athletic Commission. He was given 60 days off due to a lacerated eye.

Araujo And Davis Clash At Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—George Araujo starts all over again tomorrow night in the same ring where he was knocked out by lightweight champion Johnny Carter in his ill-fated title bid.

Araujo, a newlywed, gets no soft touch in his Madison Square Garden return. He is matched with Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, who beat him in 10 rounds at Boston Sept. 10.

The 10-round bout, scheduled for 10 p. m. (EST) will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coast to coast.

The memory of Araujo's failure against a stronger champion, June 12, still is fresh. Carter knocked him down three times, prompting Referee Al Berl to stop the fight.

Despite this defeat and his upset by Davis, Araujo is a 9 to 5 favorite over the 30-year-old Davis, who is ranked No. 2 among the challengers in the featherweight division.

Sugar Says He'll Never Fight Again

IBC Denies Report Of $300,000 Offer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson said today he has quit the ring for good. "I'll never fight again," the ex-champion said, scotching reports that he was weighing an offer to challenge Bobo Olson, the middleweight titleholder.

Robinson who at one time held the welterweight and middleweight championships, retired last Dec. 18 to devote his full talents to his latest love, tap dancing. He's scheduled for a song and dance show here on Sunday.

The first report that Robinson was considering a comeback got out at the start of a barnstorming swing through 30 cities last week. Ray was quoted as saying he'd been offered a sizeable chunk of money to fight Olson.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, denied that Robinson had been offered anything like $300,000 or $350,000 to fight Olson.

But Markson said Robinson would be welcomed back to the ring if he decided on a comeback.

"If I fight again," Robinson said today, "it'll be because somebody hit me when I wasn't looking."

Practice In Mud

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28 (AP)—Richmond's Spiders, who've had to play in the mud on their last two visits to Boston, practiced in the mire here today in preparation for Saturday's meeting with Boston College.

The drills were devoted principally to a recheck of defensive assignments with emphasis on pass defense.

Baltimore Gets A. L. Franchise From Harridge

Browns' Stockholders Receive $2,475,000

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, handed Baltimore a franchise today and then threw it a challenge to beat the attendance record set in Milwaukee last year.

Harridge called the Braves' National League attendance record of 1,826,397 the "Miracle at Milwaukee" after they transferred from Boston.

"To me, it poses a real challenge for Baltimore," he told a luncheon celebrating official transfer of the St. Louis Browns. He expressed confidence that Baltimore fans will not only want to match Milwaukee, "but to beat it."

The two transfers to Milwaukee and Baltimore were the first in the major leagues in half a century. The last, incidentally, was from Baltimore to the New York Yankees.

Baltimore was voted back in the American League exactly one month ago in New York after twice being turned down. It became official this morning when Clarence W. Miles, a lawyer heading a local syndicate, gave a check for $2,475,000 to Sidney Schiff, a Chicago lawyer, representing owners of 80 per cent of the stock in the Browns.

The Baltimore Orioles, as the new team will be known to replace one of the same name in the International League, shouldn't have much trouble bettering the St. Louis attendance. The last place Browns drew only 310,914 last year.

The Pie King, British Champ, Tosses Jockey

By JOHN CHANDLER

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 29 (AP) — The Pie King, British 2-year-old champion, provided the excitement as a large field of around 18 2-year-old horses put in their final training for the world's richest horse race — the $260,000 Garden State Stakes Saturday.

While heavy rain pelted the track this morning, The Pie King broke away from his starting gate, unseated British Jockey Tommy Gosling, and bolted a quarter of a mile to his barn.

Gosling, who is Winston Churchill's jockey, was uninjured. When the British colt broke from the starting gate, which was unfamiliar because the contraptions are not used abroad, he slipped. At the same time the saddle girth slipped, and Gosling was in the mud.

Jumps Four Foot Fence

The Pie King, owned by Ray Bell and Elwood Johnston of Los Angeles, sped down the track, jumped a four foot fence which he cleared by two feet, and never stopped until he got to his stable door.

Bell and Johnston got a veterinarian, who said the colt suffered no ill effects. The Pie King, who won the Coventry, Richmond and Gimcrack Stakes in England, was flown to the U. S. two weeks ago.

"We don't know how fast he'll run, but he sure can jump," one observer remarked.

The probable favorite Saturday is C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, called by many the heir-apparent to the American juvenile championship. Fisherman won the Great American, Cowdin, Champagne and East View Stakes, and will be ridden by the veteran Canadian jockey, Headley Woodhouse.

Another leading contender for the rich purse, which will gross $266,395 if 18 start, is Joe Gavegnano's Errard King, champion of the New Jersey-Maryland circuit.

Errard King won the Tyro, World's Playground Stakes, the Longport Handicap and the Pimlico Futurity, and will be ridden by Sammy Boulmetis.

Winner May Get $161,521

R. S. Lytle's California colt, Correlation, is to be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, regarded as this country's premier pockey. Correlation finished second to Fisherman in the mile and one sixteenth East View Stakes, same distance as Saturday's Garden State gold mine scramble.

The winner of the Garden State stands to pocket a record $161,521 if 18 start. The second horse would collect $43,279, with $34,959 to third, and $13,318 to fourth—more money than most horses get for winning a stakes race.

Just to discourage owners of so-so horses from cluttering up the premises, it will cost $500 to pass the entry box tomorrow morning, and an additional $1,000 to start the race.

60 DAYS OFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Following his effors to regain the world's middleweight boxing championship in his losing bout with Bobo Olson, Randy Turpin of England was placed on the "ill and unavailable" list by the New York State Athletic Commission. He was given 60 days off due to a lacerated eye.

Araujo And Davis Clash At Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—George Araujo starts all over again tomorrow night in the same ring where he was knocked out by lightweight champion Johnny Carter in his ill-fated title bid.

Araujo, a newlywed, gets no soft touch in his Madison Square Garden return. He is matched with Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, who beat him in 10 rounds at Boston Sept. 10.

The 10-round bout, scheduled for 10 p. m. (EST) will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC) coast to coast.

The memory of Araujo's failure against a stronger champion, June 12, still is fresh. Carter knocked him down three times, prompting Referee Al Berl to stop the fight.

Despite this defeat and his upset by Davis, Araujo is a 9 to 5 favorite over the 30-year-old Davis, who is ranked No. 2 among the challengers in the featherweight division.

Sugar Says He'll Never Fight Again

IBC Denies Report Of $300,000 Offer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson said today he has quit the ring for good. "I'll never fight again," the ex-champion said, scotching reports that he was weighing an offer to challenge Bobo Olson, the middleweight titleholder.

Robinson who at one time held the welterweight and middleweight championships, retired last Dec. 18 to devote his full talents to his latest love, tap dancing. He's scheduled for a song and dance show here on Sunday.

The first report that Robinson was considering a comeback got out at the start of a barnstorming swing through 30 cities last week. Ray was quoted as saying he'd been offered a sizeable chunk of money to fight Olson.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, denied that Robinson had been offered anything like $300,000 or $350,000 to fight Olson.

But Markson said Robinson would be welcomed back to the ring if he decided on a comeback.

"If I fight again," Robinson said today, "it'll be because somebody hit me when I wasn't looking."

Practice In Mud

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 28 (AP)—Richmond's Spiders, who've had to play in the mud on their last two visits to Boston, practiced in the mire here today in preparation for Saturday's meeting with Boston College.

The drills were devoted principally to a recheck of defensive assignments with emphasis on pass defense.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (INS) — John Wayne, who has been up to his neck in his troubles with the strange Chata, took time out to personally sign Robert Stack for the role of Captain Sullivan in "The High and the Mighty."

The role of the cocky young pilot is one of the best ever to fall to Bob and I think he's a very good choice. Bob looked especially well when I saw him at the Hollywood Women's Press Club party and he was hopeful then of getting this picture.

"The High and the Mighty" goes before the cameras Nov. 15. John Wayne, who has been miserable with a recurrent cold, hopes to get a few days rest after the strain of the mud-slinging which he certainly didn't start.

I don't know how many people remember Lois Moran, who retired from pictures when she married Airline Executive Clarence M. Young, Lois was in "Stella Dallas" years and years ago.

Well, she's coming back to the screen in a new TV series called "Waterfront," in which she'll star opposite Preston Foster. Twenty-six pictures will be produced immediately at the Hal Roach Studios.

Lois has a 17-year-old son, and her chief occupation has been teaching dance therapy at the veterans hospital in Palo Alto. I'm told she is eager to return to her acting career.

The brand new infant born to Robert Newton arrived the day Newton signed up for an interesting deal.

British Bob, a model of propriety in these past few months, will be the star of a series based on a character he has played several times before — that of Long John Silver of "Treasurer Island" fame.

In fact, a new company has been formed under the title of Treasure Island Productions to make these films. Heading it is Joe Kaufman, producer; Byron Haskin, director; Marty Rackin, writer. The adventure films will be made on wide screen and in color directed specially to children.

Sonja Henie writes me from Stockholm saying that she'll be home for Christmas, but she's going to spend the month of November in her native Oslo. Her company will put on the ice show in France without her while she enjoys a vacation.

"Our weather has been so good," she said, "although we were prepared with raincoats, umbrellas and blankets, that newspapers are calling it Sonja weather.

"The crown prince and princess came to our opening night and the king came after he returned from Denmark. He sent me roses and a personal note. You, who know the whole story of the misunderstanding I had in Norway, will appreciate how very, very happy I am that everything is straightened out."

Rudy Fehr, Warner Brothers producer, and his wife are expecting their fourth baby next March. Mrs. Fehr is the former Warner actress, Maris Wrixon.

Myrna Loy plans to return to Washington as soon as her aunt, Mrs. Lou Wilder's estate is settled. Settling estates takes a long, long time.

Leonard Goldstein's brother, Bob, had no luck in borrowing Leonard's girl friend, Piper Laurie, for a London picture. U-I said no.

One of the greatest success stories in our town is Joyce Bryant, the singer who is such a hit at the Mocambo. Four years ago Joyce was a waitress in a restaurant just two blocks from the Mocambo.

The Hollywood scene won't be seeing Eddie Buzzell and his wife. Eddie has gone back to New York to direct the Milton Berle TV show.

From London comes word that Gloria Grahame swallowed some dye from her dress when she was dunked in a bathtub in a scene. She had such severe stomach pains she had to stay home for two days, and she was lucky she wasn't poisoned.

Lili St. Cyr writes that she made a picture for an independent company called "The Miami Story" and she's never yet been paid.

Ramon Navarro, the original Ben Hur, has gone to Italy where he'll discuss some film offers he's received.

Maxie Rosenbloom's contract with Charlie Foy (he opens there Tuesday) is written on the back of a Hollywood Park pari-mutuel ticket.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Be sure you know what bleaching entails in time and expense before you change your hair color!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"At the age of 37, my hair is turning very gray and I am considering having it bleached to a silver blonde shade," writes a reader. "Would you advise doing so?"

Whether to dye or bleach is a very personal problem and one on which I can therefore only point out some of the considerations involved in making such a decision.

First of all, do you know the time, money and care involved in maintaining a well-bleached or dyed head of hair? Make sure that you will not find these items too taxing before you rush into a change of hair color. A silver or platinum blonde effect should only be trusted to an expert operator or you are mostly likely to end up with a reddish or yellowish blonde color. Therefore, to get the answer to these important questions, I suggest that anyone considering bleaching consult the best hair salon in the neighborhood to ascertain cost, frequency and time involved in keeping bleached hair attractive.

Special Care

Besides the bleaching operation itself, do not overlook the problem of keeping the hair lustrous. Without a high sheen and luster, blonde hair has no beauty. Keeping bleached tresses from becoming dry and brittle is a definite factor.

It can be done, of course. For one thing, you will need an oil treatment every week. This you can give yourself at home by massaging any good scalp oil into the roots of your hair. After you have thoroughly massaged your scalp, well-saturating your hair at the same time, wrap your head in steaming turkish towels for a period of ten minutes. The moment one towel cools, change it for another steaming one. Or, if you have a hair dryer, merely wrap your head in a hot wet towel and sit under the dryer until the towel is dry.

Cosmetics Need Review

Brushing also assumes special importance the moment you bleach. If you can afford brushing treatments, fine. If not, wield your brush with a vim and regularity that slights not one hair of your head for even one single day.

If you decide to bleach, take plenty of time to review your cosmetics. Unless they are exactly right for your complexion, they are sure to be decidedly trying with your transformed hair color. It is also important to keep cosmetics delicate rather than strong in color to avoid any suggestion of a brassy or artificial look.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. A Diller A Dollar

If you think the dollar is worth 54 cents try to buy one for 55.

Listened to a lecturer shooting off his education in short takes. He unrolled a venetian blind of economic attacks illustrating the biography of the dollar from the cradle to the pocket.

The world's most reliable pocketpiece was divided into triangles. With the pointy end steered like a dagger in the heart. This is the wedge-shaped school of cuneiform intuition originated by the cro-magnon citizen who forgot to copyright it.

By ringing all the changes on the triangles he proved to his own insularity that the dollar was down to 54 cents. And that it wouldn't buy the things it was paying for.

I offered him a two-cent profit on his depreciated loot. He spurned me like I was a mouse-egg in a sugar bowl.

Personally I don't care if the 1953 dollar will not buy the things it did in 1913. I don't want the things now that I did then.

In those 40 years I have depreciated more than the dollar. But I don't want any expert dividing me into multi-colored triangles.

The last time I saw that wagontail professor he was selling Comache corpuscle tonic from the same chart. And seemed very eager to harvest the 54 cent dollar in habit forming loads.

Color Is Expensive

The galloping costs of television, which are already causing severe headaches to advertisers, are going to gallop even faster and farther when color comes in. At the two networks most actively concerned with color, CBS and NBC, they will tell you blandly that color television costs will be "somewhat higher" than black and white or that there won't be any difference.

John Crosby

This is hogwash. A color studio is a very expensive proposition. Robert Kintner, president of ABC, has estimated the cost of converting each studio to color, including cameras, at $800,000 to $1,000,000. It cost CBS $900,00 to convert one studio which is all they have. Color cameras are twice the size of black-and-white ones and can be more than six times as expensive. (You can buy a nice black-and-white camera for $15,000. A color camera will set you back from $65,000 to $95,000, in case you're interested).

The tubes alone are going to set the networks back a pretty penny. The annual cost of tubes for 50 black and white cameras is about $350,000. The same thing for a like amount of color cameras will come to around $4,000,000. In addition, color TV studios require control rooms twice the size of present ones, need four to six times as much light, and because of all that wattage, must be air-conditioned. Someone is going to have to pay for all this and, if it isn't the advertiser, I don't know who it is.

While there is an awful lot of drum-beating about color TV around the networks, there are still hush-hush areas. CBS doesn't want to let NBC in on its secrets any more than Macy tells Gimbels. Neither network will tell you, for example, how many color cameras they own. Best guess: not many.

Everybody is being trained for color — producers, directors, engineers, cameramen, lighting experts—everybody but the sound men. (A woman's scream sounds just the same in black and white as its does in four colors). Directors and producers, for example, are being taught to stay away from certain color combinations, are counseled not to go overboard by getting everything too vivid, and learn that shadows distort color much more than black and white.

Red, the splashiest of all colors, is going to be a problem. Everyone, of course, will want to attract attention and since red commands more attention than other colors, you're likely to see an awful lot of it, over the course of an evening. Also, that long list of credits at the end of the show is going to grow even longer. NBC currently possesses Vance Hallack who is billed as a color producer-director and Dick Ward, whose title is color director.

Hallack and Ward work with producers, directors, set designers and costume designers on shows done in color. If they were supervising, say, a production of "Your Show Of Shows," they'd sit in on planning sessions and make color sketches as suggestions to the director and producer who have the final say-so.

NBC's top color consultant is Richard Day, formerly of the movies. Day won six Academy Awards and no one at NBC will ever let you forget it. ("Have you talked to Richard Day?" said Pat Weaver, NBC vice chairman. "Six Academy Awards."). Day, who spent his life in the movies, quit pictures after filming Sam Goldwyn's "Hans Christian Andersen" to embrace the new medium. Day sees no difference between color TV and Technicolor except that in TV he doesn't have to wait two days to see what he's photographing. He can see it immediately and make adjustments right away. To a movie man, he says, this is a big thrill.

NBC has planned to put a lot of its top stars—Dinah Shore, Bob Hope and others—in front of the color cameras in October but called it off because of the FCC color tests October 15. The biggest thing coming up on color TV will be NBC's production of "Carmen" tomorrow night (Saturday) from 5:30 to 6:30 p. m. All of you with color sets—which is to say, none of you—can get it in color. The rest of the country will see it in black and white.

Barclay On Bridge

HASTE CAN WRECK YOU

YOU MAY know all there is to know about playing the cards, and still may get an unnecessarily bad result if you are careless or hurry too much. Haste, which causes you to neglect the precaution of looking ahead, can make you just as vulnerable to defeat as if you didn't possess a great amount of bridge knowledge.

	♠ A 10 7 3 ♥ J 5 2 ♦ Q J 6 4 ♣ 7 5
♠ K Q 9 4 ♥ 8 6 4 ♦ 2 ♣ J 9 8 4 3	N W E S	♠ J 8 5 2 ♥ 10 7 3 ♦ 9 7 5 ♣ K 10 2
	♠ 6 ♥ A K Q 9 ♦ A K 10 8 3 ♣ A Q 6

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5 ♦	Pass	7 NT

South did what practically anybody would when the Blackwood 4-No Trumps elicited the 5-Diamonds response to show that North held the missing ace. That, following North's showing of a fit in diamonds, made South feel confident of the grand slam. It looked easy to him after West led the spade K, which the A won.

Apparently all he had to do, according to his cursory glance, was take out the hostile trumps, use the hearts to discard one of the dummy's two clubs, score the club A and then ruffed the dummy's last two clubs.

South should have weighed the possibly doubtful factors of that plan a bit before unalterably committing himself to it. But he didn't. It was late in the evening, and he was in a hurry. So, following the opening spade trick, he extracted trumps in three rounds, scored his four diamond tricks to discard the club 5, then realized all at once that he couldn't ruff two clubs with the one remaining trump in the dummy. It was also too late to try the club finesse if he first ruffed one club, as he then could not get to the dummy, take the finesse and then ruff his last club.

The unexciting and mundane club finesse would have worked. When the defenders' diamonds failed to break even, and fall in two rounds, South should have immediately taken the club finesse, as necessary then to success. He then could have removed the last trump, discarded dummy's final club on a heart and ruffed his own last club.

What is the sound defense against South's 3-No Trumps if clubs and hearts had been bid by North and diamonds by South?

Barclay On Bridge

HASTE CAN WRECK YOU

YOU MAY know all there is to know about playing the cards, and still may get an unnecessarily bad result if you are careless or hurry too much. Haste, which causes you to neglect the precaution of looking ahead, can make you just as vulnerable to defeat as if you didn't possess a great amount of bridge knowledge.

	♠ A 10 7 3 ♥ J 5 2 ♦ Q J 6 4 ♣ 7 5
♠ K Q 9 4 ♥ 8 6 4 ♦ 2 ♣ J 9 8 4 3	N W E S	♠ J 8 5 2 ♥ 10 7 3 ♦ 9 7 5 ♣ K 10 2
	♠ 6 ♥ A K Q 9 ♦ A K 10 8 3 ♣ A Q 6

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5 ♦	Pass	7 NT

South did what practically anybody would when the Blackwood 4-No Trumps elicited the 5-Diamonds response to show that North held the missing ace. That, following North's showing of a fit in diamonds, made South feel confident of the grand slam. It looked easy to him after West led the spade K, which the A won.

Apparently all he had to do, according to his cursory glance, was take out the hostile trumps, use the hearts to discard one of the dummy's two clubs, score the club A and then ruffed the dummy's last two clubs.

South should have weighed the possibly doubtful factors of that plan a bit before unalterably committing himself to it. But he didn't. It was late in the evening, and he was in a hurry. So, following the opening spade trick, he extracted trumps in three rounds, scored his four diamond tricks to discard the club 5, then realized all at once that he couldn't ruff two clubs with the one remaining trump in the dummy. It was also too late to try the club finesse if he first ruffed one club, as he then could not get to the dummy, take the finesse and then ruff his last club.

The unexciting and mundane club finesse would have worked. When the defenders' diamonds failed to break even, and fall in two rounds, South should have immediately taken the club finesse, as necessary then to success. He then could have removed the last trump, discarded dummy's final club on a heart and ruffed his own last club.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K ♥ Q J 9 3 ♦ A K 3 ♣ K Q 6 4 2
♠ Q J 5 3 ♥ A 7 4 2 ♦ 9 ♣ A 10 9 5	N W E S	♠ 10 9 8 7 6 4 ♥ 8 5 ♦ Q 5 4 ♣ 8 7
	♠ A 2 ♥ K 10 6 ♦ J 10 8 7 6 2 ♣ J 3

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

What is the sound defense against South's 3-No Trumps if clubs and hearts had been bid by North and diamonds by South?

Card of Thanks

We wish to express sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kind consideration during our recent loss. We also thank Rev. Keefe, Mr. Scarpelli, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers, and those who donated the use of their cars.

Kathleen and Rosalie Brown.

In Memoriam

In memory of our father, Benjamin Thomas O'Neal, who died one year ago today, Oct. 30, 1952.

One year has passed since my Daddy went away,
I miss him more and more,
And my love grows every day.
My memory of him still is love and care he gave,
And shall remain with me forever and ever more.

Sadly missed by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. Elmer and Mary O'Neal.

In memory of my dear son, Allen Brown Fazenbaker, who departed this life 15 years ago today, October 30, 1938.

Deep in my heart lies His picture
More precious than silver or gold,
It's a picture of You son

Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Ruth Fazenbaker, Luke, Md.

In memory of my dear husband, William L. McFarland, who passed away 5 years ago, October 30th, 1948.

Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest, so fair,
When life and it's labors are ended,
We shall meet our loved ones there.

Mrs. William L. McFarland and family.

CHRYSLER

1951 Plymouth 4-Dr. Sdn.

How would you like to own a car that will give you 18 miles or better on 1 gallon of gas? Here's a gleaming black finish car that you will not have to spend any money to fix up. Not even to wax. Here again you have all the extra safe driving features of the Plymouth, plus all weather heater, defroster, new seat covers, spotless interior, signal lights, side mirror and the contrasting light grey instrument panel with chrome knobs and handles, really makes a beautiful, economical and safe car also one to be proud of, and the low price. Only . . .

1949 Chrysler N. Y. 4 Door

The one owner was a Celanese executive and only drove it 13,000 miles a year. The owner kept this car in perfect condition with regular check-ups and it was garaged every night. The gleaming light-gray finish is contrasted by shining chrome and you have all the safe driving devices as signal lights, backup lights, 4-speed Fluidmatic transmission with step down gear for passing on hills. The powerful 8 cylinder engine is in A-1 condition. The rest of the equipment includes heater, defroster, 8-tube radio, airfoam seats, arm rests, plastic seat covers and the tires are new. It will not last long at . . .

1948 Chrysler Wind. Clb. Cpe.

This beautiful dark blue coupe has had good care. Has good motor and 4-speed transmission. Double heater in front, radio, backup and signal lights, seat covers and very clean interior. A big six that operates economically and is ready to go at only . . .

$745

1941 Plymouth Coupe

Just the car to drive to work or school. This gleaming black coupe belonged to a local owner that gave it regular check-ups and had all mechanical parts inspected periodically. The front end has just been rebuilt, the motor runs and sounds like a late model. It has heater, and the tires are good. Another Potomac Motors good car for only . . .

Card of Thanks

We wish to express sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kind consideration during our recent loss. We also thank Rev. Keefe, Mr. Scarpelli, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers, and those who donated the use of their cars.

Kathleen and Rosalie Brown.

In Memoriam

In memory of our father, Benjamin Thomas O'Neal, who died one year ago today, Oct. 30, 1952.

One year has passed since my Daddy went away,
I miss him more and more,
And my love grows every day.
My memory of him still is love and care he gave,
And shall remain with me forever and ever more.

Sadly missed by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. Elmer and Mary O'Neal.

In memory of my dear son, Allen Brown Fazenbaker, who departed this life 15 years ago today, October 30, 1938.

Deep in my heart lies His picture
More precious than silver or gold,
It's a picture of You son
Whose memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by mother,
Mrs. Ruth Fazenbaker, Luke, Md.

In memory of my dear husband, William L. McFarland, who passed away 5 years ago, October 30th, 1948.

Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest, so fair,
When life and it's labors are ended,
We shall meet our loved ones there.

Mrs. William L. McFarland and family.

How would you like to own a car that will give you 18 miles or better on 1 gallon of gas? Here's a gleaming black finish car that you will not have to spend any money to fix up. Not even to wax. Here again you have all the extra safe driving features of the Plymouth, plus all weather heater, defroster, new seat covers, spotless interior, signal lights, side mirror and the contrasting light grey instrument panel with chrome knobs and handles, really makes a beautiful, economical and safe car also one to be proud of, and the low price. Only . . .

1949 Chrysler N. Y. 4 Door

The one owner was a Celanese executive and only drove it 13,000 miles a year. The owner kept this car in perfect condition with regular check-ups and it was garaged every night. The gleaming light-gray finish is contrasted by shining chrome and you have all the safe driving devices as signal lights, backup lights, 4-speed Fluidmatic transmission with step down gear for passing on hills. The powerful 8 cylinder engine is in A-1 condition. The rest of the equipment includes heater, defroster, 8-tube radio, airfoam seats, arm rests, plastic seat covers and the tires are new. It will not last long at . . .

1948 Chrysler Wind. Clb. Cpe.

This beautiful dark blue coupe has had good care. Has good motor and 4-speed transmission. Double heater in front, radio, backup and signal lights, seat covers and very clean interior. A big six that operates economically and is ready to go at only . . .

1941 Plymouth Coupe

Just the car to drive to work or school. This gleaming black coupe belonged to a local owner that gave it regular check-ups and had all mechanical parts inspected periodically. The front end has just been rebuilt, the motor runs and sounds like a late model. It has heater, and the tires are good. Another Potomac Motors good car for only . . .

Market Advances Strongly With Autos, Rails Standouts

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.20, one of the better gains of the year, and it closed at $107.40. The industrial and railroad components of the average each were up $1.40, and the utilities were up 20 cents.

Since the low of the year was reached in mid-September, the market has been advancing steadily, and the Associated Press average now is at the highest point in the swing ahead. At $107.40 the average is slightly below the halfway mark between the January high and September low of the year.

Missouri Pacific preferred was the day's most active issue up 2¾ at 45¼ with 17,800 shares traded. It was followed by General Motors up 1¾ at 60⅞, American Telephone off ⅛ at 153¾ (the only loser in the list of ten most active issues), Pepsi-Cola up ½ at 13⅜, General Electric up 1⅝ at 81⅞ and Standard Oil (NJ) up 1⅜ at 72¼.

NOTICE OF AUDIT

Wilbur V. Wilson, Trustee, under the will of Florence E. Deetz, deceased, late of Allegany County, Md. Ex Parte. No. 21991 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Cumberland, Maryland, October 29, 1953.

This is to give notice that an audit filed in the above entitled cause, distributing the funds in the hands of Wilbur V. Wilson, Trustee, will be ready for ratification on the 16th day of November, 1953, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

Market Advances Strongly With Autos, Rails Standouts

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.20, one of the better gains of the year, and it closed at $107.40. The industrial and railroad components of the average each were up $1.40, and the utilities were up 20 cents.

Since the low of the year was reached in mid-September, the market has been advancing steadily, and the Associated Press average now is at the highest point in the swing ahead. At $107.40 the average is slightly below the halfway mark between the January high and September low of the year.

Missouri Pacific preferred was the day's most active issue up 2¾ at 45¼ with 17,800 shares traded. It was followed by General Motors up 1¾ at 60⅞, American Telephone off ⅛ at 153¾ (the only loser in the list of ten most active issues), Pepsi-Cola up ½ at 133⅛, General Electric up 1⅝ at 81⅞ and Standard Oil (NJ) up 1⅜ at 72¼.

Local Bus Line Will Carry Out PSC Findings

Improvement Seen In Service Here

Cumberland Transit Lines announced yesterday it will expedite the adoption of recommendations made by Maryland Public Service Commission on bus service in Cumberland.

Joseph S. A. Giardina, director of transportation for the PSC, told Mayor Roy W. Eves and members of the council who were able to attend the afternoon meeting, that if the program is placed into effect he felt certain an improvement in service will be noted.

The major points of the program are:

To Restore Service

Restoration of service to Bowman's Addition and Mapleside, which the PSC said was unnecessarily curtailed between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Simplified schedules and adequate publicity on any changes will be supplied by the company for the benefit of the public.

A full study of bus service offered on Sundays will be instituted, with special emphasis on providing adequate service to churchgoers.

To Expedite Change

Mayor Eves said the PSC reports it is unable to set a date for a public meeting here, as requested at a recent session called by B&O Federation No. 7, due to a heavy docket in the Baltimore area.

Davis said the suggested schedule changes will be placed into service as soon as possible, but reported the next signing up date under the contract with Local 1110, Bus Drivers Union, is November 1 and changes cannot be made earlier than December 1 unless the union consents.

He added he will ask the union to step up the effective date.

It was pointed out that the change involves more, and not less, service.

The PSC officials said they hope the service will be restored "as soon as possible."

To Notify Public

All attending conference agreed that full notice should be given of all changes in service, through signs at bus stops, notices in buses, supplying simplified schedules and newspaper publicity.

The PSC officials, pleased with

Retired Rubber Worker Killed In Road Mishap

A 71-year-old retired rubber worker was killed and his wife critically injured yesterday in a motor accident near Bedford, Pa. on the Pennsylvania Turnpike as they drove toward Florida where they planned to live their remaining years.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford listed the dead man as Joseph A. Keller, of 3980 Medina Road, RD 7, Akron.

His 68-year-old wife, Mrs. Barbara Keller, was admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital where she was listed as "very critical."

Police said the accident occurred about 12:20 p. m. yesterday about 15 miles west of Bedford. Keller was driving a pickup truck east on the turnpike when he lost control of the vehicle crossed the highway's center strip and crashed into another truck traveling west, investigation officers said.

State Police added the driver of the other truck was not injured and little damage was done to the truck. Keller's vehicle was badly damaged, however.

According to police, Keller was a retired employe of the Goodrich Rubber Company in Akron.

The elderly couple had sold their farm in Akron and were on their way to live in Florida when the mishap occurred.

The Weather

A late forecast by the Weather Bureau last night predicted an early end to the current rain. The Bureau said "the storm causing the wet weather will be moving off the Jersey Coast out into the Atlantic." High temperature yesterday was 54; low was 47, and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 53 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 70 per cent, and rainfall measured .33 of an inch. Total for the past two days is .75 of an inch.

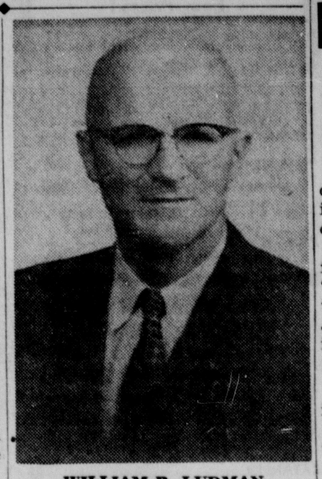
William B. Ludman Named Bus Line Superintendent



WILLIAM B. LUDMAN

William B. Ludman, LaVale, has accepted a position as superintendent of transportation of the Cumberland Transit Lines.

Ludman will take over his new duties here on November 16, according to an announcement yesterday by Guy M. Davis, owner of the local bus company.

Since 1944, Ludman has been affiliated with the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company, which he served as vice president and treasurer.

He is 53, a native of Zanesville, Ohio, and a son of Mrs. Harriet J. Ludman, Delaware, Ohio, and the late H. W. Ludman.

Ludman served as a seaman in 1918 and 1919, during World War I. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan College in 1923 with an A. B. degree in business administration.

Active in civic affairs, he is a member of the Cumberland Rotary Club, a director of the Cumberland Community Chest and a past director of Central YMCA.

He is a member of the Scottish Rite Lodge of Cumberland and is an elder of First Presbyterian Church.

Technical Staff Is Named For 1st Civic Theatre Play

The Cumberland Civic Theatre has appointed members of the technical staff for its production of "Ring Around Elizabeth," which will be presented in Allegany High School auditorium December 11.

Business manager for the three-act comedy will be Rosalyn S. Pliner.

R. William Holt will be director of ticket sales; A. Derr Golladay, stage manager, and Arthur Gottily and Lenore Lazarus, assistant stage managers.

Oscar Lashley was named electrician; Mrs. Jack Drummond and Mrs. Ed Myer, properties; Virginia Jenkins, script prompter, and Thomas Hutcheson, technician.

Rehearsals will be held at Allegany High School on December 8 to 10, under the supervision of Harold C. Wickard, director.

Farmers Urged To Ballot In County Election Nov. 6

County Agent Ralph H. McHenry has sent letters to some 400 county farmers urging them to vote Friday, November 6, when three of their number will be elected to the Board of Supervisors of the County Soil Conservation District.

Four men have been nominated for the three positions. They are Floyd Buser, Warrior Mountain; R. W. Ferguson, Union Grove; Dale Mann, Piney Grove, and Ernest R. Slider, Oldtown. All except Buser are now serving as supervisors.

Six polling places around the county have been set aside for the convenience of the voting farmers. They are Southern States Cumberland Store, 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.; Coldren's Grocery, Belle Grove Tourist Camp, 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.; Southern States Lonaconing Store, 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.; Lewis' Store Oldtown, 9 a. m. until 6 p. m.; County Agent's Office, Court House, 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., and Teter's Store, Flintstone, 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

McHenry's letter read in part:

"It is highly desirable that we have a substantial number of farmers to vote in this election and we feel that all farmers who have received any help from the Soil Conservation District should make an effort to help us with this election. The law requires us to hold this election in this manner. And the public expects the farmers, if they want the work of the district continued, to take the trouble to go to the polls once in three years and cast their vote in this election. We therefore earnestly, respectfully and we might say prayerfully urge, plead and beg you to take the few minutes time and trouble necessary to cast vote in this election," he concluded.

Engineers Form State Group

FREDERICK, Oct. 29 (AP)—County road engineers from 12 of Maryland's 23 counties organized a state association here today and elected Roger H. Willard, Frederick County road engineer, as their president.

Other officers included Arthur W. Tayman of Prince Georges County, vice-president, and Webb DeWitt of Garrett County, secretary-treasurer.

Members elected to the board of directors included Henry Wier of Dorchester County, Ted Pantaleo of Anne Arundel County, Herman O'Neal of Howard County, J. O. Harvey of Montgomery County and E. E. Geary of Washington County.

After a business session in the morning, the county roads men held a discussion in the afternoon on federal aid for secondary roads and the effect of Maryland's new 12-year highway program on county roads.

CAP Cadets Learning Operation Of Aircraft

Lt. John Wagner also discussed the operation of stresses and forces on an aircraft.

Promoted to rank of Private First Class in the CAP Cadets was Jerry Lancaster, of LaVale. Plans were discussed to begin swimming activities at Central YMCA about the middle of next month.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

County Parents Will Attend Workshop Soon

Sessions Planned For November 9

A parent discussion leadership workshop, the first of two planned in Allegany County this school year, will be held in the new Valley High School at Lonaconing Monday, November 9, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools.

Dr. Fred Thompson, a consultant of the Institute of Child Study of the University of Maryland, will direct the workshop.

In the workshop, the directors will work with new and potential leaders as well as leaders who have had one or more years of experience in parent discussion groups.

Principals of all elementary and high schools of the county have been asked to aid the PTA parent education chairmen in announcing the workshop to all parents and patrons.

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel for the State Department of Education, will accompany Dr. Thompson here for the one-day workshop. There will be sessions of the workshop from 10 a. m. until noon and again from 1 to 3 p. m.

Higgins said that his staff in the Pupil Personnel Department, including Miss Esther M. Carter, Frederick H. Sheeley and Robert W. Jones, will assist with the workshop.

Ridgeley Legion Sets Halloween Fete Today

Several prizes will be awarded to persons with original costumes, and dancing will be held with music by the Helen Pettie Trio.

Cresaptown Church Gets More Property

St. Ambrose's Catholic Church on Winchester Road in Cresaptown has acquired an additional 100 by 400 foot lot next to the church for future expansion.

A deed in which John T. Mason and Harriett L. Mason, his wife, sold the property to Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Catholic archbishop of Baltimore, was filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Attorney Harry I. Stegmaier, who handled the transaction, said the new lot will give the Catholic congregation a lot 350 feet by 550 feet in overall size. The church has no immediate plans for utilizing the new lot.

Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Nell Keegan, wife of William V. Keegan, city finance commissioner, who was a medical patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, has been discharged and returned yesterday to her home, 310 Cumberland Street.

Rains Continue; More Needed For Tri-State

Forest Fires Out But Danger Still Exists

Steady rains of the past two days continued yesterday, increasing the insurance against forest fires and damage to crops and pastures.

However, the Weather Bureau forecast an early end to the rain "as the storm causing all the wet weather will be moving off the Jersey Coast northeastward out into the Atlantic."

Dry October Noted

With the .12 of an inch which has fallen prior to Wednesday this month, the total rainfall for October thus far is .87 of an inch. Normal for the month here is 2.53 inches.

Oakland reported another .40 of an inch of rainfall up to yesterday, while in the South Branch agricultural section of nearby West Virginia, nearly an inch of rain was measured yesterday.

At Petersburg .95 of an inch of rain fell yesterday on top of the .70 of an inch Wednesday, making a total of 1.65 inches for the two days.

Another .95 of an inch also fell at Moorefield, and added to Wednesday's .60 of an inch, totals 1.55 inches.

Some sections of the district were still experiencing rainfall late last night. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad dispatcher reported rain falling last night at Hardman and Blazer with temperature around 50 degrees, and a foggy mist and drizzle at other sections along the railroad line.

Rain was also falling last night at Thomas and Elkins where temperatures were in the high 30's, according to the Western Maryland Railway dispatcher. Other communities along the line reported cloudy and cool weather.

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported rain falling late last night at Frostburg and sections west, but in Cumberland only a damp breeze was felt.

Forest Still In Danger

State Police at Romney, W. Va. and Bedford, Pa., said no rain was falling in those sections, but skies were cloudy following rain yesterday afternoon.

Ralph F. McHenry, Allegany County farm agent, said the rains are very beneficial to wheat crops above the ground and to dried out pastures.

District Forester William H. Johnson said the current downpours eased the critical forest fire danger considerably. No new fires were reported and all old fires were out yesterday.

Johnson pointed out that although the little rain that has fallen so far has eased the fire danger, there is still a critical hazard unless much more rain falls.

Hardly any runoff of water has been noted, he said, and the ground is still in need of much more water. The little now dampening woodlands could easily dry up rapidly in a hot sun or high winds, Johnson stated.

New Problem Possible

Also there is the possibility that low temperatures would cause a "freeze" and create a new problem. If this happened, Johnson said, before several inches of rain is allowed to soak in the ground, rains and snows later in the winter would only run off the frozen, dry ground or lay without any benefit above the earth.

He said the ground water in forest floors is very low and much more water will be needed before the critical fire danger ends.

Heavy rains during the past two days were enough to spare Maryland timberlands from the danger of forest fire for at least two weeks.

That statement was made yesterday by Harry W. Dengler, extension forester at the University of Maryland, who added that the recent downpour was the "most wonderful thing that could have happened" to state woodlands.

Prolonged drought conditions had weakened trees so that they were more susceptible than usual from insect and disease damage, Dengler said.

Insect Danger Eased

Dr. A. O. Kuhn of the university Agronomy Department said two inches of rain now "is as good as several times that much in the summer."

Evaporation is slower at this season, Kuhn said, and the moisture will encourage the growth of ground cover which will, in turn, retard damage to winter wheat, Barley and oats from alternate freezing and thawing.

Dr. F. C. Stark, university vegetable specialist, added that the rain will help spinach and beet crops still unharvested and said cabbabe planting scheduled for November can go ahead as scheduled.

Dr. Kuhn said the rains will bring back some old pastures and permit some grazing, but not too much because the season is so far advanced.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Lois A. Welch vs. Walter R. Welch, Franklin M. McKenzie vs. Juanita McKenzie and Ethel E. James vs. Thomas William James.

Safety Officials Meet

Richard A. Hartman, director of safety and public relations of the Automobile Club of Maryland, (third from left) points out to Mrs. Vivian L. Turley, records clerk of the Cumberland Police Department, and Commissioner John J. Long, the city of Cumberland's rating of 17th among 184 cities of 25,000-50,000 population in pedestrian safety. Major R. M. Ridgely, executive officer of the Maryland State Police, who is traveling with Hartman, looks on at right. The safety officials met last night in Long's office in City Hall.

Missing Hunter Finds Way Out Of Area Woods

McCormick Suffers No Ill Effects

A 58-year-old Barton man, Cooper McCormick, who was missing overnight in the rugged Sand Springs area of Garrett County after losing his way while hunting squirrel Wednesday, was resting comfortably at his home last night.

The weary, water-soaked nimrod wandered out of the woods in the Laurel Run section about 8:15 a. m. yesterday, came across Route 36 and walked into Moscow.

A searching party composed of citizens and volunteer firemen of Barton and Lonaconing spent late Wednesday night and early yesterday morning, in the woods looking for McCormick. Just before he made his appearance others were planning to join the search with State Police.

Separate While Hunting

McCormick and James Kiddy, 28, also of Barton, went squirrel hunting Wednesday morning and separated in the woods, planning to meet at a certain time later in the day.

When McCormick failed to show up, Kiddy became alarmed and returned to Barton to organize a searching party at 8:30 p. m. Sixty volunteer firemen from Barton and Lonaconing searched all night.

After eating a hearty breakfast and cleaning up, the weary hunter went to bed for a good rest. The missing man's sister, Miss Alice McCormick, principal of Central Elementary School at Lonaconing, said "he couldn't find his bearings and just sat down," under a tree.

Miss McCormick added that her brother said darkness came upon him too quickly and he wandered in the wrong direction. He fell asleep under a tree for several hours and was soaked from the drenching rain just after midnight.

Strolled From Woods

When daylight came, McCormick knew where he was and strolled back to Route 36 and Moscow. McCormick said that during the night he heard fire sirens and observed distant lights in the sky. However he "did not know what they were for."

Realizing later that he was lost, he heard a shot and fired one blast in return. The hunter assumed he was too far away to be heard.

Kiddy said he and McCormick parted company about seven miles west of Barton near the Paul Colmer Farm. At an appointed meeting place, the young hunter waited for him.

When McCormick did not appear, Kiddy blew loud and long blasts on his auto horn, fired a number of shots and then looked over the area adjacent to the appointed meeting place.

Unable to find McCormick, and since it was becoming dark, Kiddy returned to Barton for help and the organized search was instituted.

Radio Club Will Meet In Quarters At Legion

The Mountain Amateur Radio Club has received permission from Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, to use a room in their building on Harrison Street for future meetings.

Plans for renovating the third floor room were discussed last night at a meeting of the club in the Union Street County Building. Members are asked to report to the new quarters at 7 p. m. next Tuesday, Thursday and Friday to get the room in shape. Committee in charge of obtaining the room included Walter S. Gatrell, president and Byron Kiser. Beginning November 12, meetings of the club will be held every other Thursday.

Stand Removal Shows Paint Job Not Finished

Removal of the concession stand from the lobby of the Allegany County Court House has uncovered a secret which has remained hidden for over a year.

When the stand was taken away it was revealed that a portion of the Court House wall where the stand had been was not painted over a year ago when interior walls of the Court House received a fresh coat of paint.

Apparently the painters did not figure that the stand would be removed. It was taken away because Walter (Ike) Herboldsheimer, who operated the stand the past five-and-one half years, has been transferred to the Post Office and the Maryland Workshop for the Blind is closing the other stand.

Second Baptist Will Dedicate New Addition

Second Baptist Church, Grand Avenue and Oldtown Road, will hold a special service Sunday at 2:30 p. m. to dedicate the recently completed additions to the church.

Dr. Clifton C. Thomas, general secretary of the Maryland Baptist Union Association, will deliver the dedicatory sermon.

Rev. L. J. Newton, Baltimore, secretary of the Department of Religious Education, and a number of pastors and laymen of the Western District Baptist Association, will participate in the program.

Rev. Kenneth M. Hayes, pastor of the church, will preside.

The new addition, which was recently completed at a cost of $18,000, consists of the remodeling of the front of the church, providing a vestibule at the church entrance, and a large assembly room for the intermediate members of the church.

A balcony which will boost the capacity of the auditorium to 500, two new class rooms and a church office are also included in the improvements.

The two new class rooms will allow the Sunday School to seat about 350 persons.

The church recently expanded its nursery program by the addition of a nursery for toddlers. Nurseries for infants and three year olds have been in operation for some time.

Former Conservation Worker Visits Here

Robert Laramy, who was a conservationist here with the United States Soil Conservation Service from 1942 and 1946, returned here yesterday for a brief visit with present employes in the office.

Laramy spent a good deal of time with Martin M. Gordon, who began his Soil Conservation Service work under Laramy's direction. After conferring in the office in the morning they went out into the county to visit several farms. After leaving here Laramy was stationed in New Hampshire for a time and now is employed in the Personnel Management Division of the Regional USCS office in Upper Darby, Pa.

Heads College Group

Miss Sue Cunningham, of 815 Columbia Avenue, a student at State Teachers College, Towson, has been honored at the college by being elected president of the Women's Athletic Association. She will be head of the women's elective program in sports. Miss Cunningham is a graduate of Allegany High School.

City's Pedestrian Safety Program Lauded, Finished 17th In National Contest

State Police, AAA Officials Meet Long

State Police and Automobile Club of Maryland safety officials last night at a meeting with Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long in City Hall revealed Cumberland ranked 17th among 184 cities of 25,000-50,000 population in the nation in pedestrian protection.

Traveling through Maryland analyzing pedestrian programs of all cities of 5,000 or more population are Richard A. Hartman, director of safety and public relations of the Automobile Club of Maryland and Major R. M. Ridgely, executive officer of the Maryland State Police.

The two safety experts met with Commissioner Long and Mrs. Vivian L. Turley, records clerk of the Cumberland Police Department, in Commissioner Long's office in City Hall.

Cumberland is participating in its third year in the National Pedestrian Protection Contest sponsored by the American Automobile Association and its rating has steadily climbed with its participation, Major Ridgely and Hartman explained.

Now in its 14th year the contest is geared to get city officials to keep records of accidents and deaths, engineer cities properly in regards to pedestrians and traffic and to enforce and enact ordinances to protect pedestrians and cut down traffic mishaps.

Nearly all states and 1,381 cities participated in the protection activities including 20 in Maryland. Points were awarded in two phases of the contest, 500 for actual death and injury records and 500 for program accomplishments. The program is divided into six parts — accident records, legislation and enforcement, engineering, organization, school safety and public information.

Gets 75 Per Cent Rating

The City received 75 per cent of the possible points in the contest with the top 30 cities in the same population group averaging 64 per cent.

Cumberland was above standard on the casualty records kept but was below standard on two of the six sections of the pedestrian safety program — engineering and public information.

It was pointed out by Major Ridgely that Cumberland had pioneered the use of radar to cut speeding with the result that no pedestrian deaths were reported in the city last year. Now, throughout the nation, most cities require radar checks by law, Ridgely continued.

Commissioner Long, well pleased with the progress Cumberland is making along safety lines said he was very much interested in the AAA program because it sets up the plan, and points out weaknesses in the city's efforts to curtail the accident rate.

Urging the full cooperation of the citizens of the community and organizational groups Long continued, "It's nice to know Cumberland is rated so highly but a lax moment could send us down again. Some city is 184th in our group and we don't ever want it to be Cumberland. Someday, perhaps we can be first."

Praises School Program

Hartman, in analyzing the report, pointed out moves Cumberland could make to improve its safety rating, paying particularly high tribute to the school safety plan where Cumberland received 91 per cent of the possible points for its program.

The city institutes guarded crossings during rush hours, holds many safety assemblies in the schools, has a competent learn-to-drive program for students, and a well-rounded children's safety patrol.

The two safety men will visit Frostburg today before returning to Baltimore.

Firemen Answer Call

East Side firemen yesterday answered a call at 726 Bedford Street and checked a defective oil stove. No damage was reported in the alarm turned in at 5:50 p. m.

Band Jamboree Planned Nov. 13 At Westernport

A Grand Jamboree of Bands will be held in Westernport Friday, November 13, under sponsorship of Bruce High School, according to William D. Simpson, musical director at the Westernport school.

Simpson announced that the jamboree will be held in the Westvaco Memorial Baseball Park starting at 8 p. m.

The Bruce musical director cited several reasons for staging this jamboree, first of its kind ever attempted in this county. He considers it appropriate to stage the jamboree as a highlight of American Education Week. He also says it demonstrates the type of musical instruction being offered during the fall season. When winter comes the musicians move indoors and concentrate on concerts.

Floodlights and a public address system will be installed in the ball park before the jamboree.

Each band individually will have a 15-minute program and demonstration on the field. After all have finished they will join in a grand parade around the field. Finally, the musicians will be massed together in the center of the field for three final numbers.

The Bruce High School Student Council is arranging a social affair at the school following the jamboree. In case of inclement weather, the affair will be postponed until Friday, November 20.

Fort Hill Receives Mineral Collection

A collection of some 50 minerals has been received by Fort Hill High School from the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

When questioned about the collection, Principal Victor D. Heisey said that he plans to place the items in a case where they can be displayed and still be kept safely.

Local Bus Line Will Carry Out PSC Findings

Improvement Seen In Service Here

Cumberland Transit Lines announced yesterday it will expedite the adoption of recommendations made by Maryland Public Service Commission on bus service in Cumberland.

The announcement was made yesterday by Guy M. Davis, owner of the line, at a meeting with city officials and a team from the PSC's transportation division in City Hall.

Joseph S. A. Giardina, director of transportation for the PSC, told Mayor Roy W. Eves and members of the council who were able to attend the afternoon meeting, that if the program is placed into effect he felt certain an improvement in service will be noted.

He added the PSC will be glad to send members of its staff back to Cumberland any time help is requested.

The major points of the program are:

To Restore Service

Restoration of service to Bowman's Addition and Mapleside, which the PSC said was unnecessarily curtailed between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Simplified schedules and adequate publicity on any changes will be supplied by the company for the benefit of the public.

William B. Ludman, LaVale, a former official of the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company, was named superintendent of transportation for the firm.

The company will give the public 30-day notices of any changes in schedule.

A full study of bus service offered on Sundays will be instituted, with special emphasis on providing adequate service to churchgoers.

To Expedite Change

Mayor Eves said the PSC reports it is unable to set a date for a public meeting here, as requested at a recent session called by B&O Federation No. 7, due to a heavy docket in the Baltimore area.

Davis said the suggested schedule changes will be placed into service as soon as possible, but reported the next signing up date under the contract with Local 1110, Bus Drivers Union, is November 1 and changes cannot be made earlier than December 1 unless the union consents.

He added he will ask the union to step up the effective date.

It was pointed out that the change involves more, and not less, service.

The PSC officials said they hope the service will be restored "as soon as possible."

To Notify Public

All attending conference agreed that full notice should be given of all changes in service, through signs at bus stops, notices in buses, supplying simplified schedules and newspaper publicity.

The PSC officials, pleased with

Retired Rubber Worker Killed In Road Mishap

A 71-year-old retired rubber worker was killed and his wife critically injured yesterday in a motor accident near Bedford, Pa. on the Pennsylvania Turnpike as they drove toward Florida where they planned to live their remaining years.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford listed the dead man as Joseph A. Keller, of 3980 Medina Road, RD 7, Akron.

His 68-year-old wife, Mrs. Barbara Keller, was admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital where she was listed as "very critical."

Mrs. Keller suffered a crushed skull, several fractured ribs and body bruises and abrasions.

Police said the accident occurred about 12:20 p. m. yesterday about 15 miles west of Bedford. Keller was driving a pickup truck east on the turnpike when he lost control of the vehicle crossed the highway's center strip and crashed into another truck traveling west, investigation officers said.

State Police added the driver of the other truck was not injured and little damage was done to the truck. Keller's vehicle was badly damaged, however.

According to police, Keller was a retired employe of the Goodrich Rubber Company in Akron.

The elderly couple had sold their farm in Akron and were on their way to live in Florida when the mishap occurred.

The Weather

A late forecast by the Weather Bureau last night predicted an early end to the current rain. The Bureau said "the storm causing the wet weather will be moving off the Jersey Coast out into the Atlantic." High temperature yesterday was 54; low was 47, and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 53 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 70 per cent, and rainfall measured .33 of an inch. Total for the past two days is .75 of an inch.

William B. Ludman Named Bus Line Superintendent

WILLIAM B. LUDMAN

William B. Ludman, LaVale, has accepted a position as superintendent of transportation of the Cumberland Transit Lines.

Ludman will take over his new duties here on November 16, according to an announcement yesterday by Guy M. Davis, owner of the local bus company.

Since 1944, Ludman has been affiliated with the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company, which he served as vice president and treasurer.

He is 53, a native of Zanesville, Ohio, and a son of Mrs. Harriet J. Ludman, Delaware, Ohio, and the late H. W. Ludman.

Ludman served as a seaman in 1918 and 1919, during World War I. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan College in 1923 with an A. B. degree in business administration.

Active in civic affairs, he is a member of the Cumberland Rotary Club, a director of the Cumberland Community Chest and a past director of Central YMCA.

He is a member of the Scottish Rite Lodge of Cumberland and is an elder of First Presbyterian Church.

He is married to the former Ruth Auld. They have one daughter, Dorothy, who is a junior in Allegany High School.

Technical Staff Is Named For 1st Civic Theatre Play

The Cumberland Civic Theatre has appointed members of the technical staff for its production of "Ring Around Elizabeth," which will be presented in Allegany High School auditorium December 11.

Business manager for the three-act comedy will be Rosalyn S. Pliner.

R. William Holt will be director of ticket sales; A. Derr Golladay, stage manager, and Arthur Gottily and Lenore Lazarus, assistant stage managers.

Oscar Lashley was named electrician; Mrs. Jack Drummond and Mrs. Ed Myer, properties; Virginia Jenkins, script prompter, and Thomas Hutcheson, technician.

Rehearsals will be held at Allegany High School on December 8 to 10, under the supervision of Harold C. Wickard, director.

Farmers Urged To Ballot In County Election Nov. 6

County Agent Ralph H. McHenry has sent letters to some 400 county farmers urging them to vote Friday, November 6, when three of their number will be elected to the Board of Supervisors of the County Soil Conservation District.

Four men have been nominated for the three positions. They are Floyd Buser, Warrior Mountain; R. W. Ferguson, Union Grove; Dale Mann, Piney Grove, and Ernest R. Slider, Oldtown. All except Buser are now serving as supervisors.

Six polling places around the county have been set aside for the convenience of the voting farmers. They are Southern States Cumberland Store, 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.; Coldren's Grocery, Belle Grove Tourist Camp, 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.; Southern States Lonaconing Store, 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.; Lewis' Store Oldtown, 9 a. m. until 6 p. m.; County Agent's Office, Court House, 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., and Teter's Store, Flintstone, 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

McHenry's letter read in part:

"It is highly desirable that we have a substantial number of farmers to vote in this election and we feel that all farmers who have received any help from the Soil Conservation District should make an effort to help us with this election. The law requires us to hold this election in this manner. And the public expects the farmers, if they want the work of the district continued, to take the trouble to go to the polls once in three years and cast their vote in this election. We therefore earnestly, respectfully and we might say prayerfully urge, plead and beg you to take the few minutes time and trouble necessary to cast vote in this election," he concluded.

Engineers Form State Group

FREDERICK, Oct. 29 (AP)—County road engineers from 12 of Maryland's 23 counties organized a state association here today and elected Roger H. Willard, Frederick County road engineer, as their president.

Other officers included Arthur W. Tayman of Prince Georges County, vice-president, and Webb DeWitt of Garrett County, secretary-treasurer.

Members elected to the board of directors included Henry Wier of Dorchester County, Ted Pantaleo of Anne Arundel County, Herman O'Neal of Howard County, J. O. Harvey of Montgomery County and E. E. Geary of Washington County.

After a business session in the morning, the county roads men held a discussion in the afternoon on federal aid for secondary roads and the effect of Maryland's new 12-year highway program on county roads.

CAP Cadets Learning Operation Of Aircraft

Lt. John Wagner also discussed the operation of stresses and forces on an aircraft.

Promoted to rank of Private First Class in the CAP Cadets was Jerry Lancaster, of LaVale. Plans were discussed to begin swimming activities at Central YMCA about the middle of next month.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

County Parents Will Attend Workshop Soon

Sessions Planned For November 9

A parent discussion leadership workshop, the first of two planned in Allegany County this school year, will be held in the new Valley High School at Lonaconing Monday, November 9, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county public schools.

Dr. Fred Thompson, a consultant of the Institute of Child Study of the University of Maryland, will direct the workshop.

In the workshop, the directors will work with new and potential leaders as well as leaders who have had one or more years of experience in parent discussion groups.

Principals of all elementary and high schools of the county have been asked to aid the PTA parent education chairmen in announcing the workshop to all parents and patrons.

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel for the State Department of Education, will accompany Dr. Thompson here for the one-day workshop. There will be sessions of the workshop from 10 a. m. until noon and again from 1 to 3 p. m.

Higgins said that his staff in the Pupil Personnel Department, including Miss Esther M. Carter, Frederick H. Sheeley and Robert W. Jones, will assist with the workshop.

Ridgeley Legion Sets Halloween Fete Today

Several prizes will be awarded to persons with original costumes, and dancing will be held with music by the Helen Pettie Trio.

Cresaptown Church Gets More Property

St. Ambrose's Catholic Church on Winchester Road in Cresaptown has acquired an additional 100 by 400 foot lot next to the church for future expansion.

A deed in which John T. Mason and Harriett L. Mason, his wife, sold the property to Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Catholic archbishop of Baltimore, was filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Attorney Harry I. Stegmaier, who handled the transaction, said the new lot will give the Catholic congregation a lot 350 feet by 550 feet in overall size. The church has no immediate plans for utilizing the new lot.

Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Nell Keegan, wife of William V. Keegan, city finance commissioner, who was a medical patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, has been discharged and returned yesterday to her home, 310 Cumberland Street.

However, the Weather Bureau forecast an early end to the rain "as the storm causing all the wet weather will be moving off the Jersey Coast northeastward out into the Atlantic."

Dry October Noted

In Cumberland, another .33 of an inch of rain fell yesterday on top of .42 of an inch Wednesday, bringing the total to .75 of an inch.

With the .12 of an inch which has fallen prior to Wednesday this month, the total rainfall for October thus far is .87 of an inch. Normal for the month here is 2.53 inches.

Oakland reported another .40 of an inch of rainfall up to yesterday, while in the South Branch agricultural section of nearby West Virginia, nearly an inch of rain was measured yesterday.

At Petersburg .95 of an inch of rain fell yesterday on top of the .70 of an inch Wednesday, making a total of 1.65 inches for the two days.

Another .95 of an inch also fell at Moorefield, and added to Wednesday's .60 of an inch, totals 1.55 inches.

Some sections of the district were still experiencing rainfall late last night. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad dispatcher reported rain falling last night at Hardman and Blazer with temperature around 50 degrees, and a foggy mist and drizzle at other sections along the railroad line.

Rain was also falling last night at Thomas and Elkins where temperatures were in the high 30's, according to the Western Maryland Railway dispatcher. Other communities along the line reported cloudy and cool weather.

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported rain falling late last night at Frostburg and sections west, but in Cumberland only a damp breeze was felt.

Forest Still In Danger

State Police at Romney, W. Va. and Bedford, Pa., said no rain was falling in those sections, but skies were cloudy following rain yesterday afternoon.

Ralph F. McHenry, Allegany County farm agent, said the rains are very beneficial to wheat crops above the ground and to dried out pastures.

He added the rainfall came too late for some farmers who will wait until next spring to plant their fields with oats.

District Forester William H. Johnson said the current downpours eased the critical forest fire danger considerably. No new fires were reported and all old fires were out yesterday.

Johnson pointed out that although the little rain that has fallen so far has eased the fire danger, there is still a critical hazard unless much more rain falls.

Hardly any runoff of water has been noted, he said, and the ground is still in need of much more water. The little now dampening woodlands could easily dry up rapidly in a hot sun or high winds, Johnson stated.

New Problem Possible

Also there is the possibility that low temperatures would cause a "freeze" and create a new problem. If this happened, Johnson said, before several inches of rain is allowed to soak in the ground, rains and snows later in the winter would only run off the frozen, dry ground or lay without any benefit above the earth.

He said the ground water in forest floors is very low and much more water will be needed before the critical fire danger ends.

Heavy rains during the past two days were enough to spare Maryland timberlands from the danger of forest fire for at least two weeks.

That statement was made yesterday by Harry W. Dengler, extension forester at the University of Maryland, who added that the recent downpour was the "most wonderful thing that could have happened" to state woodlands.

Prolonged drought conditions had weakened trees so that they were more susceptible than usual from insect and disease damage, Dengler said.

Insect Danger Eased

Dr. A. O. Kuhn of the university Agronomy Department said two inches of rain now "is as good as several times that much in the summer."

Evaporation is slower at this season, Kuhn said, and the moisture will encourage the growth of ground cover which will, in turn, retard damage to winter wheat, Barley and oats from alternate freezing and thawing.

Dr. F. C. Stark, university vegetable specialist, added that the rain will help spinach and beet crops still unharvested and said cabbabe planting scheduled for November can go ahead as scheduled.

Dr. Kuhn said the rains will bring back some old pastures and permit some grazing, but not too much because the season is so far advanced.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Lois A. Welch vs. Walter R. Welch, Franklin M. McKenzie vs. Juanita McKenzie and Ethel E. James vs. Thomas William James.

Safety Officials Meet

Richard A. Hartman, director of safety and public relations of the Automobile Club of Maryland, (third from left) points out to Mrs. Vivian L. Turley, records clerk of the Cumberland Police Department, and Commissioner John J. Long, the city of Cumberland's rating of 17th among 184 cities of 25,000-50,000 population in pedestrian safety. Major R. M. Ridgely, executive officer of the Maryland State Police, who is traveling with Hartman, looks on at right. The safety officials met last night in Long's office in City Hall.

Missing Hunter Finds Way Out Of Area Woods

McCormick Suffers No Ill Effects

A 58-year-old Barton man, Cooper McCormick, who was missing overnight in the rugged Sand Springs area of Garrett County after losing his way while hunting squirrel Wednesday, was resting comfortably at his home last night.

The weary, water-soaked nimrod wandered out of the woods in the Laurel Run section about 8:15 a. m. yesterday, came across Route 36 and walked into Moscow.

A searching party composed of citizens and volunteer firemen of Barton and Lonaconing spent late Wednesday night and early yesterday morning, in the woods looking for McCormick. Just before he made his appearance others were planning to join the search with State Police.

Separate While Hunting

McCormick and James Kiddy, 28, also of Barton, went sqiurrel hunting Wednesday morning and separated in the woods, planning to meet at a certain time later in the day.

When McCormick failed to show up, Kiddy became alarmed and returned to Barton to organize a searching party at 8:30 p. m. Sixty volunteer firemen from Barton and Lonaconing searched all night.

After eating a hearty breakfast and cleaning up, the weary hunter went to bed for a good rest. The missing man's sister, Miss Alice McCormick, principal of Central Elementary School at Lonaconing, said "he couldn't find his bearings and just sat down," under a tree.

Miss McCormick added that her brother said darkness came upon him too quickly and he wandered in the wrong direction. He fell asleep under a tree for several hours and was soaked from the drenching rain just after midnight.

Strolled From Woods

When daylight came, McCormick knew where he was and strolled back to Route 36 and Moscow. McCormick said that during the night he heard fire sirens and observed distant lights in the sky. However he "did not know what they were for."

Realizing later that he was lost, he heard a shot and fired one blast in return. The hunter assumed he was too far away to be heard.

Kiddy said he and McCormick parted company about seven miles west of Barton near the Paul Colmer Farm. At an appointed meeting place, the young hunter waited for him.

When McCormick did not appear, Kiddy blew loud and long blasts on his auto horn, fired a number of shots and then looked over the area adjacent to the appointed meeting place.

Unable to find McCormick, and since it was becoming dark, Kiddy returned to Barton for help and the organized search was instituted.

Radio Club Will Meet In Quarters At Legion

The Mountain Amateur Radio Club has received permission from Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, to use a room in their building on Harrison Street for future meetings.

Plans for renovating the third floor room were discussed last night at a meeting of the club in the Union Street County Building. Members are asked to report to the new quarters at 7 p. m. next Tuesday, Thursday and Friday to get the room in shape. Committee in charge of obtaining the room included Walter S. Gatrell, president and Byron Kiser. Beginning November 12, meetings of the club will be held every other Thursday.

Stand Removal Shows Paint Job Not Finished

Removal of the concession stand from the lobby of the Allegany County Court House has uncovered a secret which has remained hidden for over a year.

When the stand was taken away it was revealed that a portion of the Court House wall where the stand had been was not painted over a year ago when interior walls of the Court House received a fresh coat of paint.

Apparently the painters did not figure that the stand would be removed. It was taken away because Walter (Ike) Herboldsheimer, who operated the stand the past five-and-one half years, has been transferred to the Post Office and the Maryland Workshop for the Blind is closing the other stand.

Second Baptist Will Dedicate New Addition

Second Baptist Church, Grand Avenue and Oldtown Road, will hold a special service Sunday at 2:30 p. m. to dedicate the recently completed additions to the church.

Dr. Clifton C. Thomas, general secretary of the Maryland Baptist Union Association, will deliver the dedicatory sermon.

Rev. L. J. Newton, Baltimore, secretary of the Department of Religious Education, and a number of pastors and laymen of the Western District Baptist Association, will participate in the program.

Rev. Kenneth M. Hayes, pastor of the church, will preside.

The new addition, which was recently completed at a cost of $18,000, consists of the remodeling of the front of the church, providing a vestibule at the church entrance, and a large assembly room for the intermediate members of the church.

A balcony which will boost the capacity of the auditorium to 500, two new class rooms and a church office are also included in the improvements.

The two new class rooms will allow the Sunday School to seat about 350 persons.

The church recently expanded its nursery program by the addition of a nursery for toddlers. Nurseries for infants and three year olds have been in operation for some time.

Former Conservation Worker Visits Here

Robert Laramy, who was a conservationist here with the United States Soil Conservation Service from 1942 and 1946, returned here yesterday for a brief visit with present employes in the office.

Laramy spent a good deal of time with Martin M. Gordon, who began his Soil Conservation Service work under Laramy's direction. After conferring in the office in the morning they went out into the county to visit several farms. After leaving here Laramy was stationed in New Hampshire for a time and now is employed in the Personnel Management Division of the Regional USCS office in Upper Darby, Pa.

Heads College Group

Miss Sue Cunningham, of 815 Columbia Avenue, a student at State Teachers College, Towson, has been honored at the college by being elected president of the Women's Athletic Association. She will be head of the women's elective program in sports. Miss Cunningham is a graduate of Allegany High School.

City's Pedestrian Safety Program Lauded, Finished 17th In National Contest

State Police, AAA Officials Meet Long

State Police and Automobile Club of Maryland safety officials last night at a meeting with Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long in City Hall revealed Cumberland ranked 17th among 184 cities of 25,000-50,000 population in the nation in pedestrian protection.

Traveling through Maryland analyzing pedestrian programs of all cities of 5,000 or more population are Richard A. Hartman, director of safety and public relations of the Automobile Club of Maryland and Major R. M. Ridgely, executive officer of the Maryland State Police.

The two safety experts met with Commissioner Long and Mrs. Vivian L. Turley, records clerk of the Cumberland Police Department, in Commissioner Long's office in City Hall.

Cumberland is participating in its third year in the National Pedestrian Protection Contest sponsored by the American Automobile Association and its rating has steadily climbed with its participation, Major Ridgely and Hartman explained.

Now in its 14th year the contest is geared to get city officials to keep records of accidents and deaths, engineer cities properly in regards to pedestrians and traffic and to enforce and enact ordinances to protect pedestrians and cut down traffic mishaps.

Nearly all states and 1,381 cities participated in the protection activities including 20 in Maryland. Points were awarded in two phases of the contest, 500 for actual death and injury records and 500 for program accomplishments. The program is divided into six parts — accident records, legislation and enforcement, engineering, organization, school safety and public information.

Gets 75 Per Cent Rating

The City received 75 per cent of the possible points in the contest with the top 30 cities in the same population group averaging 64 per cent.

Cumberland was above standard on the casualty records kept but was below standard on two of the six sections of the pedestrian safety program — engineering and public information.

It was pointed out by Major Ridgely that Cumberland had pioneered the use of radar to cut speeding with the result that no pedestrian deaths were reported in the city last year. Now, throughout the nation, most cities require radar checks by law, Ridgely continued.

Commissioner Long, well pleased with the progress Cumberland is making along safety lines said he was very much interested in the AAA program because it sets up the plan, and points out weaknesses in the city's efforts to curtail the accident rate.

Urging the full cooperation of the citizens of the community and organizational groups Long continued, "It's nice to know Cumberland is rated so highly but a lax moment could send us down again. Some city is 184th in our group and we don't ever want it to be Cumberland. Someday, perhaps we can be first."

Praises School Program

Hartman, in analyzing the report, pointed out moves Cumberland could make to improve its safety rating, paying particularly high tribute to the school safety plan where Cumberland received 91 per cent of the possible points for its program.

The city institutes guarded crossings during rush hours, holds many safety assemblies in the schools, has a competent learn-to-drive program for students, and a well-rounded children's safety patrol.

The two safety men will visit Frostburg today before returning to Baltimore.

Firemen Answer Call

East Side firemen yesterday answered a call at 726 Bedford Street and checked a defective oil stove. No damage was reported in the alarm turned in at 5:50 p. m.

Band Jamboree Planned Nov. 13 At Westernport

A Grand Jamboree of Bands will be held in Westernport Friday, November 13, under sponsorship of Bruce High School, according to William D. Simpson, musical director at the Westernport school.

Simpson announced that the jamboree will be held in the Westvaco Memorial Baseball Park starting at 8 p. m.

Bands from all Allegany County schools and others from nearby counties have been invited to take part in the musical festivities.

The Bruce musical director cited several reasons for staging this jamboree, first of its kind ever attempted in this county. He considers it appropriate to stage the jamboree as a highlight of American Education Week. He also says it demonstrates the type of musical instruction being offered during the fall season. When winter comes the musicians move indoors and concentrate on concerts.

Floodlights and a public address system will be installed in the ball park before the jamboree.

Each band individually will have a 15-minute program and demonstration on the field. After all have finished they will join in a grand parade around the field. Finally, the musicians will be massed together in the center of the field for three final numbers.

The Bruce High School Student Council is arranging a social affair at the school following the jamboree. In case of inclement weather, the affair will be postponed until Friday, November 20.

Fort Hill Receives Mineral Collection

When questioned about the collection, Principal Victor D. Heisey said that he plans to place the items in a case where they can be displayed and still be kept safely.
